LITTLE KANAWHA VALLEY RICHES. Ohio Prospectors Make a Secret Survey of a Railroad to Tap Them.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Dec. 11 - [Special]-Last night a party of Ohio prospectors, repre-senting large railroad interests, completed a resurvey of the old Black Diamond line from the Ohio river above Williamstown across the "Union" territory, to some point the Little Kanawha river. The exact ding of the line run is a secret for the ending of the line run is a secret for the present.

For some years past the owners of the railroad lines paralleling the Muskingum river and which reach the West Virginia line near Marletta, have been auxious to get across the river and up into the upper valley of the Little Kanawha. There are great coal beds and some superb timber fields in that region awaiting a railroad outlet for what must be their immensely profitable development. It is stated by members of the surveying party that the access to this region is what the railroads concerned in this resurvey are about to accomplish.
