

THE BANDITS BAGGED

And a Movement on Foot to Lynch the Bold Train Robbers.

OFFICERS TO PROTECT THE MEN

If They Have to Shoot Down Every Citizen of Huntington, W. Va.

ONE OF THE PRISONERS OWNS UP ALL

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH: HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Dec. 14.—Both the Chesapeake and Ohio train robbers have been caught. Tom Collins was captured this morning at Barick, on the Ohio side of the river, on the charge of the murder of the plucky German passenger. As The DISPATCH stated this morning, his companions—men known as Burrell Forgy, is also in the hands of the law. Collins and Forgy are both wounded. Forgy's wound is in the right arm near the shoulder, while Collins has a bad wound in the fleshy part of the right leg above the knee. He showed it to Jailor Jones to-day.

There has been much secrecy observed in the organization of a movement to lynch the two men, but the authorities are quietly preparing for an expected attack on the jail to-night. The local officers claim they have a clear case against the men and that the hanging will be delayed until it is done by judicial process if they have to kill every citizen of Huntington to prevent a lynching. At 9 o'clock the jail is being literally garrisoned and the excitement is all the more intense for being repressed.

Captain Sam Matheson came down from Charleston and has identified both of the men. Collins is in jail heavily guarded, while Forgy is allowed to remain in his home under guard, where he is suffering from the wound in his right shoulder made by the ticket collector's bullet. The prisoner waived an examination and was bound over to court without bail. Judge Harvey has signified his intention of ordering a special grand jury at once.

Tom Collins made a complete confession this evening of the entire affair to Chief of Police Turner and Detective Fitzgerald at the jail. He said that the plan to hold up the vestibule train was planned by Forgy two weeks ago, and that he was induced to go into it by the promise of a full share of number of times for the attack. Mrs. Forgy had full knowledge of the details. They chose Monday night because it was stormy and threatening, and they would be more likely to get away unhindered. The plan, as given to him by Forgy, was to begin in the first coach, hold up the passengers clear through, pull the bell rope and escape at the rear. They started to do this from Forgy's house and Mrs. Forgy sewed the mask, which was made of black dress lining material, to his hat. He says the "duchman" spoiled all their plans by resisting at the start.

A Southside Merchant's Novel Entertainment.

X. C. Bernard, the drygoods merchant at South Third and Laverne streets, will entertain the children this afternoon; or, rather, Santa Claus will do it. At 4 o'clock the boys' highness will appear on the roof of Mr. Bernard's store and go down the chimney and appear at the window on the top floor. The entertainment, which is an annual one, will no doubt draw thousands of mothers with their children. In the evening at 8 o'clock he will hold a reception. He wishes all little children to come and shake hands with him. Santa Claus; that is, the real Santa, makes his headquarters at Bernard's, in whose care he has all of his letters sent. Already Mr. Bernard has over 2,000. All will be answered with a neat little souvenir.

For Musical Xmas Gifts. You may want a violin, guitar, banjo, harmonica, mandolin, auto-harp, music box, music roll or folio, or perhaps a flute, or drum, or maybe a piano or organ. For any of these, or anything else in the music line, go to Alex Rose music house, 143 Federal street, Allegheny, Pa.

Christmas China. One of the latest lines in the city shown at the extensive store of Cavitt, Pollock & Co., 227 Fifth avenue. Beautiful fruit and coffee plates, tea cream sets, dish and game covers, as well as the art novelties, rich cut glass, etc. A large variety to choose from.

Holiday neckwear. We are showing the largest and most complete line of men's fine knit, neck, scarf and four-in-hand scarf ever brought to this city. JAMES H. ARLY & Co., 110 Fifth avenue.

It Is With Pleasure

That we can now make known that we have secured the agency of Prof. L. Wundrum's celebrated remedy, Electrol. This preparation, so highly appreciated in Europe, is by far the most healthful aromatic nerve and aid to digestion known.

It cannot be too highly recommended. A wine glass full taken after dinner will at once remove the feeling of distress so common among dyspeptics, while half that quantity will dissipate a sick headache like magic. And you can take nothing more refreshing when fatigued or tired. Try one bottle and see what wonders it will work.
