THOM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT, 1 Washington, Dec. 17. - Democratic leaders in the House are growing reticent in their expression of opinion in regard to the extra session, on account of their doubt as to the attitude of the Presidentelect. In their enthusiasm for reform with a big R, they do not forget that Mr. Cleveland will have the appointing newer after the 4th of March, and that for their own sakes they will need to be in touch with the President, as every one of them will have friends to serve, and who must perforce be served if the members would save their own prestige and power at

Nothing is more forlors than a leader who is at swords' points with the President of his party, especially at the outset of a new administration. After awhile, when he has bud mil the favors he wants, he can efford to be independent. Therefore, while the Democratic leaders who have favored the extra session have not abated one jot of their outlinsinsms for the beginning of reform at once, they hope to be able to conquer in a friendly way all opposition of Mr. Cleveland to their views, and so retain his friendship and confidence while making their point.

A great etistias been made in Salvation Army circles this week by the advent of a pretty English captain, who charms everybody by her manner and her speeches. She wants particularly to build up the auxiliary branch of the army, which seems to be composed of people who like to engage in the work, but who do not care to kneel down in the streets to pray. or to march publicly and beat drums and tamborines. Quite a ripple of surprise and comment has been caused in precles by the public announcement that H B. Mrs. McFarland is a daughter of Commissioner Douglass, one of three executive officials of the District. Mr. McFarland has never been one of the Bohemian literary circle, but it was not thought by his friends that his tastes would lead him quite Salvation-Armyward. He seems to be thoroughly in earnest, however, and to take a deep religious pleasure in the methods of the organization which bids fair to become soon the fashionable religious body of this and other countries, though it is but a lew years since its devoand always the victims of the scorn of every other organization.

The present methods of keeping account of the issue and redemption of paper money of the issue and redemption of paper money are imperfect and unsatisfactory. They do not afford the certainty of correctness desirable in a business of the magnitude to which this has grown. There being no record of the redemptions beyond a simple entry of date, denomination and amount, the saleguards against errors are insufficient. The sole reliance for accuracy is in the examination which the notes receive in massing through the department. A misthe examination which the notes receive in passing through the department. A mistake or description in the original schedule, if not discovered before the destruction of the notes, would probably be perpetuated. Worse than this, duplicate numbers, or numbers never regularly issued, would be passed without suspicion. In either case, the fact of an error having occurred might not be brought to light for years, and then only by the condition of the account. If, for example, in the course of the liquidation

While some improvement might perhaps be made in the details of the present method, it is doubtful it any system short of a complete numerical registry of every note, with the dates of issue and redemp-tion, would be entirely satisfactory. Such records would not only be a valuable check mainst the occurrence of errors, but would also bear upon their face a certain evidence of their own interrity and afford the means of tracing and correcting any mistakes that

MERCY ASKED FOR ANARCHISTS.

Gompers Re-1lected and Salaries of All Officers Increased.

CLOSING SESSION FULL OF BUSINESS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 17.-At the last day's session of the American Federation of Labor, resolutions were adopted, calling on all local unions affiliated with the Federation to join Central labor bodies holding charters from the Federation; condemning the Rock Island Railroad system for requiring its telegraph operators to withdraw from their organization; asking that sailors be included under the provisions of the alien contract law; condemning the system of advance wages to sailors; favoring changes in the patent laws so that inventors will receive a direct reward; condemning the Baron Hirsch tond and its charitablyassisted recipients and demanding restriction of immigration; condemning the system compelling waiters to shave off their mustaches and favoring the eight-hour sys-

Emboldened by this success, one of the Socialists present, Delegate Morgan, of Chicago, introduced a sub-stitute for a resolution favoring Government control of telegraph and telephone lines. Socialists Outvoted Three to One. The Socialist element wanted a resolution asking that the Government control all means of communication, transportation and production. Morgan insisted on a roll call to test the sense of the Federation on this proposition, and the result was a defeat for the Socialists by a vote of 1,628 to 527. Even some of the delegates of pronounced views voted against the resolution, owing to the indefinite nature of the demand, when the original was passed with an amendment asking Government control of railroads. Resolutions affirming the pravious conventions' advocacy of woman's suffrage and asking for legislation to protect trade union marks were adopted, and various resolutions asking legislation against the Chinese were favorably recommended to the next Executive Council.

Differences between the Socialists and autonomists were aired when a resolution was reported, asking Congress either to pass egislation compelling the adjustment of labor disputes by arbitration, or the sub-mission of a constitutional amendment permitting such legislation. The Socialistic representatives favored the measure as a step toward Government control of all productions, and characterized its opponents as Anarchists, charging that they objected to it as they objected to all government.

The Princip le of Arbitration All Right, President Gompers and others argued that compulsory arbitration might prove a dangerous weapon against labor interests should it fall into the hands of capital. Numerous resolutions for the organization of various workers into national unions were referred to the Executive Council, together with a resolution to aid the National 'Longshoremen in their efforts to obtain recognition for their union in Buffalo.

In the afternoon the annual election of Gompers' salary was increased from $1,500 to $1,800 per annum.

More Salaries Are Raised.

Before proceeding further resolutions were adopted recommending that chiefs and superintendents of Government bureaus be selected from the trade in which the skilled workmen employed in the bureau are engaged; favoring municipal, State and national civil service reform; favoring free that effect. Numerous other resolutions advocating various reforms were reported unfavorably and quashed.

The salary of the Secretary was increased from $1,200 to $1,500. There was no opposition to President Gompers' re-election. Christopher Evans was in like manner re-elected Secretary. A contest developed for the Treasurer's office, John B. Lennon, the present incum-bent, being elected over Henry Weismann. P. J. Maguire was elected First Vice President, For Second Vice President, William A. Carney, of Pittsburg, who took an active part in the Homestead troubles, was elected

A large number of boycotts were indorsed by the committee, to whom they had been referred, together with a recommendation, as the boycott is being made ineffective by indiscriminate use, that hereafter they cannot be approved unless requested under seal of an affidavit, Chicago secured the convention for 1893,

A resolution favoring direct elections by the people was passed unanimously. The Executive Council was authorized to conduct a campaign of education by appointing lecturers and buying literature to enlarge the scope of the Federation's efforts in the direction of political action.

Under the guise of expenses, $100 was added to the Treasurer's salary. Other resolutions were concurred in, favoring labor representation in Congress and the Chinese immigration act. After the usual complimentary communications and resolutions, Vice President P. J. McGuire delivered the peroration preceding final adjournment, which was then announced.

the Decision of the Meeting Means. ST. LOUIS, Dec. 17 .- Conde B. Pallen. editor of the Church Progress, who has made no secret of his hostility to Archbishon Ireland's school projects, was asked to-day to reply to the interview with the prelate published this morning. He spoke as fol-

Mgr. Ireland does exactly what he accuses his opponents of doing—that is, attempting to create public opinion in his own favor. His whole interview is nothing more than appeal to what he calls the "American mind," or, in reality, to secular public opinan appeal to what he calls the "American mind," or, in reshity, to secular public opinion in this country. We would like to know what secular opinion in this country has to do with the settlement of the school question by the Church itself? Secularism has always been in the history of the Church an antagonistic factor, in as much as it usually represents the opinion of the world; and we may lay down as a fundamental axiom, that the world, the flesh and the devil are ever a triple alliance in combination against the statements that Mgr. Satolli is vested with pen ipotentiary powers to settle the school question, we have no evidence to that effect. On the contrary both Archbishop Katzer and Archbishop Elder have publicly declared that Mgr. Satolli had no such powers, and, moreover, the fact that the Archbishops in their recent conference re-jused to subscribe to Mgr. Satolli's views is very clear evidence that those views were not supported by the weight of the Pone's not supported by the weight of the Pope's authority. If they had been, Archbishops could scarcely have point blank rejected

Catholics to eschew it altorether and build Catholics to eschew it altorether and build their own schools. Archibishop Ireland's statement that to the Church belongs religious instruction only, and to the State the right of secular education, apart from religious training, is in radical opposition to the Councils of Baltimore, and to the repeated public teaching of Leo XIII.

The assumption in Archbishop Ireland's interview, that his position on the school question is, also, the position of the American Catholic mind, seems to me fantastically overstrained, for he was the only one in the entire conference who was ready to subscribe to Mgr. Satolit's school propositions. To a certain extent, the Archbishop's declaration that there is difference of opinion among the hierarchy in this matter, is true, if we leave his own dissenting views out of consideration. We may, also admit that the controversy is virtually closed, for the unanimous agreement of the hierarchy, always excepting himself, of course, makes it very evident that the Faribault plan or any other scheme to separate religious from secular education, is diametrically opposed to the convictions of the hierarchy in the United States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 .- The Mexican Government, through Don Cavetano Romero, Charge d'Affaires of the Mexican legation, has officially called the attention of the United States Government to the recent raid into Mexico of citizens of Mexico at San Ygnacio, who formed on the American side of the line. Secretary Foster, of the State Department, has, in turn. communicated with the War Department, and has asked that additional United States troops be stationed on the Mexican border to prevent these excursions. The Mexican Government, through President Diaz, has ordered the Federal authorities of the State of Tamaulipas to make an exhaustive investigation into the outrage opposite San Ygnacio. About 5,200 revolutionists are still in Mexico. The camp of the bandits has been situated on Mexico soil and within a few miles of the Mexican garrison which was attacked. The revolutionists, after completing the massacre, drove the remnants of the garrison across the Rio Grande river. The sur-viving soldiers sought refuge in San Ygnseio, Texas, where they still remain, fearing to return to Mexico, believing they will be tried as deserters and shot. Mexican troops are now on the trail of the detachments of the revolutionary bandits, who are believed to be making for the lower part of the State of Tamaulipas, Commander Manuel Garcia claims he was warned by the United States military authorities that the Mexicans were gathering at the Rio Grande border counties, but no serious attempts had been made by United States troops to disperse the lawless bands. It is generally regarded as a fiasco as a revolutionary movement.

Talmage's Church Levied on for Debt-The Contribution Boxes May Be Packed To-Day-Novel Way to Collect a Church

NEW YORK, Dec. 17. - [Special.] Sheriff Courtney's officers last night invaded the big Brooklyn Tubernacle and ook possession of the property. They carried with them an execution issued by Justice Bartlett, of the Supreme Court, in the suit of Decorator Alfred Tong against the trustees. Mr. Tong had the contract for painting the Tabernacle, but his bill has never been paid. About a year ago the trustees gave Mr. Tong two notes, for $50 25 and $549 68 respectively, in liquidation of his claim. When the case finally came to trial the Tabernacle withdrew its defense to the first note, and on December 7 judgment was entered on the other by default.

While a few of the trustees and other leading members of Dr. Talmage's flock were in the vestry room, prior to the Friday evening lecture, the Sheriff's represen-tative entered and announced that he had come to take possession of the church and its property, and to place a man in charge. The trustees submitted gracefully to the inevitable. Mr. Cunningham left one of his attendants in charge, and he remained in the church during the night. Sheriff Courtney said to-night: "Under-Sheriff McLaughlin told me this evening that he had received a telephone message children and is still living. Jacob, the from Lawyer Shaffer, asking him to have one of his deputies at the services to-morrow to levy on the boxes after the collection had been taken up, but whether that will be done or not was not determined upon." There are various mechanics' liens and other debts hanging over the Tabernacle, and notes, to the amount of $75,000, it is said, will soon become due, and the treasury of the church is not in a condition to meet them. The trustees all sar that Dr Talmage and the Tabernacle will come out on

OAKMAN'S SERIOUS CHARGES.

The Richmond Terminal Receiver Makes a Sensation-Accuses Imman and Others With Fraud, Conspiracy and Breach of Trust-Bill of Complaint Filed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 .- Walter G. Oakman, of the Richmond Terminal Company, COUSIN'S SEARCH FOR HIM; this morning filed copies of a bill of complaint against members of the Georgia syndicate, which in 1888 sold a controlling interest in the Georgia Central Railroad to the Terminal Company. Beceiver Onkman claims that in October, 1888, when the Terminal Company made the purchase, the securities of the Georgia Company had no established or available value. On October 22, 1888, Receiver Oakman says, E. Lehman, acting for himself and associates, made a proposal to the Terminal Company to purchase the entire capital stock of the orgia company, consisting of 120,000 shares at $35 per share. The receiver charges that the syndicate conspired to sell the Terminal Company their unsalable and discredited securities at such price as yielded an enormous profit and imposed on the Terminal Company a heavy loss.
