Adj. Gen. Greenland Reviews the Year's Work of the Guard. GREAT PROFICIENCY SHOWN.

THE BOYS SHOULD GO TO CHICAGO

HARRISBURG, PA., Dec. 18.—Governor Pattison has received the first annual report of Adjutant General Greenland, and it embraces a complete review of the operations of the National Guard of Pennsylvania for the year, an eventful one in its history, owing to the entire division having been called into service at Homestead.

The aggregate strength of the organization is 8,985, a gain of 65 during the year. Three companies were mustered out and three organized. There were no changes, however, in the various regimental, cavalry and artillery organizations. The inspections showed marked improvement and proficiency. If all the applications for permission to raise companies could be granted, General Greenland says the present strength of the Guard could easily be doubled.

Twenty of Crack Shooters. The division contains 5,507 qualified marksmen, an increase over last year of 753. Over three-fourths of the membership of the Guard are now qualified and 736 are sharpshooters. Ten years ago the total number of marksmen and sharpshooters was 705. During the week of October 29 the brigade and regimental matches were shot at Mt. Gretna with good results. The Pennsylvania team won the chief prizes at the international matches, and the Adjutant General refers with pride to this triumph.

Owing to the adoption of the new drill regulations of the United States Army, the national organization of the Guard and a board of officers will be called together to consider and report such changes in our existing laws as may be necessary to remedy this and other points, concerning which no provision is made in the law. The Adjutant General recommends a permanent engineer and signal corps, to be made up of details or independent companies.

Regarding armories, the report states that there is an increased interest among members in all sections to provide themselves with suitable quarters. A start has been made in the direction of supplying new guns and equipment to the artillery companies. Sufficient material for uniforms was purchased to re-equip the guard for the coming year. Canvass was sent during the year to Oil City and the quarantine station at Philadelphia, and it is recommended that some legislation be enacted giving the Governor discretion in the matter of shipping canvas and supplies in serious emergencies to the military.

It is recommended that the two extra clerks in the Adjutant General's department be continued two years more to complete the record of old muster rolls.

An extra appropriation is recommended for the purpose of new equipment, for which this estimate is offered: 8,000 overcoats, $9,000; 8,000 blanket coats, $18,000; 8,000 canteens and straps, $5,000; 8,000 canteen cases, $4,000; 8,000 pairs of shoes, $4,800; 8,000 pairs of boots, $15,000; 8,000 flannel shirts, $19,200; 8,000 cartridge belts, $10,000.

The guard was supplied last year with McKeever cartridge boxes, waist belts and plates, and the issue of new haversacks to the troops this year with the articles asked for will give them an entire new equipment.

Owing to the continued use of the camp and garrison equipment at Homestead, a large number of tents and other articles will not be serviceable for another year, and many of them will have to be replaced at once.

The Naval Battalion. General Greenland says the system of allowing surgeons of all grades to make purchase of drugs without consultation or sending forward a requisition through proper channels, cannot be allowed. Regarding the organization of the Naval Battalion, he says there are on file in the department applications for muster in the city of Philadelphia, and a number of inquiries relative to the organization, from the cities of Pittsburgh and Erie. Owing to the limited appropriation to the National Guard, more companies of these companies can be accepted as present.

A DAY'S HAPPENINGS.

The Doings of Saturday as Recorded in the Sunday Dispatch. Yesterday's issue of THE DISPATCH was made up of 24 pages. It was a news epitome of all the important news events of the world, besides contributions on various topics from leading contributors. Its main features were:

Local. Robert Beatty, charged with complicity in the alleged poisoning of Homestead non-unionists, held for court at 6:00 o'clock. John T. Rodgers, a Birmingham line conductor, knocked off a car and killed on the Smithfield street bridge. Andrew Carnegie appeals to workmen to separate him from his wife. The Citizens' Industrial Alliance selects a rival municipal ticket. Ernest F. Eckert is in jail, charged with swindling from his employer, Henry B. Rea & Co. The wife of Robert Scarritt, buyer for a leading wholesale and retail druggists house, has applied for a divorce in Chicago. A crazy man tries to kill Mickosky. A Mayor is elected several Councilmen.
