THE CHOLERA IN BAKU

Over 100,000 Persons Fled From the Russian Oil City to Avoid

Bodies of Many Victims Buried Beneath Dwelling Houses.

PUTTING A PREMIUM ON CONTAGION

The terrible devastation of the cholera in Baku, Russia, is described in a letter just received by Mr. John Eaton, of Pittsburg, from L. D. Gallingan, who is now located in that city. Mr. Gallingan says: "I think you are right in thinking the cholera will not be entirely finished here before the end of December, as the weather will be warm till that time. I am glad to be able to say that we consider the city already quite free from the dread disease. There are yet a few cases, but they are isolated from the city, and are reported as nearly recovered. "As the papers say little about the cholers in Baku. I will tell you the history of it since it began here. It first broke out about June 1 and by the 6th there had been a dozen cases, nearly all fatal. On the 10th about 40 cases were reported. From the time the first case was reported, there commenced a general stampede from the city. Everyone who could get away, including your humble servant, seemed to have pressing business out of town. In the first two weeks 44,000 had gone by rail toward Tiflis and Batoum and 30,000 by the Caspian Sea, while some 10,000 more went by carriages, on horseback and on foot to neighboring villages. Many carried the germs of the disease with them and gave it such a start that it soon spread over all Europe and threatened America. You will observe that I have noted the departures from here for only the first two weeks. Only 10,000 Persons Remained,

"The next two weeks increased the number largely, so that out of a population of 125,000 for Baku and its suburbs, it is estimated that at one time, deducting deaths and departures, not over 10,000 people remained. The official report gives 8,000 as the number of deaths resulting from the disease, but all know that one-half, or perhaps much less, was all that was reported. "The city contains some 30,000 Tartars who live in holes, back alleys and filthy places. The mortality was greatest among this class and as their religious views forbid that a Christian should touch their dead bodies, they never reported their cases, but did the best they could among themselves-burying their dead at night in obscure places and frequently in their own dooryards, under the floors or in the cellars. In one house 16 bodies were discovered buried under the floor, while the family occupied it as usual. The authorities as soon as they found this out saturated the house with petroleum and burned the whole structure with all its contents. During the last of July and the first of August the deaths averaged 530 per day and a safe estimate of the total number of deaths may be put at 15,000. During the worst days it was impossible to procure coffins or even rough boxes, so the bodies were wrapped in matting or something else, and great numbers thrown together into large excavations and covered with

Carrying Away the Dead in Carts. "It was a common sight to see carts going through the streets ladened with dead bodies without any covering-legs and arms protruding out from the mass and loosely dangling with the motion of the vehicle. In some instances Tartars were discovered going through the streets with carts loaded with bags of flour, but when examined closely the inner bags of the pile were found to contain dead bodies. The outer ones were filled with flour which was trequently sold to unsuspecting people by Tartars after they had disposed of their ghastly cargoe. "The city has about 500 carriages for hire, but only 20 remained. Those remaining were forcibly detained by the civil authorities, who paid them 234 roubles per day in addition to what they could earn. These carriages were used to carry sick peo-ple to the bospitals, dead bodies to the cemeteries, and in the interval they were hired by the living who wanted to use

Is it any wonder that cholera "When cholera broke out there were some 50 doctors in the city, but after two weeks all but four had fled. When this became known the Government sent doctors and compelled the authorities of the city to furnish medicines and disinfectants. Disappointed by Bud Business "An amusing incident occurred at a station some ten hours west of Baku. At this hospital, as on every train some were either sick or dead. At this station the sick were taken to the hospital from the train and the dead were removed to be buried. Two Russion laborers were employed to convey to the sick or the dead from the train. They received for each sick person one rouble for their work and for each, dead person two roubles. Under the doctor's instructions to drink plenty of 'vodka,' they did their gruesome duties most cheerfully. So when one train arrived both rushed out on the platform, one singing out: 'Evan, how many sick and dead are there to-day?' "'Not a one,' answered the guard, 'only one indisposed, and she not very badly. "The other fellow yelled out in great disappointment, 'D-l take the luck.' He was comforted, however, by his companion, who said: 'Well, never mind, God grant there will be some to-morrow. Come and take a vodka with me.' It is useless to say he went.

Made a Mistake in the Patient, "On board the steamer were two Georgian ladies-sisters. Neither of them could speak Russian. One of them became quite ill and the stewardess reported the case to the doctor, who immediately went to their cabin. In the meantime, however, the sick sister stepped out. The doctor upon his arrival, finding a lady lying down, supposed it to be the one who was ailing and insisted upon her taking the medicine which he of-fered. She not being able to argue with him, and thinking it was to be some sort of a preventive, took the dose. The sick sister got well. course during the months of June, July and August business was practically suspended. Many of the coll works and wells were stopped for want of men to run them. Nearly all the refugees have returned now and business begins to assume its former aspect, although the epidemic has left its mark, and every one claims to be hard up. We can hardly expect a revival in business before spring. Oil is a little better price; crude at the wells being worth from one to two kopecks per pood, according to quality, and refined in bulk on board cars seven kopecks. Both of these prices are simply nominal, as crude cannot be produced under three kopecks without a loss. However, the producer does not seem to mind the loss if he can only keep on going, expecting to make up in the quantity ed what is lacking in price. produced what is lacking in price. In the end this is very much like throwing benzine on a fire in order to quench it."

FOR ABUSE OF ALCOHOL Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. W. E. Crane, Mitchell, Dak., says: "It has proven almost a specific for this disorder; it checks the vomiting, restores the appetite, and, at the same time, allays the fear of imponding dissolution, that is so come on to heavy drinkers."

BILL DALTON A FEDERAL OFFICER.

A Brother of the Noted Outlaws Now in Position to Aid Them. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 25.-Bill Dal ton, brother of the outlaws killed at the Coffeyville raid, holds a special commission as deputy marshal from Colonel Yoe, Mar-THE DREAD ASIATIC SCOURGE. shal for the Indian Territory, with headquarters at Fort Smith, Ark. This was rumored several days ago, but until to-day lacked confirmation. Accompanying the commission was a warrant for the arrest of Ed Chapman for horse stealing. Chapman is the man Bill was reported to have killed some days ago. The horse alleged to have been stolen is the one Emmet Dalton rode into Coffevville, and the warrant was issued at the instance of survivors of the Dalton gang.

The appointment will give Dalton a chance to kill Chapman. That he will arrest him no one believes, for Chapman is considered a brave man and would be a dangerous person for William to tackle. William likes to parade his pistols where he thinks there is no danger. At Liberty, a small station on the Santa Fe, eight miles north of Coffeyville, he pulled his pistol last Sunday on a citizen of that town, only doing it for a joke he claims. Bill Dalton is supposed by every one in the Southwest to have been the banker for his brothers, willing to share the benefits of their raids but unwilling to brave the dangers.

A GERMAN COLONY IN MISSISSIPPL

Tenton Immigrants 50,000 Strong Are to Settle in That State, MEMPIS, Dec. 25 .- The white population of Mississippi is to be increased by 50,000 German immigrants. Arrangements have been perfected by the Illinois Central to bring the aforementioned number of Teutons to America and colonize them in the Yazoo delta, along the line of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railroad, which was purchased by the Illinois Central last spring. The Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railroad Company owns vast tracts of valuable but uncultivated land between Memphis and Vicksburg.

It is not the purpose of the Illinois Cen-tral Company, however, to settle the Ger-mans on this land. It is intended that the owners of contiguous property shall sell to the immigrants, in which event the railroad's lands will be enhanced in value. Efforts to settle the fertile country along this line of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas road with negroes have been made, but without success, the negro being a failure as a home-maker. It is thought, however, that the Germans will remain where they settle, as care has been taken to diversify the occupations of the settlers. There will be artisans of all kinds and s fair sprinkling of professional men among the settlers.

TO CLAIM A PORTUNE.

A Young Man Comes to Pennsylvania to Take Charge of Property. URBANA, Dec. 25.-John Ginter, a plumber, lett here to-day for his home in Pennsylvania, where he will take possession of a fortune of $75,000, left him by his grandmother nearly two years ago. Ginter left home about four years ago to seek his fortune in the West. He drifted to Alabama, where he was taken sick. His whereabouts were unknown, but after a long search he was found and intelligence of his good luck received, but he never returned to Pennsylvania to claim his for-He received news recently that his uncle was about to claim the fortune on the grounds that the rightful heir was dead. His grandmother will have been dead two years on the 28th of this month, and property would, at the expiration of that time, revert to the next of kin. Ginter will arrive just in time to claim his property. FAMILIES MIXED BY MARRIAGE.

No End of Trouble Caused by an Innocent KENT, O., Dec. 25.-Freeman Stratton, a prominent resident of Kent, left here a few days ago, ostensibly to visit relatives in Michigan. This week he was married at Richland, Mich., the bride being Mra. Tenia Chamberlain, a daughter of Mr. George Bradley, of Kent. By his marriage

Mr. Stratton has made a considerable mix in his relationship and that is causing much merriment among his friends. Mrs. Chamberlain is a daughter of Mr. Bradley by his first wife, while a sister of Mr. Stratton is Mr. Bradley's present wife. This makes Bradley and Stratton brothers in law, and the last marriage makes the lat ter a son-in-law of the former. Mr. Strat-ton's sister is the stepmother of his wife;

therefore she is also his mother-in-law.
