Home.

"Home, thy joys are passing lovely-Joys no stranger heart can tell."

What a charm rests upon the endearing name-my home! consecrated by domestic love-that golden key of earthly happiness ! Without this, home would be like a temple stripped of its garlands; there a father welcomes with fond affection; a brother's kind sympathies comfort in the hour of distress, and assist in every trial; there a pious mother first taught the infant lips to lisp the name of Jesus; and there a loved sister dwells, the companion of early davs.

Truiy, if there is aught that is lovely here below, it is home-sweet home ! It is like the casis of the desert. The passing of our days may be painfulour path may be checkered with sorrow and care-unkindness and frowns may wither the joyousness of the heart, offace the happy smiles from the brow, and bedew life's way with tears,-yet, when the memory hovers over the past. there is no place upon which it delights to linger, as the loved scenes of childhood's home ! It is the polar star of existence. What cheers the mariner far away from his native land in a foreign port ? or tossed upon the bounding billows, as he paces the deck at midnight alone, what thoughts fill his breast? He is thinking of the loved ones far away at his own happy cottage, in his mind's eye he sees the smiling group seated around the cheerful fireside. In imagination he hears them uniting their voices in singing the sweet songs which he loves. He is anticipating the hour when he shall return to his native land, to greet those absent ones, so dear to his heart.

Why rests that deep shade of sadness upon the stranger's brow as he seats himself amid the family circle ! He is surrounded by all the luxuries that wealth can afford; happy faces gather around him, and strive in vain to win a smile. Ah ! he is thinking of his own sweet home, of the loved ones assembled within his own cheerful cot.

Why those tears which steal down the cheeks of that young and lovely girl, as she mingles in the social circle i Ah! she is an orphan; she, too, had a happy home; but that house is now forsaken and desolate; its loved ones are now sleeping in the cold and silent tomb. The gentle mother who watched over her infancy, and hushed her to sleep with a lullaby, which a mother only can sing; who in girlhood days taught her of the Savior, and turned her youthful voice to sing praises to his name,-has gone to the mansions of joy above, and is mingling her songs, and turning her golden harp with bright angels in Heaven. Poor one ! She is now left to tread the thorny path of life, a lonely, homeless wanderer.

Thus it is in this changing world .-The objects most dear are snatched away. We are deprived of the friends chair of justice as a jackass !" whom most we love, and and our cherished home is rendered drear and desolate. " Passing away " is engra-But on all things earthly. is a home that knows no changes, where separations never take place, where the sorrowing ones of this world may obtain relief for all their griefs, and where the sighs and tears of earth are exchanged for unending songs of joy. That home is found in Heaven. In the shadowy past, there is one sweet reminiscence which the storms of life can never wither; it is the recollection of home-of childhood's home. In the visioned future, there is one bright star whose lustre never fades; it is the hope of home-of a heavenly home.-Musical Visitor.

A Wedding Ride.

Horses were scarce at the first settlement of this country. It is not recorded that they were introduced, into the Plymouth Colony until about twenty years after the landing of the Pilgrims ; but the young folks would have their ride notwithstanding. When John Alden was married—and John Alden was a great man in this day, a worshipful magistrate and counsellor withal. and a great favorite with the ladies, insomuch that he made nothing at all of cutting out the renowned Captain Stand-Alom ich, who cut down the Indians like Alcohol Aloes stubble-when John Alden was mar-Annatto ried, there was a great carrying on Antimony about Cape Cod, where he wooed and Arrow Root won the Captain's intended, Miss Pris-Amenic cilla Mullens, the great belle of the Cape and Colony. ### The flock of Lunden.

The Cathedral at Lunden, in Sweden, Curcuma s a magnificent structure, and has a Cubebs very lofty spire, which serves as a mark for sailors, being seen at a considerable distance. The altar of this church is a beautiful piece of work; but what most engages the attention of strangers is, its curious clock, which, from the number of its movements and fingers, may vie with Lyons and Strasburg .: Every hour two horsemen come Gold Leaf out and encounter, and a door opens which discovers the Virgin Mary sitdo ting on a throne with her divine infant in her arms, and the magi, with her retinue, marching in order, and presendo ting their gifts, two trumpets sounding Harlæm Cil all the time of the procession. The Hiera Picra clock, besides the hour, shows the month and day. and every festival throughout the year .- Smith's Wonders.
