The Law Profession.

We are astonished at the daily paragraphs that meet our eye of the number of young men lately admitted to practice law in the different States of the Union. Probably no avocation yields a poorer return, or is so much overslock. ed. To be a good lawyer requires not only brilliant talents, great tact, and profound knowledge, but a capacity for mental application such as few men have a taste for and few constitutions can endure. As Lord Eldon remarked, " a man must work like a drav-horse and be paid like a pauper.". Nor is success at the bar sure, even with all the requisites we have mentioned .--Chance often elevates the hard student to fame, but as often retaining him in obscurity. Of the bar of Philadelphia, for instance, we can speak from an in-- timate knowledge ; and we could point to more than one lawyer, with a head already beginning to grow gray, who, with every qualification to adore his highest walks, has been cunable to struggle up, merely because he has never vet had a case, or a succession of cases, of the right character to develop his abilities. The fact is, there are five times as many lawyers as there should be, both here and clsewhere; and, in consequence four-fifths of the profession must starve. The evil is increased by the tendency of clients to the prosperous path of life, suddenly risseek an attorney of acknowledged reputation, thus preventing the man of as and supporter of her husband under misyet unknown fame from obtaining a fortune, and abiding, with unshrinking start. It is true, some kind-hearted firmness, the bitterest blasts of adversity. friend may entrust a case to the aspiring young advocate; but it is rarely such a one as is calculated to, make an impression, and years may pass before even this opportunity occurs to a youth without influence. We know two men who, have had distinguished success in the last ten years, but they with foreign tongues and the foreign clients this brought them. The greattions, were years before they made

heart-burning. The business of the courts everywhere, during the last few years has beside his plate, and pointed to it while declined one-half, in consequence of he mentioned what he wanted. He was celling the claims of creditors. There is really more done at conveyancing. politely thanked the waiter, and-returnboth here and elsewhere, than at the more legitimate business of the law .--Yet the number of lawyers has increased two-fold in the last ten years, so that scarcely one fourth of what they were in 1835. But all the present leading that period. What chance then has a before a rose-bush, the spirit of the fame. Amid such fierce competition less he is backed by an influential family, or meet with some lucky case | be more firm than a transitory flower ?' which at once lifts him into notice .---We could point to young men of ten and his soul became a cup of thanks-years standing at the bar, well-read and giving for his enemies. of strong intellects, who do not make as much as a market street clerk. We could point to others, who started life under the same auspices, but who now are irrevocably doomed to the lowest walks of the profession, because they took to pettilogging to keep themselves from starving. "We do not mean to say that a man -without influence, must fail at the bar, or that another with it. must succeed. Far from it. But if a young lawyer has a moderate income, sufficient for the necessaries, but not enough for the superfluities of life, ho is in the best possible condition for success; for, while he can afford to wait until he can build up the right kind of a reputation, he is yet thrown upon his own exertions to achieve both position and fortune. On the contrary, many a young man of ability, industry and achievements, is actually driven from the profession. because, he cannot afford to wait long enough to build up a name. Parents who are seeking a pursuit for their sons, and young men who are ambitious of success in life, should take these things into consideration .----The fame acquired by some of our great lawyers is, we grant, a fascinating thing in the eyes of young ambition ; but it should be recollected that there is but one Webster and a thousand required so great. Many a youth, who | trade, for I see there's but one left." might have succeeded as a mechanic, merchantor farmer, has dragged through life a broken-hearted lawyer, or sunk at the outset, after a struggle or two into a knavish pettilogger. What is the reason for this? A false notion that the law is a more honorable pursuit than trade; à notion derived from England and fostered there, because the profession has long been the dernicr resort of the younger aristocracy. But in this country, we should learn to

WOMAN'S FORTITUDE,---I have often had occasion to remark the fortitude with which women sustain the most overwhelming reverses of fortune. Those disasters which break down the spirit of a man, and prostrate him in the dust, seem to call forth all the energies of the softer sex, and give such intrepidity and elevation to their character, that it at times approaches to sublimity. Nothing can be more touching than to behold a soft and tender female, who had been all weakness and dependence, and alive to every trivial roughness, while treading ing in mental force to be the comforter

How TO BE WAITED UPON .- The folowing story, from the Mirror, may be called the last Yankee trick :

"We heard a story worth recording, a Yankee variation of an expedient tried some years ago by an Englishman at Saowo their position to an acquaintance ratoga. OUR MIGHTY RIVERS pecome so obstructed as to afford an iusufficient outlet for the superabundant waters, we can expect nothing less than that the surrounding country will be

OVERWIELMED WITH THE FLOOD. In a like manner with the human body-if the Skin, Kidneys, and Bowels, (the natural outlets for USELESS AND CORBUPT HUMORS) becom so obstructed as to fail in affording a full discharge of those impurities which are in all cases

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS ; we surely can expect no other results than that the whole frame will sooner or later be OVERWHELMED WITH DISEASE. As in the first place, if we would prevent an nundation we must remove all obstructions, to the free discharge of the superabundant waters. So, in the second place, if we would prevent and cure disease, we must open and keep open, all the Natural Drains of the body.

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE FILLS, Of the North American College of Health, will be found one of the best if not the very BEST MEDICINE IN THE WORLD for carrying out this beautiful and simple theory; because they completely clense the Stomach and Bowel's from all Billious Humors and other impurity, and at the same time promote a healthy discharge from the Lungs, Skin, and Kidneys; consequently, as all the Natura Drains are opened.

Disease of every name is literally driven from the Body.

CF Caulton-As the great popularity and consequent great demand for Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills has raised up a host of cuontorfeiters, country agents and storekeepers will be on their guard against the many imposters who are travelling about the country selling to the unsuspecting a spurious article for the genuine. It should be remembered that all authorized agents are provided a Certificate of Agency, signed by WILLIAM WRIGHT, Vice President of the N. A. College of Health. Consequently, those who offer Indian Vegetable Pills' and annot show a Certificate, as above described, will be known as imposters.
