throwing on to a table, among papers, a parcel of com-bustible matter rolled up in a cloth, which was burned in two in the middle. But a kind Providence frowned upon the attempt of the base incendiary, and the fire ecame extinguished. The object of the villian, was, no doubt, to burn up large amount of property in Bonds and Mortgages-in which I have no personal interest except the charge of them, and a small commission. The foolish villian had not sense enough to know, that the Mortgages were all on record; nor honesty and uprightness enough to care how much be injured his neighbors, and hundreds of settlers, in burning up my books of account, and the bonds upon which all the paymenis were endorsed, and bonds upon which all the paymenis were endorsed, and in almost all the cases the only vouchers the settlers could have as evidence of payment. It therefore be-hoves every settler who has a proper sense of right and wrong, to assist me in looking up this villainous incendiary, that he may be brought "to the light of a Court of Justice"—in doing which, they, or any other person, who may find the pupping which, they, or any other setson, who may find the pupping where, shall re-distribution of the pupping where the set of th Court of Justice"—in doing which, they, or any other person, who may find the unprincipled rogue, shall re-ceive the above reward, of one hundred dollars.
