Beautiful Expression.

The following passage, beautiful in its truth and in the expression of that truth, is from the editor of the Baltimore American. It will be felt and appreciated by every parent, and most heartily do we commend it to the attention of children.

" If children could only be made aware of the heartfelt delight with which parents behold the development of talents and noble sentiments in their offspring, with what avidity would they seek the means of expanding the sphere of their intelligence and cherishing the moral sentiments that impart dignity to the human character. From infancy to manhood the welfare and happiness of the child is the sole object of the parents solicitude. Under all circumstances ; through good or evil fortune. the present and future condition of those whom they may have rocked in the cradle, or dandled on the knee, is the polar star to which their affections point with undeviating constancy.

Should your path through life be prosperous the possessions of health and distinction is only precious in their eyes, as affording the means of conferring on those who are in future years to be their representatives, the honors that attend riches and exalted character, and should adversity be their lot, and difficulties beset them, they are forgotten in the hope that circumstances may ensure a better fate to their children. The child may be affectionate and tender, but the filial relation is not susceptible of the intensity of affection which below igs to the parental tie. It is in the depth of blood that enables the old to pass from the stage of that enables the old to pass from the stage of "Waiter, just brush my clothes well, my life without regret. They feel that in their fine fellow." I said in the morning.---" mind children they will continue to live, and that however this world and its concerns may be lost to them, succeeding generations will recognize in their offspring portions of themselves. With what unspeakable delight does a father behold the first manifestations of exalted intelligence in a son, and how does he dwell upon actions that bespeak nobleness of purpose and soundness of integrity. If these was with me in a moment. nos of gratification are in

The Han who Lost his Pauls.

The following is a nassage from the laugha ble tale of " Desperation," one of the rich articles which are embraced in the " Literary re-mains of Willis Gaylord Clark." It is only necessary to premise that the writer is a Phila-delphia student who, after a stolen fortnight among the gaities of Washington city, finds himself (through the remissuess of a chum) at Baltimore on his way home, without a penny in his pocket. He stops at a fashionable hotel, nevertheless, where after tarrying a day or two, he finally at the heel of a great dinner, omnis solus in his private apartment, flanked with abundant Champagne and Burgundy, resolves to disclose all to the landlord. Summoning a servant, he says : "Ask the laudlord to step up to my room and bring his bill." He clattered down stairs giggling, and short-y after his master appeared. He entered with generous smile, that made me hope for the best the house afforded, and that just then was credited. "How much do I owe you ?" said I. He handed me the bill, with all the grace of polite expectancy. "Let me sec-seventeen dollars. How very reasonable! But my dear sir, the most disagreeable part of the business is now to be old. I grieve to inform you, that at present, I am out of money-but I know by your philanthropic looks that you will be satisfied when I tell you that if I had it. I would give it to you with unqualified pleasure. But you see my not having the change by me is the reason I don't do it; and I am sure you will let the matter stand and say no more about it. I am a stranger to you, that's a fact; but in the place where I came from, all my acquaintances know me easy as can be."

The landlord turned all colors. "Where do you live, any how?"

ment. "I see how it is, Mister; my opinion is that ou are a black leg. you don't know where our home is. You begin with Washington. and then drop it for Philadelphia. You mus pay your bill." "But I can't."

"Then I'll take your clothes; if I don blow me tight."

" Scoundrel !" said I, rising bolt upright do it if you dare, and leave the rest to me ! There was no more words. He rose do iberstely, seized my hat and only inexpressibles, and walked down stairs.

Physicians say that no two excitements can exist at the same time in one system. External circumstances drove away, almost immediately, the confusion in my brain, I arose and looked out of the window. The now was descending as I drummed on the pane. What was I to do? An unhappy wight, sans culottes in a strange city-no money, and slightly inebriated. A thought struck me. 1 had a large full cloak, with my other appointments, save those he took, the landlord had spared. I dressed myself immediately, drew on my boots over my fine white drawers, not unlike small clothes; put on my cravat, vest and coat-laid a traveling cas from my trunk jauntingly over my forehead, and flinging my fine mantle about me, made my way through the hall into the street.

Attracted by shining lamps on the portico of new hotel, a few squares from my first lodgings, I entered, recorded some mame on th books, and besnoke a bed. Every thing was fresh and neat, and every servant attentive ; all argued right. I kept myself closely cloaked, puffed a cigar, went to hed to mature my plot. the pantaloons, don't spill anything from the saucers.) I don't know, as true as I am alive !" "Go down sirrah, and tell your master to come up here immediately." The publican

" The deuce you don't. Where are they ?" " Can't tell, I snum, (his eyes as big as

HE preteding figure is to represent the INSEN SIBLE PERSPIRATION. Itis the great evac uation for the imputitues of the body. It will be noticed that a thick cloudy mist issues from all points of the sarface, which indicates the wonderful process going of within. This perspiration flows uninterroptedly when we are in health, but ceases when we are sick. It should be the cars of every one to see that it is not checked.-Life cannot be sustained without it. It is thrown of from the blood and other juices of the body, and dispo The blood by this means only, works itselfpure. The blood by this means only, works itselfpure. The language of Scripture is, "in theblood is the life." If it ever becomes inpure, it may be traced directly to the stoppage of the insensible perspiration. It never requires any internal medicines to cleanse it, as it slways purfies itself by its own heat and action, and throws off all the offending humors, through the insensible perspiration. Thus we see, all that is necessary when the blood is stagmant or infected, is toopen the pores, suid it relieves itself from all impurity instantly. Its own heat and vitality are sufficient, without one particle of medicine except to open the pores upon the surface. Thus we see the folly of taking so much internal remedies. Al practicioners, however, direct their efforts to restore the insensible perspiration, but it seems to be not always the practici incensible perspiration, but it seems to be not always the proper one. The 'Fhompsonians for instance, steams, the Hy:/ropathist shrouds us in wet blankets, the Ho-mopathist deals out infinitissimals, the Allopathist bleeds and doses us with mercury, and the blustering qusck gorges us with pills, pills, pills. But one object only is in view, viz: to restore the in-sensible perspiration. If this can be done, they say, we will take care of the rest. It will be seen, therefore, that all publicing nuclearized alike what is necessary to that all physicians understand alike what is necessary t a recovery, how much they may differ as to the mode of obtaining it.

To give some idea of the amount, and consequently the importance of the insensible perspiration, we will state that the learned Ur. Lewenhock, and the great Boer have, ascertained that five-eights of all we received in to the stomach, passed off by this means. In other words is the automatic passed only this mean. In other words, if we est and drink eight pounds per day, we exacute five pounds of it by the insensible perspiration. This is none other than the used up particles of the blood, and other juices, giving place to the new and fresh ones, by carrying with it all the impurities within up to the surface. To check this, therefore, is to retain to the surface. n the system five eights of all the virulent matter that nature demands should leave the body. And even when this is the case, the blood is of so active a principle, that it determines those particles, to the skin, where they form scabs, pimples, ulcers, and other spots; but if it is di-rected inwards, and falls upon the lungs, the consequences are generally fatal. By a sudden transition from heat to cold, the pores are stopped, the perspiration ceases, and disease begins at once to develope itself. Hence, a stoppage of this flow of the juices, originates so many complaints. It through the surface that we imbibe nearly all our ills. nte. It is

It is stopping the pores, that we make nearly an on the it is stopping the pores, that overwhelms mankind with coughs, colds, and consumption. Nine-tenths of the world die from diseases induced by stoppage of the insensible perspiration. It is easily seen therefore, how necessary is the flow of this subtle humor to the surface to preserve health. It cannot be stopped ; it cannot even be checked, without producing disease. The blood and intestines must relieve themselves of all their wornout particles, and poisonous humors, and they must go through the pores as nature designed. Let me ask now, every candid mind, what course seems the most reasonable to pursue, and unstop the pores, after they are closed and let the perspiration flow, that the blood may relieve itself of its impurities ? Would you give physic to unstop the pores ? Or would you apply something that would do this upan the surface, where the clogging actually is ? Would not this be common sense ? And yet I know of no physician who makes an internal application to effect it. The reason I assign is, that no medicine within their knowledge, is capable of doing it. Under these circumstances, I preexplose of doing it. Under these circumstances, 1 pre-sent to physicians and to all others, a preparation that has this power to the fullest extent.—It is McAllister's All-Healing Ointment or the World's Salve. It has power to restore perspiration on the feet, on the head, around oldsores, upon the chest, in short, upon any part of the body, whether diseased slightly or severely. When the perspiration is restored, it has power to penetrate the lungs, liver, or any part of the human system, and to act

It is generally seated in the sides of the neck, behind the cars and under the chin, yet scarcely any part of the body is exempt. H times falls upon the lungs and produces consum tion. It is a dreadful circumstance, that this discuss is transmitted from parents to children. The Salve will extract all the morbid matter by causing the sores to dis extract all the morbid matter by causing the sores to dis-charge; and then let then the Solar Tincture be used to drive it to one point, which done, a continuance of the Ointment will completely remove this disorder. This is the safest and most effectual of any method. It should be adopted without a moment's hesitation. Eryspelas -This complaint arises from imporitu being driven out to the surface by means of the insensible perspiration, and lodging in the cuticule, forms sores, ., it being of a ,caustic, acrid putrifying napumples CC., it being of a scause, serie purifying na-ture. It couly requires that it should discharge its vi relent particles through the skin, and the difficilty will pass off. If suffered to remain, and driven inwards it is built of the state of th ture. It only requires that it should discharge its vi-rulent particles through the skin, and the difficulty will onentiv fatal.

Let the Salve and Solar Tincture be used as in scrofuls and the patient will soon get well. Salt Rheum.-This is another obstinate disease but can be cured effectually as the scrofula. There is no and deleterious drugs taken into the stomach. It is a remedy that neither sickens, gives inconveni-ence, origi dangerous to the intestines. This remedy is probably the only one now known, that is capable of producing all these great results. Its great value is in restoring at once, the circulation of the juices when checked, or disarranged by cold or other causes. It preserves and defends the surface from all derangement of its functions, while it keeps open the channels for the blood to avoid all its impurities and dis-pose of all its useless particles. It indissolubly holds together the surface and the internal intersolution to the surface and the surface are inserting with the internal viscera, the surface. They are inseparably connected and cannot be disjoined. The surface is the oullet of five-eights of the bile and used up matter within. It is pierced with millions of open-ings to relieve the intestines. Stop up these pores, and death knocks at your door. It is rightly termed All-Healing, for there is accarely a disease, external or in-ternal, that it will not benefit. It will be found the most useful as well as the cheapest family medicine in the world. I have used it for the last fourteen years with storcess without a parallel. I have used it for all discase of the chest, consumption, liver, and the most dangerous of internal maladies. I have used it in cases of extreme

GAZETTE is one of the earliest names given to a newspaper, says the Worcester Ægis. Like "Picavune," the title of a well known New Orleans paper, it derives us origin from a small coin. A gazette was paid in Venice for the purchase or perusal of the first paper there printed in 1620.

Worms .- If parents knew how fatal most medicines Worms.—If parents knew how fatal most medicines were to children taken inwardly, they would be slow to resort to them. Especially "mercurial lozenges," call-ed "medical lozenges," "vermifuges," pills, &c. Even were it possible to say positively that worms were pre sent, it is not safe. The truth is, no one can tell, inva-riably, when worms are present. Of course the remely is not applicable to the complaint. Now let me say to parents, that this salve will always tell if a child has worms. Let it be rubbed on the neck and chest, to keep them from going up, and then down on the howels and worms. Let it be rubbe on the next and enest, to keep them from going up, and then down on the bowels and they will soon leave. It will drive every vestige of them away This is a simple and eafe cure. No injury can come of it in any way. But should it be cholic, infla-tion of the buwels, or gripe of the intestines, it will efectually cure them as the worms.

There is probably no medicine on the face of the carth t once so sure and safe in the expulsion of worms. It would be cruel, nay wicked, to give internal doubt-

It would be cruel, may wicked, to give internal doubl-ul medicines, so long as a harmless, certain, and effect-ual external one could be had. Cholic, Pain, or Inflammation of the Bowels.—Let the salve be rubbed in and heated with the fire or hot flat irons, and all pains and difficulty will soon cesse. Swellings of the joints, or weakness, or any affective of the bone, nothing is so good for as this salve.

Poisons, --I never knew anything so good at his saive. Roisons, --I never knew anything so good as this saive. It causes the poison to discharge immediately, and leaves not the slightest cause of alarm. Poisons by nails, bites of animals, or burns, it removes when no-thing the set of the se thing else will.

Toilet.---I have it done up in fine order for the dres-for I am ready to back it with any reasonable amount. We I am ready to back, it with any reasonable amount. Obl Sores, Mastification, Ulcers, 4c.—There is no ef-ectual way of curing these, but drawing off the putrid matter. To merely dry it up would only endanger one' health more. That some sores are an outlet to the im-purities of the system, is the only reason, because they cannot pass off through the natural channels of the In-stantial Remainstitue I for the source on the laboration. cannet pass off through the natural channels of the *in-*sensible Perspiration. If such sores are healed up, the impurities must have some otheroultet, or it will endan-ger life. This is the reason why it is impolitic to use the common salves of the day in such cases. For they have common saives of the day in such cases. For the y have no power to open other revenues, to let off all 'lis mor-bid matter, and the consequences are always fatal. This salve will always provide for such emergencies. There need be no fear. It is perfect.
