The Death of Major Brown.

Camargo, Mexico, Aug. 18, 1846. Editors of the Picayune :- 1 do not recollet having seen any detailed account of the wounding of Maj. Brown, at the bombardment of the fort which now bears his name. I was very much interested the other evening, while listening to a description of the sad scene, given by a gentleman who was an eyewitness, and whose statement can be relied on as perfectly correct.

On the morning of the 16th of May, the fourth day of the bombardment, about daybreak, the gallant commander of the fort took advantage of a short cessation of the enemy's fire to get a little rest, having been constantly on the watch the night before. He remained in his tent about an hour, when he lest it and risited the bastion commanded by Capt. Miles. Here he found several young officers collected, who where conversing, and jocularly remarking on the novelty of their position, having never before heard any enemy's cannon. The Major mined in the conversation, but in a short time eftthem, saying, as he turned away: " Young gentlemen, I most sincerely hope that you may live to fight many battles; and as I know you all, I hope you may have on opportunity to do vourselves justice." He left this bastion to visit Captain Lowd, and gave that officer orders to fire a certain number of guns at certain intervals, and to produce as great an effect as possible. This was done for a purpose then only known to himself. A few hours afterwards, as the Major was again going around the fort, accompanied by his adjuiant, Lieut. Page, a gallant and very efficient young officer, now adjutant of the 7th infantry, he informed him that the guns which he had ordered Capt. Lowd to fire was the signal agreed upon between Gen. Taylor and himself to inform the General that he was closely besieged. He had scarcely timshed the sentence when they heard the report of a mortar. At the instant they were passing between the traverse which runs across the fort and the magazine. They knew not from what direction the shell was coming, but both of them fell down to avoid it. Mai. Brown replined against the traverse, and Adjutant Page against the magazine. They were within about right feet of each other. As the Major was in the act of lying down, his leg was for an instant brought in the same position as if he had been string in a chair-or but nearly to a right angle, the foot resting on the ground. Page was looking at him at that instant, and saw the shell strike him in its descent. It hit him on the knee and crused the whole leg downward to the foot, tearing has boot to pieces. The blow threw him partly over, and resting on his hands and one foot, and turning pale from the intensity of the pain, he exclaimed " My God!" which, as far as I have heard, was the only exclamation of that nature which the brave man made from his fall until his death. The instant young Page saw that his commanding officer was wounded, he sprang to his feet and looked for men to assist in taking him to the hospital. Quartermaster Sergeant Henry was close by, and was at the Adjutant's side in an instant, and almost every man in sight, some ten or twelve in number, rushed up immediately. The Surgeon was anniediately sent for, and the Major was instantly conveyed to the hospital tent. As soon as raised from the ground, he grasped his leg and above the knee with both hands, and held a firmly compressed until the tourniquetts were put on. By this time he was very faint .-Numbers of his men were gathered around to learn the fate of their beloved commander, and seeing them, he said: "Go to your work, men. I am but one among you."

The officers and men under Maj. Brown ere wirmly attached to him, and they never ade to his name without on expression of of in Page, last evening, I refered to the death of the markets of the Union. et is commander. He corroborated the foregorestatement, and in conclusion made the followog uppressive remark: "I remained with a spirit so noble-a man who, in his most inconfided to him by his commanding general."

When asked, after being informed that his could not be saved, if he had any requests

By Telegraph from Baltimore.—The St Louis Republican has news from Santa Fe to the 3d August. Only 450 Mexican soldiers vere there, but the authorities stated that they ad seven thousand troops in reserve to march 21 a moment's warning against General Kearney ad been received there for fifteen days. Met Mexican spies. W. Z. Swan, of Northampton, Mass., was murdered by the Indians on the Prairie. The Indians are committing great de-Predations on travellers. 'Immense numbers of government wagons are on the prairie, which could be captured, and the supplies cut off, by 100 Mexicans, if they knew their exposed situation. Some Indians were in Santa Fe offer-General Kearney, and to rob and disperse American travellers—the governor refused them.

SANTA FE TRADE .- A letter written at Inde-Pendence, Missouri, on the 26th of August, and published in the St. Louis Republican. lurnishes some statistical details of the trade to anta Fe and the Southern Mexico provinces, which is much greater this year than any for-Ports on the seaboard. Thirty-nine companies. with them 413 wagons, which are in the charge carried out by these traders is estimated at neary a million of dollars.

STAGE ACCIDENT .- The stage between Mount Holly and Camden was accidentally speet last Saturday while coming down Hollmashead's hill, and literally crushed. There were at the time ten or twelve passengers in it, and although the whole were precipitated down declirity of some eighteen feet, no one was dangerously injured. A lady had an arm dis-

PROGRESS OF LIGHTNING .- The Telegraph lane was connected through the whole distance from New York to Buffalo on wednesday. passing through the following stations, viz: Troy, Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Auburn, Rochther and Bullato, being a total distance of 507

Mormon Affairs .- The Hancock difficulies still continue to occupy much space in the Western papers. At the last accounts, the posse under Mr. Carlin numbered eight or ten hundred strong, and would march on Nauvoo so soon as a sufficient force was collected. At the solicitation of some of the citizens of Nauroo, the Governor despatched Col. Parker. with ten men, to quiet the difficulties in Hancock. Parker has issued his Proclamation requesting the posse under Carlin to disperse and return to their homes. He has also written to Carlin that he will execute all the write in his possession, and if he and his posse do not disperse he shall treat them as a mob.-Carlin, acting under legal advice, returned for answer, that he can do his duty as an officer without any assistance from Parker, and if he and his ten men interfere with his in the performance of his duties, he shall treat him as a mob. The Quincy Whig, an Anti-Mormon paper, says: "It seems a Mormon was shot on Thursday night, by one of the picket guard, stationed near Carthage. The facts appear to be these :- a company of five Mormons were advancing towards the camp—they were told to stand, when one of them snapped his gun at the guard, which was answered by a discharge from the guard, and a terrible out-cry among the Mormons was the consequence. The nex morning a glazed cap was picked up near the ground. This is about the substance of the information we have received. We shall probably hear something more decisive in a day

" P. S. The Bertrand came down on Monday morning. By the politeness of Mr. Erskine, who came passenger, we are favored with the latest intelligence from the battle ground, that may be. The posse under Carlin had marched towards Nauvoo, and were to camp at Golden's Point on Saturday evening and contemplated going into Mormon town on Monday morning.

A. Williams, Esq., has just returned. We learn from him that the Mormons had taken Col. Chittenden a prisoner, through the basest beyond the damp grave, to a reunion with their treachery. They sent out word that if he would come into the city they would negotiate a peace—he did so go in—and there he re-mained at our last accounts."

A DESERVED REBUKE .- We copy the folowing article from the Baltimore Sun, as a ust rebuke to the Pottsville Miner's Journal which is doing all it can for political effect to improve the coal and iron interests of that re-

Suicidal Policy.—It appears passing strange to our comprehension that the Pottsville Journal, which its editor and "agent for the proprietor" claims to be a " Miner's Journal" par excellence, should labor so hard as it does to destroy the business of its own region. It follows up column after column with articles rather than arguments, not only to convince the public that foreign coal will be furnished for a less price than domestic, but that the former is superior to the latter in quality, and to prove to the coal operators and miners that they cannot possibly carry on their business, and should at once discontinue it, and throw their hands out of employment. If such a suicidal course should meet with favor from those en gaged in the domestic coal business, then, indeed, as it appears to us, may it be said to them that they "kiss the hand that smites

We believe that the two great peculiarly cen tral interests of the country, coal and iron, should be sustained, if need be, by higher duties We believe also that the whole South. West and Southwest are far from being unfa vorable to such duties upon foreign fuel as shall on regret at his fall. In a conversation with afford to the domestic production the supply

The use of fuel now enters much more ex tensively into almost all branches of manufactures than formerly. Even where water is mas long as my duty would permit, and left used as the driving or motive power for the maas side with deep and heartfelt sotrow that the chinery, steam is now generally used for the service and my country had lost, in its defence, | boiling, bleaching and drying process. The tendency of manufacturing, therefore, all other hase agony, thought only of the proud trust things being equal, is to seek the cheapest points, the sources, of fuel.

The South are not blind to the facts that under the influence of the high tax at present upto make before his death, he very quietly an- on foreign fuel, $175 per ton, the location of on the north by lands of James R. Fortunately the five, after burning awhile, failed to ignite the nal." that this "cutting off one's nose to spite contents of the shell, and the noble fellows one's face," is not, in our estimation, very judicious.

THE DANGER OF ROUGE .- A lady who piqued herself on the beauty, freshness, and pure white and red of her complexion, went to attend a chemical lecture. She had not been there long, when suddenly her face was observed by all present to become perfectly blue .-The cosmetic she had used being affected by some salt, or acid employed in the experi ments, had caused the marvellous transfigura-

THE STATE CATTLE SHOW AT AUBURN .-On the 16th and 17th days of this month, the great Annual Agricultural Jubilee will be held at Auburn, N. Y. The arrangements are on ing their services to the government to attack more extended scale than usual. The Rensselaer County Agricultural Society will hold their annual cattle show and fair, at the city of Troy, on Wednesday and Thursday, the 23d 26th day and 24th of September, instant.

THE ESCAPED RETAKEN .- Levy Nice, who was recently taken up in Luzerne County, for passing counterfeit money, and afterwards scalmer one, owing mainly to the closing of the ed the Wilkesbarre prison walls, in company with his accomplice, Joseph Bahl, was retaken of traders have gone out this season, taking on Wednesday at Doylestown, after a very hard run. Joseph Bahl was taken some time of ahout 800 men. The value of the goods ago a few miles from Bethlehem, and sent back to Wilkesbarre. They are both from Lehigh County, and old birds.

> More New Companies .- Gov. Wright has organized six new companies of cavalry in New York, to constitute a regiment, and to be attached to the sixth Brigade, under command of Gen. G. P. Morris. It is to be known as the 28th Regiment of Cavalry.

A NEST DISTURDED .- An extensive gang of thieves and counterfeiters have been recently discovered in Pope county, Illinois. Some of them were magistrates and other local officers. A body of "Regulators" caught and punished them severely.

THE HORSE CHOLERA has extended to Staten Island, where the horses are dying of it in Obituary

Dien, in this Borough, on Tuesday the 8th inst., Ezna O. Love, son of Maj. Long of Troy, in the 26th year of his age.

The deceased was a graduate of Union College On returning to his native village, in the fall of 1844, he was employed during many months as preceptor of the Academy, and discharged the duties of that station with ability and zeal. The public who were acquainted with his worth, regard their loss as a general calamity. By his numerous friends and relatives, the companions of his boyhood, and the associates of riper years, his decease is lamented as a personal affliction. The shaft of death which laid him low, has wounded many hearts.

In this Borough, where he had employed some months during the last two years of his life in the study of Law, his kindness, equable temperament and social disposition, had won for him golden opinions from the extensive circle of acquaintance in which he was known. In the freshness of early manhood, upon the eve of entering on the duties of a profession to which he had devoted his life in eparation, and whose proudest honors were but the reasonable reward of his zeal, industry and talent ;-in the commencement of his career, suddenly he is arrested, and the ambitious heavings of an earnest heart are stilled forever.

The hand of the reaper
Takes the cars that are hoary— But the voice of the weeper Wails manhood in glory.

The friends of the deceased, though they are denied the privilege of witnessing here on earth the exercise of those powers with which he was so liberally endowed, and which seem to have been extinguished by an untimely blight-to have been partially made in vain; yet they cannot subscribe to the cold creed of the scepuc. They cannot believe that the cold clay which they have committed to its kindred earth, is all that exists of the generous friend, the affectionate son and brother; that the fire of intellect, the genial play of the affections, have been consigned to blank annihilation; but on the contrary, they look forward with humble hope, friend in a happier existence.

Beyond the flight of time, Beyond this vale of death, There surely is some happy clime, Where life is not a breath: Nor life's affections transient fire Whose sparks fly upward to expire.

Towanda, J. ly 25, 1846. MODERN ROME!

THE subscribers wou'd tender, their thanks to their customers for past favors, and call their attention to their New Stock of Goods, which exceed their former one stock of Goods, which exceed their for-mer one in quantity, quality and low prices. Their present stock having been selected with great care, and lought low; they will endeavor to give their customers better bargains for Cash or Produce than can be had at any other establishment.

Their assortment being complete it would be useless to particularize articles, but would just say that their stock consists of a full supply of Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery, Hardware, Dye Stuffs, Drugs, Hats, Bonnets, Boots and Shoes, &c., &c.

The above stock shall be sold at prices that will give entire satisfaction. Being satisfied that ready pay is best for all parties, and the merchant to sell his goods at lower prices than he can do on credit, therefore will adhere to the Ready Pay System. We do not ask you to call and see our goods first, but examine others first, if you please, and then ours, and we are sure you will purchase of us you want bargains. MAYNARD & WATTLES.

Towanda, August 1st., 1846. ARRIVAL OF SUMMER GOODS

cheaper than they. Having taken much pains in the selection of their goods—and as many articles of merchandize have fallen off in price since spring purchases were made, 'they confidently believe they can offer some inducements to those who wish to huy chap goods they will not readily find elsewhere, especially a stores that purchased their goods early in the season. It will take but a moment to drop in and examine some of their cheap Goods. Such as Good Brown Muslin, 7 couts per yd. Culicoes, 7 do. Very good Prints, 10a12 & 15 per yd. Brown Sugar. 7, 8 & 9 cents per lb-Good Molasses, 30 cents per gallon. Green Tea from 122 cents to $1 per lb.

And all other articles in proportion. They do not like to say they will sell "cheaper" and "more" "goods" than any body else. That would seem too much like boasting; but they will say distinctly, they will not be undersold; and, will also say to their Lumber and Freduce customers that they have the say to their Lumber and Froduce customers, that they have the most entire confidence that no fault will be found with the price of Goods. If they only bring in their Lumber and Preduce, they will find goods as cheap as where they sell

They do not consider it necessary to enumerate all or any of the articles they have for sale. Suffice it to say, their assortment is now full and complete. Call and examine for yourselves.
