The Farmer's Song.
BY CHARLES BAKER

Success to the jolly old farmer,
Who sings at the fall of his plow—
The monarch of prairie and forest,
The only to tread the may bow!
He is sturdy a fortunate fellow!
He raises his bread and his cheese;
And though hard is his labor in summer,
In winter he lives at his ease.

When the reign of old winter is broken,
And spring comes to gladden and bless;
When the flocks in the meadows are sporting,
And the robin is building her nest—
The farmer walks forth in his labor,
And manly and firm in his tread,
As he scatters the seed for the harvest
That yields to the nations their bread.

His banks are all chartered by nature—
His credits are all ample and sure;
His clerks never sleep with deposits,
Pursued by the curse of the poor.
His stocks are the best in the market,
His shares are the shares of the plow,
They bring the bright gold to his coffers,
And pleasure and health to his brow.

When his fields with rich harvests are teeming,
And the reapers go forth to their toil,
None are so happy and free as the farmer—
Possessor and lord of the soil.
He sings while he roams his broad acres,
And as none but a farmer can sing,
And would not exchange his condition
For the splendor and pomp of a king.

When his crops are all gathered and sheltered,
And his cattle are all snug in the fold,
He sits himself down by his fireside,
And laughs at the tempter and cold.
A stranger to pride and ambition,
His duties he strives to fulfil,
Determined whatever befell him
To let the world jog as it will.

His trusts in Him who has given,
The seasons, the sunshine and rain,
Who has promised him "seed time and harvest,"
So long as the earth shall remain;
And if by his duties he wander,
Led on by his venturesome will,
Through life and its changing relations,
God's providence follows him still.

Hints to Young Farmers.

Consider your calling the most elevated and the most important, but never be above it, nor be afraid of the flock and the apron.

Put off no business for to-morrow that can be done to-day.

As soon as the spring opens and the frost is out of the ground, put your fences in order.

Plant no more ground than you can well cultivate and cultivate to advantage.

Never hire a man to do a piece of work which you can do yourself.

Every day has its appropriate duties, attend to them in succession.

Keep no more stock than you can keep in good order, and that of the best kind.

Never "run into debt" without a reasonable probability of solving it at the time agreed.

Remember that economy and industry are the two great pillars of the farmer's prosperity.

Take some good family newspaper, and pay for it in advance.

Never carry your notes in your pocket book, for the desk or trunk is a more appropriate place.

Keep them on file and in order, ready to be found when wanted.

Never buy anything at an auction because the article is going cheap, unless you have use for it.

Keep a place for your tools, and your tools, in their places.

Instead of spending a rainy day at the dram shop as some do to their ruin, repair whatever wants mending, or post your accounts.

Should you be fond of the chase or the sport with the hook, indulge occasionally, but never to the injury of more important concerns.

By driving your business before you and not permitting your business to drive you, you will have opportunities to indulge in innocent diversions.

Never trust your money in the hand of that man who will put his own to hazard.

When interest or a debt becomes due pay it at the time, whether your creditor wants it or not.

Never ask him to "wait till next week," but pay it. Never insult him by saying, "you do not want it."

Punctuality is a key to every man's chest.

By constant temperance, habitual moderate exercise, and unaffected honesty, you will avoid the fees of the lawyer and the sheriff, gain a good report and probably add to your present existence, at least ten years of active life.

When a friend calls to see you, treat him with the utmost complaisance, but if important business calls your attention politely excuse yourself.

Should you think of building a house, be not in a hurry, but first have every material on the spot and have your cellar as large as the frame.

Keep a memorandum book—enter all notes, whether received or given—all accounts received or paid out—all expenses—and all circumstances of importance.

Having arrived at this important knowledge, you will institute the present traveler, who always keeps in view where he is next to move. You will now look forward and calculate how and in what way you shall best meet and prosecute the business of ensuing season.

TO DESTROY THE CANADA THISTLE.—We extract the following quaint direction for extirpating the Canada Thistle from a lady's portfolio, in which there is much good sense; yet we would not let these vile intruders have a chance at living until August, merely for the sake of the experiment.—

"It thistles be cut in April,
They appear in a little while;
But if cut in May,
They peep out next day.
If cut in June,
They re-appear too soon;
If in July,
They'll hardly die;
But if cut in August,
Die they must."

ORCHARD GRASS.—This grass, not many years introduced into this country, and even now received by many with doubt and incredulity as to its value, is, unquestionably, a very valuable acquisition to husbandry both on account of its great prolific power, and its perfect adaptableness to lands on which other grasses cannot be cultivated, or almost with slight success.

On all loamy soils it grows luxuriantly, and in orchards, where most indigenous and foreign cultivated grasses soon run out, it endures for years.—Horses, sheep and cows partake of it with the greatest avidity. A writer remarking on its many characteristic excellencies says: "It springs early, grows fast, makes excellent hay, and yields an abundance of seed, which is not easily shaken out."

Good Butter.

"Is your butter good?" said I to the farmer.
"Good! my wife has made butter these twenty years and I should think she ought to know how to make good butter by this time!"

He was evidently offended.
"Well, let us examine it." The cover was taken off the tub; the clean white cloth, (which had been wet in brine,) rolled up and the yellow treasure revealed. It certainly did look good.

"It tastes sweet, but how very salt it is!"
"We always make our butter salt to have it keep at this season."

"Let us see if the butter milk is as well worked out as the salt is in."

Some of the rolls pressed down with a ladle.

"Now my friend, if your wife has made butter these twenty years, she does not know how to make good butter for no butter can be good until the buttermilk is worked out."

If that is done, you need not salt it so much to have it keep well in any place. A very little care and labor would have made this butter excellent; but lacking that little, it is only a second quality, as you shall acknowledge, when I show you a sample of good butter.

We went in and I took up a roll from a cask of first rate butter. It was smooth, clear and handsome; the hand of woman had not been on it from the time it had left the churn until now, all the work had been done with the ladle.

"If you had a drop of buttermilk from that butter you shall have the whole free."

Now taste this, and your own, and say honestly, if you would not give a higher price for this than your own. Look at it—see how clear and transparent these minute globules are, and how intimately blended with the mass. Until all these disappear the butter will not keep long when they are ever slightly colored by the milk.

The farmer simply remarked that there was a difference in all butter, and left to find a less critical and more ready customer.

It is strange that when every body loves good butter, & is willing to pay for it, our farmers' wives & daughters do not take pains to make a better article. It is the women's fault that we have poor butter generally, and hold her responsible.

It is perfectly easy to make good butter. The only requisite is care.

Good butter will always command a good price in the dullest market, while poor butter is a drug at any price.

When any of my lady readers make butter again, just let me imagine that I am to have a nice bit of bread salt butter with them, and that I shall detect the least particle of milk, and that I am not fond of too much salt.

THE SUN.—The centre of our system, that glorious orb "kindled by God on the morn of creation to cheer the dark abyss and to pour his radiance on surrounding worlds," is 866,000 miles in diameter, and five hundred times larger than the aggregate of all other parts of the system, and moves in space with a velocity of 28,000 miles an hour.

Mercury, the nearest planet, is distant from the sun, 37,000,000 of miles; its diameter is 3000 miles; its hourly motion in its orbit 95,000. Venus is 60,000,000 miles distant, nearly 8000 in diameter, and moves 75,000 miles per hour. The Earth is 95,000,000 miles distant, 8000 diameter, and moves 68,000 mph. Mars is 145,000,000 miles distant, upwards of 4000 diameter, and moves 55,000 per hour.

Jupiter is 492,000,000 miles distant, 90,000 diameter, and moves, 30,000 per hour. Saturn is 900,000,000 distant, 80,000 diameter, and moves 22,000 per hour. Herschel or Uranus is 1,800,000,000 miles distant, 35,000 diameter, and moves 15,000 per hour. These distances being graduated by mathematical law, the new planet Neptune or Le Verrier is found to be 1,800,000,000 miles distant from Uranus, thus by its addition doubling the radius and consequently the diameter of the Solar system, and making them respectively 3,600,000,000 and 7,200,000,000 of miles.

Now if we look at that sublime law, by which the two forces that appertain to these worlds are exactly balanced, and find them all moving on in harmony in their orbits and still sustained, together with their sustaining center, as the whole solar system moves on in its vast orbit around some far distant central sun, yet as a part only of myriad systems forming one great whole, to us inconceivably vast; if we find all controlled by immutable law, and still more, if we cannot believe these worlds to be barren wastes, but inhabited by immortal beings, and that this grand whole is pre-arranged by moral affinity, this subject has sublimity which no seraph can measure.

HAVE GOOD VINEGAR.—Good vinegar is one of the necessary luxuries of the table, with a little care it is always attainable by those who have apple-orchards and cider of their own, and ought to be more generally supplied in our market than it is.—When one cask of good vinegar is procured, there need be no difficulty in keeping it filled with that of the same quality. The farmer should put away his good strong cider in a substantial cask, under cover, with the bung-hole open to the air, and let it gradually undergo the necessary fermentation. If the casks are frequently shaken, and the contents gradually drawn from one to another, the process is hastened. Mix nothing with it; let it be the pure cider. Draw from the hogs-head to a barrel, to a five gallon keg, and from that again for the table. It is thus kept stored, and comes in contact with the oxygen of the atmosphere, with the more speedily sharpen it. Keep filling the hogs-head with strong, sound-cider, as you draw from it to fill the barrel, and the house-wife need never spoil her pickles, mine host his cabbage, for lack of good vinegar.

TAME BEES, WAX AND FILES.—Education does much among animals; they are singularly susceptible, especially when certain methods, which would be interesting to know, are used. One Windham, an Englishman, had a peculiar talent for educating bees, wasps, and even several other flies. On the 4th of June, 1774, in the presence of the staidholder and his consort, he made several experiments on the education and economy of bees. He displayed a comb full of these insects, and in the space of two minutes he caused them to leave the comb and settle on a hat of one of the spectators; thence he caused them to alight on his neck; next, he caused them to settle upon his head and face, on which they make a kind of mask; he afterwards caused them to march upon a table, according to his orders. That which was most extraordinary in the talents and conduct of this singular man was, that he could make the same experiments with whatever swarm was offered him, and even wasps and other flies; and that he could tame the most mischievous in the space of five minutes, without danger of being stung.

THE PARLOR MAGAZINE.

J. T. HEADLEY, EDITOR. The Magazine, formerly under the name of the Parlor Magazine, is published by J. T. Headley, author of "Napoleon and his Marshals," "Washington and his Generals," "Letters from Italy," &c. &c. It is a large paper, published weekly, and is not only a valuable source of information, but also a most interesting and profitable perusal. It is now a stranger, glad to be in the presence, while it exerts an influence upon the public mind, and while it exerts an influence upon the public mind, and while it exerts an influence upon the public mind.

It will continue to maintain its high moral tone, and nothing will be admitted into its columns which will minister to the corrupt passions and tendencies of youth, or which the author "dying would wish to blot." The design is to offer the public a Magazine containing all the attraction and interest of the lighter periodicals, while it moves in a different path, and is not exposed to many of the evils to which the latter are liable. It is issued monthly, commencing with May, containing 32 pages of original matter, printed on fine paper, in handsome covers, with a splendid steel engraving, and colored front, in each number, with occasional music and is got up in every respect in the best style of the art, making a yearly volume of 324 pages, full of choice illustrations, and forming an elegant and valuable companion to any circle to which it is introduced. The price only $2 per year, in advance. 3 copies for $5. 8 copies for $12.

The Press and the public are daily awarding us the very highest testimonials of the editorial ability of our Magazine, and the beauty and taste with which it is embellished, placing it in a very first rank in every respect, among the thousands of which we select the following: "Mr. Headley's lively and versatile pen is admirably fitted to give a charm to a work like this."—New York Evangelist.

Under the editorial charge of J. T. Headley, the most popular and valuable Magazine in the country will be taken in this already well-known and valuable Magazine. The name of Headley alone is a sure guaranty of success."—Farmer and Mechanic.

The new editor has infused that intense and absorbing interest into its pages for which his writings are remarkable. The work has gained in the power which enchains the sympathies and rivets the attention, while it is being taken in this already well-known and valuable Magazine. The name of Headley alone is a sure guaranty of success."—Farmer and Mechanic.

SHEPHERD'S MEDICINES.

Consisting of Vermifuge, Sarsaparilla, Cough Candy, and Fever and Ague Pills.

OF THE VERMIFUGE, nothing more need be said than what is said in the following certificates of residents of Luzerne county:

SALEM, May 17, 1847. I used Shepherd's Vermifuge for two of my children. It operated well, and expelled a quantity of worms. I can recommend it as a valuable medicine.

Isaac Condit, Esq. Town Hill, Jan. 20, 1847.—John Koons, Esq.—Dear Sir:—You will please send me four bottles more of Shepherd's Vermifuge. The three bottles purchased of you a short time ago have been used, with the happiest effect. They were given to three of my children, in one case 65 worms were expelled, in another 164, and in the last 67. I am anxious to give the rest of my family the benefits of this medicine, and therefore order as above. This is decidedly the best article for destroying worms that I have ever seen in this part of the country. I have tried Orrick's, Reckitt's and several others, but without any good effect. Yours, with esteem, SAMUEL M. STUBBS.

Price 25 cts. per bottle.

Shepherd's Sarsaparilla, for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood.

Viz:—Scrofula, in its various forms, rheumatism, pimples or pustules on the face, eruptions on the skin, boils, blotches, ringworm or tetter, cancerous affections, chronic sore eyes, scald head, enlargement and pain of the testes and joints, lamboago, dropsy, dyspepsia, chronic diarrhoea, and all other diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood.

When the lungs are diseased, as is often the case. Or when pimples or pustules appear on the face. The former will vanish, the latter give way. By the use of Shepherd's Sarsaparilla.

The medicine under consideration is a compound preparation of Sarsaparilla, and from its containing ingredients wholly vegetable; which it is believed are in each of the preceding cases, and in all other cases, more efficacious than any other medicine.

Price 75 cts. per bottle.

Germans Fever and Ague Pills.

FEVER AND AGUE.—This insupportable and debilitating complaint, which prevails to so great an extent in many parts of the country, and which is so liable to terminate in serious organic visceral disease, is now entirely cured by the use of the celebrated GERMAN FEVER AND AGUE PILLS. These Pills are a powerful and efficient cure for the disease from the system, and restore the constitution to its original healthy condition. Europe, as well as America, can testify to their wonderful efficacy. Thousands of boxes have been used, and cured nearly as many individuals as could be named.

For sale by SOYLER & CO., Proprietors, No. 39, North Frederick street, Baltimore, and by appointed Agents. Price $1 per box.

A New thing in Old Wyox.

DR. A. J. COLE would respectfully inform the citizens of Wyox and vicinity, that after diligently prosecuting the study of the art and Surgery in all its various branches for better than three years under the immediate care and instruction of Nathan S. Davis, M. D., of Banghamton, in addition to the attendance upon full and thorough courses of Lectures at the Medical College of Geneva, N. Y. He feels a full confidence in assuring his friends and patrons that no pains will be spared to render himself useful in mollifying the sufferings of his fellow man; and on all occasions will be found in readiness to give prompt and careful attention to such business in his line as may fall to his hands. Dr. Cole may be found for the present at the residence of D. E. Martin, Wyox, April 21, 1847.

A LARGE assortment of Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, and Satinets, which we have long been famous for selling good and cheap, now cheaper than ever—and upon which we challenge the world, just received at O. D. BARTLETT.

SCARPA'S ACUSTIC OIL.

FOR THE CURE OF DEAFNESS, pain, and the discharge of matter from the ears. Also all those disagreeable sounds, like the buzzing of insects, falling of water, whizzing of steam, &c. &c., which are symptoms of approaching deafness, and also generally attendant upon the disease. Many persons who have been deaf for ten, fifteen, and even twenty years, and were obliged to use ear trumpets, have, after using one or two bottles, thrown aside their trumpets, being made perfectly well. Physicians and Surgeons highly recommend its use.

The very great number of happy results that have followed the use of SCARPA'S ACUSTIC OIL, have been truly astonishing. And what is wonderful, some of the deafest persons, who have been so much improved as to bear common conversation very readily. It would be the height of presumption to warrant a cure in all cases, but in nine cases out of ten of recent date, there is a certainty that the results will be most happy and satisfactory to the patient. The application of the oil produces no pain, but on the contrary an agreeable and pleasant sensation. The recipe for this medicine has been obtained from an Astruc of great reputation, who has found that deafness, in nineteen cases out of twenty, was produced from a want of action in the nerves of hearing, or a dryness in the ears; his object therefore was to find something which would create a healthy condition in those parts. After a long series of experiments his efforts were at last crowned with success in the discovery of this remedy, which he has named SCARPA'S COMPOUND ACUSTIC OIL. A long list of certificates might be given, but such is the confidence in the medicine, and so high has been its reputation, that but one of them will be at present published.

MISS ELEANOR CURRIE—A lady in Smithfield, Conn., Pa., aged eighty-two years, had been deaf for more than 40 years, so that she was not capable of making her conversation in the loudest tone of voice. Last winter she was induced to try "Scarpa's Oil for Deafness." It is only necessary to add that she used two bottles, and is perfectly restored—she is cured. Any information in regard to the case may be obtained at the store of Dr. J. W. H. CHAMBERLIN, Towns, Pa.

For sale by A. S. CHAMBERLIN, Towns, Pa.; only agent for Bradford county.

A Very Important Communication TO ALL PERSONS IN ALL PLACES. At all times, AND UNDER ALL CIRCUMSTANCES. IF YOU ARE SICK, get cured, if well, employ measures to continue so.
