

Two Weeks Later from Europe.

HALF-PAY TRAVELERS' OFFICE.
Saturday, Feb. 22—9 P. M.
The steamship America arrived a few minutes late from Liverpool. She sailed thence on the 21st.

Since the sailing of the last steamer Parliament has met. The Queen's speech delivered, and in some degree the main features of the proposed policy of ministers have been developed.

Both houses of Parliament were opened by proxy on the 21st, when the speech from the throne was delivered by the Lord Chancellor.

We submit a summary of the document.

After lamenting the death of the late Queen Dowager, and stating in the usual terms that we are at peace with all foreign powers.

It says on the subject of the Russo-Bulgarian question—what follows in the course of the Austrian war, differences of a serious character arose between Austria and Russia on the one hand, and the Sultan on the other, in regard to the treatment of the considerable number of persons who, after the termination of the civil war in Hungary, had taken refuge in the Turkish territory.

Her Majesty having been appealed to on this occasion by the Sultan, united her efforts to those of the Government of France, to which a similar appeal had been made, in order to secure, by the employment of her good offices, an amicable settlement of those difficulties in a manner consistent with the dignity and independence of the Porte.

The royal speech then goes on to state that the governments of America and Sweden had evinced their desire to co-operate with Great Britain on the subject of the repeal of the Navigation Laws, and after alluding to some local topics, it then gives a death blow to the advocates of monopoly of the article of food as follows:

"Her Majesty expresses satisfaction in congratulating you on the improved condition of commerce and manufactures. It is with regret that Her Majesty has observed the complaints which, in many parts of the Kingdom, have proceeded from the owners and occupiers of land, Her Majesty generally laments that any portion of Her subjects should be suffering distress, but it is a source of sincere satisfaction to Her Majesty to witness the cheerful and joyful expression of the necessities of life, which cheapness and plenty have bestowed upon a great body of her people and country."

The chief measures recommended from the throne are in reference to Ireland, and relate to the improvement of the Irish Provisional Act, and the laws regulating the relation between landlord and tenant.

In conclusion, her Majesty hopes and believes, that by combining liberty with order—by preserving what is valuable, and amending what is defective, the legislature will sustain the public institutions as the abode and the shelter of a free and happy people."

As anticipated from the movement recently going on for the repeal of the protective duties on corn, an amendment to the address from the House of Commons was moved in the Commons by Sir John Lubbock, and in the Lords by Lord St. Albans. The amendment was to the following effect:

"We regret, however, to be compelled humbly to represent to your Majesty in many parts of the United Kingdom, and especially in Ireland, the various cases of your Majesty's subjects connected with the cultivation of the soil are laboring under severe distress, mainly applicable, in our opinion, to recent legislative enactments, aggravated by the pressure of local taxation."

This amendment was lost in both Houses by an overwhelming majority.

On Thursday Lord Stanley Stuart, in the Commons, moved for various papers relating to the demand of Russia, for the extradition of the Hungarian refugees from Turkey, the Hungarian war, the capture of the Principality of the Danube by Russian troops, &c. In making his motion his Lordship gave a sketch of the history of Hungary, and read a series of details connected with atrocities committed by Austria, and especially by the Emperor Francis Joseph, and Count Batthyany the executioner of Ben, the revolution at Vienna, the renunciation of the Hungarian Diet of Allegiance of the House of Hapsburg, and the invasion of the kingdom by the Russians, before whose members, and the treachery of their chosen chiefs, the people and valiant generals fell a sacrifice.

He hoped that not only would England stand between the Czar and his victims, but that means would be made to force his hands back from the borders to their proper quarters in the Russian Empire. Lord Palmerston, in reply, stated that he would inform the House that the intention of Russia to retake her army on the Danube from 40,000 to 100,000 men. Lord Stanley then asked if England, in preparation for the life of Kosuth against the machinations of his enemies—Lord Clarendon characterized the statement that an attempt has been made on the life of a Magyar Chief, a casualty on the government of Austria.

Prolonged debate arose, in which the Hungarian Chief was fully vindicated, and the past atrocious barbarity of the Austrian government denounced in no measured terms. On the promise that the papers would be produced, the matter ended.

The new navigation law is working well; the ports are well filled, and ship building was never more brisk than at present. It is announced that the Chancellor of the Exchequer will be about four and a half millions plus, this year. It is said, that the amount thus raised by the rising prosperity of the country, will be appropriated to the window and other ornamental taxes.

The Ministers have not yet avowed the line of policy they mean to pursue in regard to the North American colonies, but it is pretty well understood that should those colonies desire either to become independent States, or to annex themselves to the United States of America, that no opposition will be offered by Great Britain to their so doing. This feeling is grounded upon the fact, these colonies were self-supporting ones. One of the most astounding projects of the age throwing the American prospectus for a submarine Telegraph from New York to the Isle of Wight into the shade has been announced in London. The formation of a railway from Calcutta to Madras, in the midst of India, distance thirty-eight hundred miles, cost $20,000,000. The efforts of the friends of currency reform are beginning to be felt, and it is expected that before long a change in the value of the precious metals will be effected.

Intelligence from Ireland is still more heart-rending. Cultivation seems stagnant, and badness more depressed than in the first of her sufferings. The tide of emigration to the United States has again set in, but unfortunately for the people, this means is not so much to escape from local tyranny and distress. The neighborhood of Liverpool has been visited, during the days of Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, with the most severe storm recorded since 1839. The loss of the S. P. Whitney of New York, is reported to have occurred in the gale.

Another expedition in search of St. John Franklin has been resolved upon.

On Friday night, Lord John Russell gave a full exposition of his views in regard to general colonial policy, in moving for a bill to regulate Australia. He concluded his speech by stating the principle upon which the Colonial policy of the Government were founded, and the maintenance of the free trade system to the fullest extent.

MAKING SLAVES OF FREE MEN—A case of a strange nature has just been decided in Raleigh, N. C. where a man named Wm. Hard, was taken from Baltimore. He was a free man, but being arrested in the latter place for felony, was sold to a certain man, which was afterwards extended, on the plea of disorderly conduct. The Court has ordered him to remain a slave until 1856.

The Way to do it

Mr. David Wilmore is mentioned by his constituents in his district, as a man of great energy and ability. A recent convention of the party in Bradford county was held in Towanda on the 18th, to elect Delegates to the next State convention, when resolutions were adopted, proving Mr. Wilmore's course and conduct in the assembly were passed by a vote of 46 to 5. The following is one of them:

A. Resolved—That the firmness with which the Hon. D. Wilmore adheres to the principles of the Jeffersonian republic, and the unflinching boldness with which he addresses the Legislature, in the face of the opposition, in the preservation of the free territories from the establishment of slavery therein, justly entitles him to the thanks of the Democracy of this County whose views he reflects.

We are glad that the people of Bradford have moved in this matter.
