

A Convention—Regularly.

The following article is taken from the Troy Democrat, of July 15th, in noticing the action of two members of the self-constituted Standing Committee. It will be seen that their authority to act, and the legality of the Convention, was disputed from the first.

To the Democracy of Troy we wish to present a few facts, and we would ask a candid consideration of them.

It has been customary with the Democracy of this County to meet annually in mass convention in May, to prepare for the ensuing fall's election, and to appoint a Standing Committee for the current year.

From some cause, no meeting was held last May. Consequently, there was no committee appointed, and all appearance the form of organization died, non cronica.

A few weeks ago, however, some of the aspirants hereabouts recommended that the old Committee should be re-elected, and go through with the form of a regular committee, and appoint a County Convention. The Chairman of the Committee for 1849, therefore appointed a meeting of the members to be held in Wellboro on Saturday last.

Saturday came—and so did two of the Committee, Wm C. RIPLEY, of Richmond, and JAZZAR BAKER, of Liberty. A. J. SOYLED resided here, making three, out of nine, who felt disposed to pay attention to the matter. Mr. RIPLEY expressed himself in opposition to any action of the Committee, as they had no power to act for a longer period than their appointment designated.

There were no other members in attendance, and Mr. RIPLEY refused to act, and went home. After this Messrs. Baker and Soyled met alone—chose the former Chairman, and the latter Secretary—and appointed Committees of Vigilance, and fixed upon a time for holding a County Convention.

Their proceedings we give below, as a matter of political management, and for the sake of the County.

Now we contend—first, that the old Committee had no right to act at all—having lost power by limitation. And secondly, that if it had, it would require a majority to form a quorum.

Therefore, the meeting of the Committee, the action by only two of them, and the County Convention they have called, are all irregular, and without any binding force whatever.

What right had the last year's committee to assume to act, more than belongs to other nine men? None whatever, as four of them already defected, and as three others may be presumed to have defected from the fact of their non-attendance.

But if they had, where did Messrs. Baker and Soyled get their power to act for the whole committee? We can account for this: Mr. Baker wanted to be nominated for the Legislature, and thought in such a conference he had called he could succeed.

Mr. Soyled may have had an equal interest, though in another shape. Our reader can see the party which certain "old stagers" are to be kept upon the upper round through a mock "regularity."

We advise the democracy to beware how they commit themselves to such a scheme. It shall be our duty to suit the whole batch of intrigues which are connected by the ambitious tricksters, and hold them up to public scorn.

The proper time now will be taken, with the concurrence of the real true-hearted democracy of the County, which will ensure a complete and triumphant success.

Let not our friends be hasty in action. Wait and think. We shall pursue the subject of the fraudulent action of two men, and our friends must be prepared to act as circumstances may direct.

As matters now stand, there is no regular organization in the Democratic party. We must organize anew, and that system which is based upon the equal, just, and honorable representation of the whole party, must command success, and become regular.

Broken and Doubtful Banks.
A letter from Baltimore, dated on the 3d instant, says—that stated yesterday that E. Collier, the cashier of the Lavie de Grace Bank, had been arrested by the law, and that he is confined in Belle Air Prison on the charge of fraud.

The President and Maryland directors, chosen by the New York stockholders on account of their business habits and capacity to understand the machinery of a bank, are undoubtedly innocent victims in the hands of some unscrupulous associates.

They were all, however, arrested, and held in Belle Air Prison on the charge of being parties in the fraud, and held to answer the execution of Lavie de Grace against Collier's great, and he has gone to jail to secure his personal safety, instead of taking flight.

He attended school preaching, and held the position of a pillar of the church; but it seems that the foundation has given way. The entire circulation of the bank has been ascertained to be $90,000, and the available assets, it is believed, will not amount to one-tenth of it.

The First Deposit Bank and the Salisbury Bank are another paper machines devoted to foreign use, and whose circulation is now generally refused by our dealers, or if taken, immediately sent to the brokers.

Under the head of "Doubtful Banks," Thompson's Bank Note Reporter has the following remarks: "The notes of the Eagle Bank, Bristol, R. I., are all discredited by the Boston Banks, but are redeemable in N. Y. city by parties interested in the bank at ten per cent. discount. We do not think the bank will break, but it should, in justice to public opinion stand up."

The cashier of the Mineral Bank of Maryland writes us that his Bank is all right. So did the cashier of the Havre de Grace Bank write not a month before it failed. The truth is, the cashiers of these Banks are cloaks to cover their recalcitancy, and the Cashier knows nothing of the day nor the hour when the bank is to break.

Destructive Freshets.

DAMAGE TO THE SCHUYLLER CANAL.—Mr. Hummel, Superintendent of the division above Reading, Schuylkill Navigation Company, is not near so great as was at first supposed.

There is of course an end to all navigation this season; but if the damage done below is no greater than above, and repairs are seasonably commenced, the whole line of canal can be put in order in time for resuming navigation early next Spring.—Reading Gazette and Democrat.

THE UNION CANAL.—The freshet does not appear to have extended west of us to any great extent, and but slight.—Jb.

DAMAGE TO THE BRIDGES.—The Reading Railroad was seriously damaged by the freshet, particularly between this city and Pottsville, though not to such an extent as to impede transportation for any length of time. The Company, with its usual industry, energy and promptness, had a full force of men upon the road, immediately after the water had subsided, and the repairs are proceeding on with the utmost expedition under the direction of G. A. Nicoll, Esq., the efficient Engineer and Superintendent.—Jb.

DAMAGE OF BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY THE FLOOD AT READING.—If the list we have given of buildings carried away, be complete, the amount of damage sustained in this manner, will amount as follows:—

Brick buildings destroyed, 25; frame dwellings, 21; frame stables, workshops, offices, &c., 63; making a total of 108 buildings destroyed!

It is impossible to arrive at anything approaching an estimate of the amount of loss sustained by the freshet. But we think that the aggregate loss to the County and individuals in this immediate vicinity, will not fall far short of $50,000.

Taking into account the vast depreciation of property in the inundated district, we might set it down at even a higher figure.—Reading Gazette.

We have the most faithful reports of the damage done to property, and the loss of life at Tamara. A gentleman who resided on the place to day, informs that it would be impossible to describe the appearance of things along the Little Schuylkill.

(From the Tamaqua Legion—Extra.)
NAVES OF THE DROWNED AS FAR AS HEARD OF. Mrs. Foster, two girls and a boy. Mrs. Edmunds, 1 boy, 1 girl, and 2 granddaughters. Mrs. D. Jones and a child. Mrs. Creasing and child. Mr. George Welsh, 1 boy and 2 girls. Mrs. Elvingham, 2 girls and 2 boys. Mrs. Herron and 4 children. Catharine Williams, a hired girl living at Thomas Foster's.

Mary McCartney, a young girl from Beaver Meadow, on a visit to John Sewall. A young girl 14 years of age, daughter of Daniel Oxtley.

Rev. P. Z. Oberholtz, pastor of the German Lutheran congregation of this place, came to his death in the following manner: It appears that he mounted his horse for the purpose of assisting the family of Mr. McNail, after which he attempted to gain the mountain, and rode in a cellar above J. Broad's house, when he fell from his horse.

He was seen to get on top of the cellar with his horse, but another strong current of water dashed them both into the stream, which was the last seen of him.

Wife of Thomas Edmunds and two children.
Wife and daughter of Mr. Creasing.

THE FOLLOWING PERSONS ESCAPED.
Thos. Edmonds escaped by swimming about two and a half miles down the river, and landed on a tree, from which he was rescued by means of ropes. Daniel Jones, an abolitionist, escaped by swimming about two miles down the river. He was washed in the eddy at Longweyers.

Thomas Cascardine was in Foster's house when it separated, and leaped out the back window on to a coal car floating at the time, and was safely landed on an island of coal dirt, near Harlan's acreage.

Mr. Creasing was rescued from a tree, about one and a half miles below town.

Terrible accident on the Western Railroad—Three Passengers Killed—Many Wounded.
SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 10, 1850.
A shocking accident befel last evening a train from Albany, when near the Washington Summit.

While going at the rate of 26 miles an hour, the forward axle of the second passenger car broke, letting it down on the track, in this condition it was dragged along for at least 300 yards, the broken axle, breaking through the floor of the car, and flying up among the crowded passengers the car at the same time bounding and grinding along, partly on its remaining wheels and partly on the track and sleepers.

The scene that witnessed in the cars amongst the passengers it is impossible to describe—All were in the utmost confusion, scarcely any escaped injury in some degree, and three were killed, viz: Col. S. G. Montford, a lawyer, of New York city; Miss Rogers, of Albany, daughter of the proprietor of the Delaware House; and Mr. Whitmore of Leicester, Mass.; James Hagerman was badly injured, one leg broken, and he was taken away on a litter. Amos Richardson, of North Adams, Mass. was mangled about by the handle of the seat being thrown into the flesh of his leg.

Three ladies were seriously injured and rendered unable to proceed, but were well cared for at the place of the accident. A number of others injured, but it is hoped and believed as yet but slightly.—Amongst them was Mrs. Colwright, of Stockbridge; Col. Montford, one of the killed, was accompanied by a young daughter, whose injuries were not serious—her conduct, as described as heart rending, on seeing the mangled and lifeless remains of her father, drawn from the ruins of the car.

When the train was stopped it was found that the car to which the accident had happened was almost an entire wreck. The wheels were all torn off, the bottom broken through and the seats smashed up. The bodies of the killed were mixed up with the wreck; it was some minutes before they could be extricated; when they were found, they proved to be dreadfully mangled and torn. The third car was detached from the second just before the train was brought to a stand, and stopped short, but for this, it must with its passengers have shared the fate of those before it.

Mrs. MILLER.—We learn from a source fully entitled to credit, that Mrs. Miller, whose sudden disappearance and supposed suicide at Niagara Falls elicited so much remark a few months since, has, within a few days returned to the home of her father, and is highly favored at Detroit. Mr. Birchman, who has died during her absence. The stories with which the Press has teemed about her having gone to Europe in company with a gentleman, &c., &c., are wholly unfounded. She returns of her own accord, drawn mainly, we believe, by a strong desire to see her children. Her mind seems to be disordered, and it is supposed by her friends, that her absence, and her father's by the strong religious excitement under which she has been laboring for some time.—Courier.

The Albany State Fair is a magnificent affair. The grounds, containing 20 acres, are crowded in every part. The people present are estimated from 50,000 to 100,000. About 4,000 members tickets had been sold on the second day. Edward L. Fayette, grand-son of the illustrious General, is among the prominent exhibitors.

STOVE, HARDWARE, TIN, Sheet Iron and Copper Store.
D. C. HALL, having made large additions to his stock, invites the attention of the citizens of Northampton to his assortment.

In the Hardware Department, I challenge "the world" and "all the rest of mankind" (not forgetting any establishment in Towanda) to sell as cheap as I can, shall and will.

The stock of Hardware consists of every article usually kept in a Hardware store—among which may be found Iron, Nails, Spikes, Wire, Saws, Hand Axes, Axes, and Axes, Shovels and Spades, Hackmatt's Sawblades and Vices, screw plates, steel springs, mill, cut circular and panel saws, shovels, sugar, log chains, hocks and hinges, shovels and tongs, but a small number, and tacks, augers, bits, raps, well and clear pumps, Lead Pipe of all sizes; any quantity of Cast-iron and John's tools, all kinds of Sash-Blades, Hardware, House Trimmings, of all kinds and at all prices in fact every thing that any body ever saw in a Hardware store, or can reasonably expect ever to see.

In the Stove Department, I have—oh! there's no use in trying to tell—the best Handmade stove, Key-stone pattern, radiator, parlor, chamber, six plate, six pipe stove, six light stove, Buckeye hot air oven with rotary top, premium stoves from No. 1 to No. 6, central N. Y. stoves, Republican stoves, Albany city stoves, Stewart's air tight stoves, rough and ready stove air tight complete, in fact all kinds and sizes of stoves if not more.

I also have, and intend to keep on hand, any quantity of Russia and American stove pipe; a general assortment of Brass, Copper and Tin ware, from a big brass kettle down to a small tin pepper box. All kinds of tin, copper and sheet iron were manufactured to order, and every article warranted to give satisfaction.

The place of business is on the Public Square on Pine street, in Montany's New Brick Block, the store running through from the Square to Pine street. As to 'people's' finding it
