AGRICULTURAL SONG MT JORN PELKER.

Plough deep to find the gold my boys' Plough deep to find the gold! The earth has treasure in her breast Unmeasured and untold.

Clothe the mountain tops with trees, The sides with waving grain! Why bring over stormy seas.
What here we may obtain?

Oh. Britain need not bring her bread From countries new or old. Would she but give the ploughshare speed And parra to find the gold!

Earth is grateful to her sons For all their care and toil; Nothing yields ouch large returns As drained and deepened soil.

Science lend thy kindly aid, Her riches to unfold; Moved by plow, or moved by spade, Stir deep to find the gold.

Dig deep to find the gold my boys! Dig deep to find the gold! The earth has treasure in her breast Unmeasured and untold-

Experiments on Manures.

We have seen many instances of marked success in composting manures, and some well woithy of imitation. One farmer, whose farm abounds in peat and muck, and whose cultivated lands are composed mostly of sandy and gravelly loam. has applied compost to his crops with marked success. The last season, most of the crops in our county suffered from drought in midsummer his cultivated crops escaped the effects of it. There was nothing peculiar in his method of cultivation. except that he applied his manure to the surface, and harrowed it well in; and in cultivating corn and other hoed crops, kept a level surface, without hilling up, as it is barbarously practiced. This farmer's corn, planted in hills four feet apart, was judged to yield eixty bushels to the acre. His potatoes planted with compost, mostly escaped the rot, while those planted on long and unfermented manure suffered much from it. His or ions yielded well, while on stable dung, muscle bed, and the manures usually applied, the crop owing to the draught, was in many places almost a failure. For carrots, beets, and turnips, this has been found equally effectual, nor are its effects less lasting.

This farmer, who finds himself so well compensated that he does not ask for the Society's premium, has made within the last eighteen months more than five hundred loads of compost manure, At times when the ordinary work of the farm does not press, he employs his laborers and team in carting into his barn and swine yards swamp muck and peat; this, after lying some months and imbibing the droppings of his stock, is plowed up, and after further exposure to their tramping and dropping, is thrown into heaps, where it lies ready to be carried to the field. It is thought indispensable to have the muck thoroughly rotten and decomposed. A piece of peat as large and as hard as a brick is as valueless for fertilizing purposes as a stone of equal size; but crumble, it up, mix it with some heating mannre, and decompose it, and a load of peat compost is worth more than a load of yard dung. When a sufficient quantity of dung and prine has not been dropped in the yard upon the muck, it is advisable to add more to the heap, and the farmer is well paid for the additional labor of snuffy it is made, the better it is adapted to furnishd for the roots of plauts.

Another method of making compost is, to cart di- Bridge sts., in the store formerly occupied by J. Kingsrectly into the field where it is intended to use it, your swamp muck or peat, and there compost, by making a layer of muck about tour inches in depth. then a layer of Jung-horse dung is decidedly the best for this purpose-and so on, till your heap is four or five feet in height, being careful to cover the whole with muck or earth, so that the smmonia shall not escape. In making a compost, you may use one load of dung to three or lour of muck or earth, just in proportion to the strength of the manure. In warm weather, with twice faithful working over, your compost will be ready for use in six or eight weeks, (and this is timely for use in the autumn.) but it is always essential that the 'peat' should be thoroughly decomposed. Such a com post on loamy, gravelly, and sandy soils, is better than clear manure for crops of corn, potatoes, veg. etables of any sort, and for tye, no manute surpas

But if you want a compost that will make your fields rejoice with a luxuriant harvest, and that you any Medicine we have ever before known. Nothing will be permanent in its effects to the muck and manute and ashes in the proportion of twenty five and all local inflamation, curing all sores, burns, bruior thirty bushels to a cord of compost. But wood | see and lameness, rapidly. Piles, bowel complaints, ashes and leached ashes are too dear. That is true. And all the manure we purchase in our county costs as much, or more than in any other locality in the Union. It becomes us then to be more saving, and make the most of our resources. The value of peat ashes, compared with wood ashes, has not been ascertained but peat abounds with us, and a cord of peat will yield more ashes than three cords of wood, if properly prepared and

. The farmer whose practice has been referred to, has burnt peat toppings, imperfectly dried peatstimps and sods, for the sake of the aslies, which have been mixed with his compost, and he thinks with decided good effects. When burnt in large heaps, there is a quantity of charcoal left, which in the opinion of many competent, judges, is the most valuable of all fartilizers, and as far as our observations goes, it has not been over estimated. It can be made with us as cheap as as ywhere else. An acre of peat will produce four or five hundred cords of fuel; in our peat meadows, we have at our doors mines more valuable than those of California. How rich and how happy would the farmers of our coontry be, if they woulds be content to use and enjoy the blessings Heaven has lavished upon them!

The subject of composting manures deserves the attention of farmers, and is sure to reward them for all their efforts. There are many other substances besides peat which are valuable in the compost heap. Let every man improve the means he has, and there will be less occasion for dissatisfaction with our soil and climate, and less disposition for amigration .- Transactions of Essex Co Agricultural Society.

Some Naces of Oxen are sometimes cured by covering the yoke with sheet lead. White lead is also an excellent thing to dry up the sores of sit Canton, Monroeton, Burlington and Smithfield as exen or horses, and is well worth trying.

Afflicted do, not Despair!

Another fellow being rescued from Death by Schenck's Publishing Syrup.

The following case is one of the greatest triumphe of medicine over disease over published in medical his tory. Read it! tory. Read it:

Prompted by no other than the feeling of benevolence, and for the benefit of my affected fellow beings, I desire to make known a short description of my disease, and the unexpected cure I obtained from SUHENCKS PITLATONIC SYRUP. About three years ago I was afflicted wit a violent cold, which settled on my broast and sides and every few days woulld raise considerable blood; my cdugh was tight and distressing. Every day I had violent fover creeping chills, and profuse sweats at night, with great difficulty of breathing and great loss of appetite; my system was entirely pros-trated, being confined to my bed most of the time.— Two of the most eminent physicians of this city attended me, and after exhausting all their skill, pro-nounced my case incurable. Indeed, one said my lungs were almost gone, and I could not possibly re-cover. At this stage of my disease, I was prevailed upon to try Dr. Scheuck's Pulmonic Syrup, and before had taken half a dozen botiles, was so far recovered as to be to go, about the house. It seemed to strength en my whole system-it loosened the cough and stopped the bleeding-my bowels became regular, and every thing I ate, seemed to digest easily and neurish my whole system. Indeed, such was the rapid progress of my health and so sudden the change, that I became too sanguine of a speedy cure, and abandoned the use of the medicine before the disease was thoroughly eradicated, which resulted in another attack of bleeding at the lungs last talk accompanied by a distressing cough. I again commenced taking the Pul-monie Syrup, and sent for Dr. Schenck who, upon a careful examination, advised me to continue using it. Before I had taken four bottles, an abscess formed in my side, which gathered and broke, discharging, as near as I can judge, a pint of very disagreeable yellow mat-ter. This seemed to cleanse and purify my whole.system, From this time I began to get better, and am happy to say entirely recovered. I am sure at this time I enjoy better health than I have for the last ten Since I commenced taking the Pulmonic Syr up, I have never failed to recommend it wherever went, that others, as well as myself, might be saved saved from that awful disease; for I feel it a duty l owe to the afflicted to publish it to the world. Permi me to mention a few cases which have come under my immediate observation. Being on a visit to Camden N. J., last summer, I saw a child, evidently in the last stage of bowel consumption. The mother informe me that the physicians had given the child up as in-curable. I told her what benefit I had received from the use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, and inducial her to procure a bottle. I heard nothing more from the little sufferer until about three month after; being in the market, my attention was drawn to a lady who observed me very attentively. She finally approached me, and asked if I was not the Jady who recommended Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup to her dying child last summer in Camden. I replied that I was. She said summer in a maden. I replied that I was. She said that her child had entirely recovered, and was uncom-monly healthy. Her name is Mrs. Wilson, and now resides in Bridesburg." Another lady I would mention in particular, who had a scrofulous affection. Her face and neck presented one continued sore, and one of her eyes was seriously affected with it. She had become greatly emaciated, and to all appearances past recovery. I induced her to try Schenck's Pulmonec Syrup, which she did, and is now 'perfectly cured. Another lady Mrs. McMullen, whose residence I will give on appli cation, was evidently in the last stage of Consumption, prevailed upon her to try the Pulmonic Syrup. In a very short time she was entirely recovered, and now enjoys excellent health, having become exceedingly fieshy These are three cases within my knowledge, which I know were cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, All who doubt this statement, and will take the trouble to call on me at my residence Parrish street five doors above tenth north side. I think I will be able to estiafretorily convince them by own case, and others that know have been cured by this Syrup. Since my ture, there have been so many to see me to know what
