The Twelfih Volume.

With this number, the Reporter enters upon the Twelfth year of its existence. We embrace the occasion to express our gratitude to the friends who have, during the last three and a half years, so nobly sustained us, against both domestic and "foreign influence." Such demonstrations of friendship and confidence, as have been extended on more than one occasion, to this paper, are indeed cheering. and calculated to nerse us to a more determined gurpose and greater zeal. To give utterance to the principles of the Democratic party of Bradford shall be our highest aim; the hope of meeting their approbation our only wish. Others may vascillate or forget their duty and their faith, but while the Democracy of Bradford remain steadlast in the principles and policy they have marked out, we shall strive to be true to them.

He was swung off and slowly lowered, until having gone to the depth of about 50 feet, he looked below him, and there shone through the thick darkness two glistening eyes intently looking upward. In another moment he was standing on a shelf or angle in the shaft with the child clasped to his bosom. He fastened the little fellow se. curely to his own body, and bidding him take the rope firmly in his hands, the signal was given to draw up. The child held convulsively to the rope, and in a few minutes they rose within view of the hundred auxious speciators, who had assembled to witness the result; and when the first glimpse of far haffled all the efforts of Relief at that it has so far haffled all the efforts of Relief at the effort of Relief at the efforts of Relief at t the little fellow alive caught their eager gaze, stop to it, but also that nearly all the different races screams and shouls of joy from the excited multi-tude filled the air, and big tears of sympathy started from the eyes of every beholder.
