Owing to this extremely beautiful provision of nature, dew is most abun lantly deposited where it is required-namely, on trees, and other plants, while scarcely any is depo-ited on stones; and much more is deposited on light sandy soils, which are dried up during the day, than stiff hard clays, which always retain sufficient moisture to supply the wants of vegetation, even in drouth. The phenomenon of the deposition of dew is well illustrated by the moisture which deposits on a bottle of wine, which has been brought from a cold cellar into a warm room in summer ; though perfectly dry when first introduced, it becomes covered in a few moments with a film of moisture.

When the circumstances are favorable, dew in denosited during the whole night. In Ireland some dew is always deposited when the sky is clear, but very abundant dews on several nights indicate a probability of rain, as they show that the air is nearly saturated with moisture ; and that consequantly the slightest fall of temperature would cause a coudensation of vapor.

Hoar or white frost is nothing more than frozen dew, but frozen at the moment of deposition In the cloudless nights which sometimes occur in spring, the cooling down of vegetables, which procedes the deposition of the trozen dow, is very infoious to vegetation ; it is, in mot, more injutious to them than if covered with snow, but the slightest covering prevents it.

This hoar or white frost must not, however, be contounded with another species, which sometimes occur in our winter: if, when the thermomete sinks a good deal below the freezing point, the wind suddenly veers to the south or south-west, and thus raises the temperature to nearly the freezing point, a considerable quantity of the vanor contained in this warm south or south-west wind will be deposited in a beautiful crystalline form on buildings, trees, &c .- Ag. Jour.

Pruning Fruit Trees.

There are but few kinds of fruit trees that require proving farther than to keep the heads of the trees in proper shape. Peach trees should be shortened in every winter. This consists in taking off from one-third to one-halt of the current year's growth of the surface limbs, as well as all such of the inside as need to be shortened.

The shortening-in or surface pruning, very greatly promotes the vigor and productiveness of the neach true, supplying it annually with plenty of young truit bearing wood in the interior of the head. which never can be the case when the trees are permitted to grow in their own way. All dead and decaying branches should be carefully taken away from the floads of all fruit trees. In all cutting and pruning operations, great care should be taken to cut the limb immediately above a bud, and in cut ting peach trees the cut should always be made just | Saddle, Harness & Trunk Manufactory above a leaf bud; if made above a fruit-bud the limb cannot elongate from the fruit-bud and is comlimb cannot elongate from the fruit-bud and is com-pelled to die down to a leaf-bud which often hap-pens to be a fool or two.
