Plowing Green Crops.

drought.

In the address of James Gowen, Esq., delivered before the Lancaster County Agricultural Society, I find a sweeping condemnation of the practice of plowing green crops for the purpose of improving

Notwithstanding the very respectable authority, I beg leave to examine the position taken in the following extract.

"There is another remark, however it may conflict with preconceived opinion or established us d, e, a sense of duty compels me to make; and that is, of all the time-wasting, land cheating prac-tices, none is more to be deprecated than that of turning in green crops, as a succedaneum for manure. In whatever place this is practiced, however strong the land may be at the start, the system, if persevered in, must mevitably bring the land, its owners and the country into poverty. No good husbandman would think of pursuing such a course. Think of the time lost in preparing the ground for a eding it, and instead of allowing it to mature to be gathared to the barn, plough it under, to serve as manure to the land on which it was raised! Ma nure indeed! To call the acidulated water, which decomposition of par y grown clover, buckwheat, &c. produce, manure, would be a misnomer-the calling of a thing by the wrong name."

In the country remote from cities and considerable villages, the farmer can only obtain such manure as can be raised on his own land, with the expection of such as do not belong to the stable or ful use of your invaluable Specific, the Pulmonic Syrcities should not forget this fact, and write as though exhaustless quantities of manure were within the reach of every farmer.

In view of this, I contend that the practice of turning in green crops, especially clover, should be en couraged and practised much more than it is. Let a crop of clover, nearly approaching maturity, be prowed into the land, and it must result in far more peradded to the other symptoms consequent upon, or attending to the last stages of a pulmonary disease; benefit to the soil, than it could if gathered and fed to cattle, sustaining them by the formation of bone, to cattle, sustaining them by the formation of bone, merous friends that no human power could relieve, or muscle, and fat, and, after unavoidable waste from protract his life, much less restore him back again to beginning to end, the manure carted back again to

But Mr. Gowen ridicules the idea of calling the green crop manure.

Well, if it contains nothing but acidulated water, how do cattle live and fatten, when fed on it, either in a green state of dried, besides furnishing valuable manure !

In this country, on some of our light lands, we Arce to make a soil, and we do it by the use of clover and plaster. We turn under the clover, after being seeded two or three years, and in this way soils that would not, wheh new, bring more than two bushels of rys to the acre, now produce twenty | Chestnut streets. St. Louis; and by principal Druggists bushels of wheat or fifty bushels of corn. Thus we obtain the means of making a manure heap, which we do not neglect to draw out and apply, while whose who follow the skinning process, neglecting to feed their lands with clover, soon find themselves their lands with clover, soon find themselves to the manuschant of the manuschant and are destitute of anything for the manure heap, and are to resume the same exhausting process, on a soil 177 North Third street, Philadelphia. able to bear it longer.

I regret that Mr. Gowen should have given the weight of his name and fame, as an agriculturist and writer, against a practice so beneficial, (in a new country especially) as that of turning in green crops, instead of greedily taking every thing off the land, as our most unsuccessful farmers here are constantly doing.

I hope that the farmers of Pennsylvania who read the Journal will consider this matter; and that some may give us their views and lessons from their own experience on this subject. B. LAPORTE. Asylum, Bradlord co., Pa. March 15, 1852.

Another Rescue by ADOLLET ACSCUL LY was on the verge of the grave, and so far gone that my family and friends had lost all hopes of my recovery ; and when in this situation, having been resi-cued by the use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup; I de-sire to testify, with grateful semotion to Dr. Schenck, the unspeakable behefit! I have received from the use of his invaluable medicine, and so so not said that Early last fall, ("contracted a violent cold, and in consequence of which i had chills, alternated with fover, pains in my right breast and shoulder blade, with a bad cough, and no expectoration. I kept getting worse until I took my bed, and had the attendance of my family physician. I was under his care about four weeks, and at the expiration of that time was reduced so low that despair took hold of myself and friends, and even my physician abandoned me and gave me up to die with the hasty consumption. My appetite was gone, my bowels very irregular, fever and nightsweats, pain in my breast and shoulder, attended with a distressing cough, which was very tight; my flesh had nearly all gone, and was so weak scarcely raise my head from the pillow, and was truly an object of pity to behold. My friends had been sent for to see me die, and my sick bed was suitfounded by kind and sympathizing neighbors, who had come to witness my departure from this world.

When all rays of hope had fled of my recovery, a neighbor, Mr. David Conrad, proposed to try Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, with a view of loosening my cough and relieving me of the toogh phlegm, and as a means of affording temporary relief, remarking at the time, the crop in favor of the former. Now let us examine the reason for this, When fresh soil is brought up around the corn stalk, it induces a fresh evolu tinued using it. I could feel its healing influence

I continued to improve in every respect soon after ! commenced using the Syrup, and the improvement continued until I was restored to my health. I have passed through the inclement weather of the latter part of winter and the spring, and feel as well now as ever I felt in my life, and I am this day a living testimony of the great efficacy of Schenck's Pulmonic

Syrup in curing pulmonary diseases.

Lest this statement be thought too highly colored by some people, I subjoin certificates of a number of the inhabitants of Tucony, who saw me at different times the plants is concerned, and it must be observed, I during my disease, and never expected to see me restor-ed. I also append the certificate of the brothers of think, to every reflecting persons; that the exposure of an extra extent of surface, in a dry time, as in Mystic Lodge, No. 270, L. O. of O. I reside at Tacony, and am well known by most of the people there, and will be gratified to have any person call upon me and learn more particulars of the virtues of this medicine.

The undersigned, residents of Tacony, eight miles above Philadelphia, being well acquainted with John C. Green, and the circumstances attending his case, feel impelled by a deep sense of imperative duty, to make universally known to the public his entire recovery from the very last stages of Pulmonary Consumption. So entirely helpless was his condition, having been but a brief period since in that rapidly sinking and emaciate state, as to uterly preclude, in the opin-ion of his physicians and friends, who watched by his bedside, all hopes of even a temporary recovery and restoration to his present robust health. Thus the carebarn yard-for instance, Gypsum. Farmers near up, makesit our belief, under the circumstances of his previous prostrate, not to say dying condition, one of most startling results that the who cal skill or science can produce. It deserves to be imperishably recorded to your credit, and secure to you, the greatest discoverer of this hitherto remediless disease, a lasting monument and a world-wide reputation in the healing art, that no time may either di destrov. Having witnessed Mr. Green's distressing struggles and sufferings from a continued cough, suand moreover, it being so generally believed by his nuhis former health, we feel it thus our duty to give our unqualified testimony of Mr. Green's perfect recovery, by means of the exclusive use of your wonderful Syrup; and we should indeed rejoice if we could be made the humble instruments of relief and cure to others who may be so unfortunate as to be similarly affleted.
