Native Stock.

It seems to be a principle recognized, that cattle degenerate with a change of climate, with a lew covery; and when in this situation, having been researchions; accordingly every district in England card by the use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. I do has its peculiar stock, which is generally the native degenerate with a change of climate, with a lew has its peculiar stock, which is generally the native breed improved by judicious selection. So valuable is accumulation, that the judicious breeder seldom discards the native stock, but builds upon it by careful selection and crossing; and poor as our native stock of cattle may appear, we are little aware how much of that appearance is owing to indiffer. my family physician. I was under his care about four weeks, and at the expiration of that time was reduced, provement effected by a more judicious course—
We once knew a physician in country practice who had a fine eye for a cow, and who, when he met with one that pleased his fancy, would purmet with one that pleased his fancy, would purchase her, perhaps for eight or ten dollars, and by had nearly all gong and was ro week that I could be the beginning and management, increased her scarcely raise my head from the pillow, and was truly judicions keeping and management, increased her milk from a quart to several gallons at a milking; she then became the wonder of the neighborhood, and was soon purchased by some less judicious person, for a very high price; another purchased in her stead, showing the same result. And this person, who was a man of great observation and judgment, and devoted to agricultural pursuits, of, of affording temporary relief, remarking at the time, ten declared his conviction of the ability, if his professional engagement permitted, to raise from our native cattle a stock for the dairy equal to any that monic Syrup. I found it afforded me relief, and concould be imported. The fact is, that for producing | tinued using it. I could feel its healing influence a good stock of our own, the material is not so much wanting in our own cattle, for nature everywhere affords favorable specimens of her work; we only require more information and discernment among our breeds. CURRANTS AND GOOSERGRRIES .- It is prsumed that not one in a hundred understands the simple process of cultivating either currents for gooseberries, although it has been detailed in all the horticultural books with which the world abounds. Thousand of persons, with every appliance of success, are ticular, still content to live without a plentiful supply of these delicious, healthy and cheap luxuries, merely because they have not thought of the matter. They have a few stinted bushes set in the grass, with three fourths of the stock dead, and then why they do not bear in abundance.

There is not a more beautiful shrub growing than the current, properly propagated; and the same C. Green, and the circumstances attending his case, may be said of the gooseberry. Another Rescue by ECHENCR'S FULNCAIC SYRUP.

I was on the verge of the grave, and so far gone that my family and friends had lost all hopes of my rethe uneneakable benefit I have received from the use of his invaluable medicine.

Early last fall, I contracted a violent cold, and in consequence of which I had chills, alternated with Ico.

ver, pains in my right breast and shoulder blade, with a bad cough, and no expectoration. I kept getting worse until I took my bed, and had the attendance of weeks, and at the expiration of that time was reduced a distressing cough, which was very tight; my flesh an object of pity to behold. My friends had been sent for to see me die, and my sick bed was surrounded by kind and sympathizing neighbors, who had come to witness my-departure from this world. When all rays of hope had fled of my recovery, neighbor, Mr. David Conrad, proposed to try Schienck's Pulmonic Syrup, with a view of loosening my cough and relieving me of the tough phicgm, and as a means "that I was too far gone for the Syrup to be of any permanent benefit." My wife, anxious for the relief of my intense sufferings, procured some of the Pulupon my lungs. I continue to improve under its use, and my friends were much gratified to witness my unexpected improvement; many of my neighbors came to look at me as one raised from the dead.

My cough now became loose, and I felt something break, when I had the pain in my breast, and I discharged large quantities of yellow matter. I have for weeks discharged and raised a spit box full of matter every day, with hard lumps like grains of something. Caule are used for three purposes: an ox for throught, cows as producers of milk, or for the food from eating too much. My strength improved, and I regained my flesh.

I continued to improve in every respect soon after I commenced using the Syrup, and the improvement and enderance to the ox. There are others indicat- continued until I was restored to my health.
