

Agricultural.

The Farmer's Song
My sturdy sons, bring forth the sheaf, And when in autumn fall would bear The golden sheaves, fear not the toil!

Not while we till the treading earth, Let us forget that we are bound,
By all the blessings of our birth, To strive that knowledge may abound.

Wheat thought the Spring labor calls, And Summer sees the golden glow; Autumn with plenty fills our halls—In Winter bleas our overflow.

Then let us bless our happy state, And yield to earth the seed and grain;
With grateful heart we'll wish and wait,
The early and the latter rain.

Ma. Enrich—The hay crop is an important one, and many suggestions calculated to facilitate the getting it in good order, may perhaps be considered as not altogether out of place in the columns of the "Telegraph," where every body looks for particular information. It is the general practice in most sections to mow the hay in the middle of the day, i. e., by spreading it broadest over the ground where it is cut, and at drying it to remain covered in the "ground mat" it is dry enough to remove to the barn.

Now, the method I have adopted differs widely in all the most essential features of the business, from this plan, and as I have had it over and over and again, and become perfectly satisfied by several years' practice that it is now regarded not only as the latest but also as the most improved and of old usages, I will present it for the benefit of my brother farmers, who can follow it, not as they see fit.

In the last place, I never allow grass of any kind to remain in the field standing. I commence to cut when I see the period of blossoming, i. e., in order that it may get through the dew before it fully ripens, or sufficient ripe to shatter out. In mowing, I would not cut a spear till the dew had left the grass, and then lay down as much as possible before there is a chance of mowing at night (when the grass is thin and will allow of it) only what we cut before 11 o'clock; that cut in the after part of the day being allowed to remain in swath till the morning, when it should be turned over carefully not to spread, and be put into grass cocks at night. In this condition it may remain until it is made.

In forming grass cocks, care should be had that they are not made too large. Eighty pounds of cured hay is sufficient for a cow, and if no more than this is put up there never will be any danger of its heating, in clear weather, and it will make very rapidly, and without any loss of color or flavor, and be much more palatable than that made in the sun by spreading in the field.

In making grass cocks, where the grass is heavy, the fork is much more convenient instrument than the rake, in performing the duties of the work, although the rake must still be used in the stacking, and give shape to the cocks during the stacking together by the fork.

If the weather threatens to be cloudy, or rainy, the hay should be put together as compactly as possible and well packed; but should it promise to be fair, with no prospect of rain, the hay need be exercised, and cocks may be thrown together as usual with hay that is made in the ordinary way. Hay that has been properly stacked, will, if the weather be favorable, make sufficiently to house in two or three days.

The very considerable losses experienced by the tedious and protracted process of spreading mowing, stacking, and raking, and the loss of hay, are entirely obviated by this method, and there is no loss of time, or inability to be caught in sudden showers with a dozen tons of hay exposed on the field, to be wet and perhaps spoiled. When hay in grass cocks gets wet, the only course to pursue is to let it stand till it gets dry. A heavy shower of a long storm will scarcely wet down an inch; and if the wind when the weather clears, will not dry, and the inside be as bright and sweet to the smell as when put up.

Clover hay, which from its peculiar character and structure of the leaves, is liable to be deprived of its most valuable parts by the frequent and severe hailings it receives in making, is so much improved by this process that no one who once makes a trial of it, will ever think of renouncing it.

If the clover be cut when in full bloom and allowed to remain in swath till just before night of the same day, and then be carefully turned with a fork, in order to turn the under and unworked side to encounter the dew, and be allowed to remain in swath till the attention of the following day, and then formed into light grasscocks by pushing them together in flakes, the hay will be as green and sweet when carried to the barn, as if it were when cut, and this without the loss of any portion of value as a feed for stock. Even the rich color of the blossom will be retained, as well as the delicate beautiful green of the leaves and the light purple of the stalks.

Other grasses are perhaps benefited in an equal degree by being cured in this way, although from the difference of structure the advantage may not be so entirely obvious to the eye. Every one has no doubt observed that green grass made in this way is more palatable, less elastic, and becomes more malleable, or liable to break at the slightest touch.

The condition it is impossible to stir or handle it without severe loss; nor is it so palatable to cattle of any kind as the same grass cured in the manner so highly recommended.

Many of our grasses are manufactured expressly to our order, from our own designs and patterns, and sent in barrels. We offer our goods for retail Cash, at lower prices than any credit House in America can afford.

Another Reason for SCHEENK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.

I was on the verge of the grave; and so far gone that my family and friends had lost all hopes of my recovery; and when in this situation, having been re-suced by the use of Scheenk's Pulmonic Syrup, I desire to testify, with grateful emotion to Dr. Scheenk, that he is the man who has received from the use of his invaluable medicine.

Early last fall, I contracted a violent cold, and in consequence of which I had chills, attended with fever, and cough, and shoulder blade, with worse until I took my bed, and had the attendance of my family physician. I was under his care about four weeks, and at the expiration of that time was reduced so low that I could hardly get up, and my friend and even my physician abandoned me and gave me up to die with the heavy consumption. My appetite was gone, my bowels very irregular, fever and night-sweats, pain in my breast and shoulder, attended with shortness of breath, which was very tight; my flesh had nearly all gone, and was so weak that I could scarcely raise my head from the pillow, and was truly an object of pity to behold. My friends had been sent for to see me die, and my sick bed was surrounded by kind and sympathizing neighbors, who had come to witness my departure from this world.

When all rays of hope had died of my recovery, a neighbor, Mr. David Conard, proposed to try Scheenk's Pulmonic Syrup, with a view of loosening my cough and relieving me of the heavy phlegm, and a few doses of this medicine relieved me, marking at the time, that I was too far gone for the Syrup to be of any permanent benefit. My wife, anxious for the relief of my intense sufferings, procured some of the Syrup, and continued using it. I could feel its healing influence upon my lungs.

I continued to improve under its use, and my friends were much gratified to witness my unexpected improvement. Many of my neighbors came to look at me as one raised from the dead.

My cough now became loose, and I felt something drawn, when I had the pain in my breast, and I discharged large quantities of yellow matter. I have for months been able to work as usual, and eat all that I desire, and my bowels now become regular and natural, and my appetite was so far improved, that I could scarcely be made to believe that I had been so long in bed, and that I had been so near the door of the life beyond.

I continued to improve in every respect soon after I commenced using the Syrup, and the improvement continued until I was restored to my health. I have passed through the winter and the spring, and feel as well as ever I felt in my life, and I am this day a living testimony of the great efficacy of Scheenk's Pulmonic Syrup in curing pulmonary diseases.

Least this statement be thought to be a light colored one, I will testify to a number of the inhabitants of Tacony, who saw me at different times during my disease, and never expected to see me restored. I also append the certificate of the brothers of Mystic Lodge, No. 276, I. O. O. F., who kindly certified me, and fully believe they would confirm my remains to the tomb; but, thanks to Dr.
Scheenk for his invaluable Pulmonic Syrup, I have been spared, and I am permitted to make this long statement for the benefit of suffering humanity.

I reside at Tacony, and am well known by most of the people there, and will be gratified to have any person call upon me and learn more particulars of the virtues of this medicine.

JOHN C. GREEN.
The subscriber, members of the Mystic I. O. O. F., No. 276, I. O. O. F. of Holtzburgh, Pa. do hereby certify that we know John C. Green, (and is a member in good standing in No. 276 I. O. O. F.) who was dying of a violent pulmonary consumption, and that he is now fully restored to perfect health, and that his recovery was produced by Scheenk's Pulmonic Syrup.

We believe his certificate is correct in every particular.

The undersigned, residents of Tacony, eight miles above Philadelphia, being well acquainted with John C. Green, and the circumstances attending his recovery, feel compelled by a deep sense of imperative duty, to make publicly known to the public his recovery from the very last stages of Pulmonary Consumption.

So entirely helpless was his condition, having been but a brief period since in that rapidly sinking and emaciated state, as to require prostrate, in the opinion of his physicians and friends, who watched by his bedside, all hopes of even a temporary recovery and restoration to his present robust health. Thus the currency of your invaluable Specific, the Pulmonic Syrup, makes our belief, under the circumstances of the present case, not only a dying condition, one of the most startling results that the whole tenets of medical skill or science can produce. It deserves to be imperishably recorded to your credit, and secure to you the greatest discovery of this century, a remedy for this disease, a being monument and a world-wide reputation in the healing art, that no time may either diminish or destroy. Having witnessed Mr. Green's distressing struggles and sufferings from a continued cough, supported by the other symptoms consequent upon, or attending to the last stages of a pulmonary disease; and moreover, it being so generally believed by his numerous friends that no human power could relieve, or protract his life, much less restore him back again to his former health, we feel it thus our duty to give our unqualified testimony of Mr. Green's perfect recovery, by means of the exclusive use of your wonderful Syrup; and we should indeed rejoice if we could make the humble instruments of relief and cure to others who may be so unfortunate as to be similarly afflicted.

This is no Quackery!
ORRICK'S VERMIFUGE,

Or Worm Destroyer.
This Medicine contains no Mercury, nor any other Mineral substance. It is purely Vegetable.
The remedy for worms is one of the most extrordinary ever used. It effectually eradicates worms of all sorts from children and adults.

Thousands perish by worms without the real cause being known. Some other reason is assigned for the sickness, until too late to cure the real cause.

What immense responsibility rests upon the parent who does not know, and the doctor who does not understand, the complaint which is destroying those precious flowers of life—children.

The answer is plain. Give the Vermifuge, which will be sure to do good if they have, no worms, and if they have, it will destroy and eradicate them with a certainty and precision truly astonishing.

There is no mercury or mineral in it. Mercury is the basis of most worm remedies; and the remedy is sometimes worse than the disease. So never use lozenges, but rely upon this. Every person will be convinced on one trial that it is the most perfect cure ever intended.

The immense sale that this Vermifuge has, is a sure test of its value and the estimation in which it is held by families. It would be quite too expensive to publish the volumes of certificates that have been given for the relief of the afflicted by its use. It is requested to spread the name to a persons whom they think will be benefited by it.

Speak of it in all families, and you will do your duty to your fellow creatures, and feel assured of the approbation of all good men, and will receive your reward in heaven.

We call on all good citizens to make known the effects of this wonderful remedy.

Remember, and ask for Orrick's Vermifuge.

Starting Facts.
Hundreds of children and adults are lost yearly with worms, when some other cause has been supposed to be the true one.

It is admitted by all doctors that sooner or later, a man, or child exists, but when some other cause has been supposed to be the true one, it is not until the relief, a supposed fever, scalding, cold, or some other silly carrier of the flower of the human family—while in truth they die of worms! and these could have been eradicated in a day, by the use of one bottle of ORRICK'S VERMIFUGE.

How sickening the thought that these things should be—and who can ever forgive themselves for not trying this WORM EXTERMINATOR, when they know that if the case was not worms, this remedy could not by any possibility do harm—but always good as a purgative, let the disease be what it may.

How important then to use it, and who will dare to take the responsibility to do without it! Let all parents ask themselves this question in truth and sober-ness.
