FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER,

WM. SEARIGHT, of Payette County. "Which is the British Party."

A co-respondent, who is familiar with the posttion of parties in England, sends us the following refutation and attever to some mis-statements and tallacies in the Argus, caused by our cotemporary's attempt to stigmatize the Democracy as the party enjoying the sympathies of some portions of the British. The communication shows clearly toward which party in this country, the feelings of the Aristocracy must lean, while the Liberal party-the party of progress-which has been for years but tting manfally for the Rights of man-necessarily look with interest to the specess of the Democracy, as being a triumph of liberal principles-the predominance of which has illustrated to the downtrodden of the old world, their capacity for sell-government, taught them their rights, and shaken the stability of Empires, and the permanancy of Aristocracies to their very centre.

To the Editor of the Bradford Reporter :- An article in the last Argus, headed "Which is the British Party ?" discourses of some length, upon the opinion of some leading Journalists in Britain, by whom the nomination of Gen. Pierce is regarded with much self gratulation, as evincing on the part of the Democracy of America, a Jesire that the principles of Free Trade should be carried out in sympathy, the Editor jumps at once to the conclusion that the aristocracy of England coincide with Gen. Pience for ajwell known interest that exists between themselves and the Democratic nomineea similari y of dispositions, which our friend of the Argus would fain lead his readers to believe in obvious, at least to the British editors.

But a brief review of the actual state of the case will, I doubt not, manifest the fallacy your contemporary is laboring to establish.

one of the deepest inroads, and as events proved, Pennsylvania, and here will their exertions also the most fatal, upon the exclusive privileges of the centre. We see the beginning already.

Quietly, but not the less steadily is the Aristocracy, that England had over witnessed. was opposed in every stage, every foot of ground countended, every parliamentary manoeuvra resorted to, that experience could dictate or inexhaustiground won from them, step by step, aye, inch by inch, they were compelled to surrendered at dis-

The present ministry, composed as it is, of men eminently anti-liberal both in prepossession and profession, have found themselves compelled to strangle the question of a return to a protective policy, by the overwhelming influence of the artisan and manufacturing population. This body though not equal in number to those linked in the agricultural interest, are yet from the neculiar working of the qualification in voting, demanded by the Garden's to enrich themselves at the expense of most savage of the black variety.) Having taken English laws, virtually the more powerful.

This then stands the case: the aristrocracy of Great Britain, the great landed proprietors, are necessarily opposed to Gen. Pierce, and as an equally necessary conclusion, favorably disposed to General Scorr, for upon a recurrence to a protective policy on the part of the United States, under a Whig President, they anticipate the retaliatory measure of a duty upon foreign grain, by which they cannot fail to be benefitted. The old leases are fast coming to a conclusion, and Farmers cannot by any possibility, continue to rent at the same exorbitant rates, so that unless liberal America plays into the hands of the Austorracy of England, by electing a Whig President, the Liberal party there sedulously labored these many years, the amelior-Agricultural.

From this brief statement, it will be readily perceived, that the sympathies of Liberal England are as they should be, with Democratic America; while on the contrary, the best wishes of the landed Aristocracy, composing almost all the old nobility, are, (and we cannot wonder at 11) yearning to one of the Democratic Arch. allied with them in feeling on so vital a point in the policy of both countries.

The Prospect. PENESTLYANIA THE BATTLE GROUND.

We have heretofore noticed the great dissatisfacion which pervades the Whig ranks in other States, and remarked that Pennsylvania is the only State in which Gen. Scott appears to be submitted to quiel'y, the enthusiasm with which it was received at first having evaporated already.

This is the correct state of the case. We could fill our columns with the names of Whigs in other States, prominent Whigs too, men of mark and influence in the party, who declare their determination to oppose the election of Scott, and support Pleace & King, but we know of no such cases in Pennsylvania.

It were s'range if it were so; strange if the nomination of Gen. Scorr were not well received in Pennsylvania; it will be strange if it should fail to excite that enthusiasm which south to say it has not vel excited.

The Whigs of other States, will deem it strange knowing as they do, that the nomination was made with a special view to the necessity of carrying the Keystone State, and looking as they do, to the cerainty of their receiving that vote as the only sure relief in their present distress.

Without the vote of Pennsylvania no man has The vote of the Old et been elected President. Military Chief a n who received the suffrages of her reomanty.

It was not without reason then, availability be ing the great desideratorn in the nomination of a Whig candidate for the Presidency, that the wishes of the Whigs of Pennsylvania were consulted, ev en to the sacrifice of the great men and the great their fullest extent. From this manifestation of principles of the party, and a soldier placed in nomination in the hope of again securing the success of the Whig party, its principles and measures by an appeal to the patriotic gratitude of the peo e of Pennsylvania.

Pennsylva ia then, is again to be the battle ground, in the great contest, between the two great parties, and is well for her Democracy, to be ap prised of the fact, to be prepared for the encounter o be aware of the actual positon of parties, and no o underrate the foe they have to contend with.

Of the general result we have no doubt. All the signs of the times point unerringly to the triumph of the Democracy, in the election of Pierce and The doctrine of Free Trade was propounded as King, even without the vote of Pennsylvania; while a doctrine peculiarly Democratic, by the party the calculation of the Whigs themselves show that negroes, by exempting them from the involuntary styling themselves par excellence Liberal. The Whig party, however greatest boon that we have to offer to the political they may be divided in other States, are united in exile or the fugitive from oppression. Pennsylvania, they have got for a candidate the only man whose name was before the convention with whom they dared hope to be able to carry the

The success named Dunn, he looked up and saw near him a which has crowned the efforts of the Galphin's and large black bear, of the white-faced breed, (the the public treasury, has at once furnished an inducement for future efforts and a fund for their prosecution.

Whatever then may be the general result, we nave a battle to fight in Pennsylvania that will devote being again oast for a Federal candidate, or the prestige of her name from being broken by the elnion of a President without her vote.

Neither of these results are desirable or pleasant to contemplate. The vote of the Keystone State should be cast for Pience and Kino, and despite the favor of Military glory will be, if her Democrao false security, by the encouraging aspect of affairs in other States, and induced to withhold the exertions that are necessary to carry their own. Gen. Scott on Naturalization Again—Another Celebration of the 23d of September, Plank for the Whig Platform.

While Gen, Scorr, unlike "his illustrous prede pesson Gent Tarton, whose views on great Na-tional questions are even yet an unoffeel enigma has placed on record his opinions on most of the nursions that have divided the people, from the Alien and Sedition Laws down to the Bucktup Law and the Independent Treasury, he appears to have paid particular attention to the subject of the Naturalization of foreigners. Indeed, the modification or repeal of our Naturalization Laws, appears to be his favorice political hobby, and thus while a single letter is made to convey his opinions on all othe questions we have quite a series of letters, and other productions, on this. They vary somewhat the production, of this. They vary somewhat, it is true, thanging with the changing mood of the writer, and the position from which he viewed the subject, as when, "fired with indignation," he sat down to pen a manifesto, which should call intoexister to an American party to put down the Foreguers, then in calmer mood giving in his adhesion to the Native American party, as formed un-der the apspices of the Philadelphia Church Burners; hesitaling between extending the period of residence before Naturalization, and a total repeat of all acts of Congress on the subject, with his mind inclining to the latter; and now with a Presiden tral nomination in view, avowing the possession of "kind and liberal views toward our naturalized citi-zens," and a desire to substitute for all present requirements, a single year of service in the Army or Navy in time of war.

The last change, if it be a change, in lavor of un naturalized citizens is the only one, and is made under very suspicious circumstances, in view of a probable-want of the votes of naturalized citizens, to the total abolition of which his mind had hither to inclined. A new evidence of this has come to light, which shows that at as late a date as 1841, in December of that year, when the election of Mr. Polk, had, in the estimation of Gen. Scott, renewed the necessity which the election of Gen. Han-RISON had obviated in 1840. He had embodied his views and principles on the subject of naturalization in the shape of an Act of Congress, which appeared with accompanying comments in the National intelligencer, over the signature of Americus. This communication, now re-published, attributed to Gen. Scott and not denied, contains the tol-

"1. To reduce the term of naturalization from five years to three years.

' To exclude aliens forever from the right to vote in any public elections whatever except-3. Such aliens as shall have served two years in the army or navy, who shall thereby be entitled to the rights of citizenship, including the right of

"A. Aliens shall be exempted from involuntary service in the militia, the army, or navy, (just as free negroes and Indians are) "5 The law to go into operation six mouths af ter its passage.

Here, then, is Gen. Scott's proposition, matured after years of deliberation, to deprive all Foreigners Keystone has twice decided the contest in favor of who may come into the country, six months after the Whig candidate, and in both cases, it was a the passage of the act (or say six months after his accession to the Presidency) of the right to vote, broken front, the electoral vote of the "Keystone" unless purchased by two years service in the Army or Navy; it being enough, as he says in the communication, if we allow the children of Foreigners born in the country to vote, without requiring their fathers to come here and help us in the selection of our rulers.

> The men who framed our Constitution nave looked forward to the disfranchisement of foreigners, contemplated by this act of Gen. Scott. but while they made provision for a uniform mode a naturalization to be established by Congress, made citizens thus naturalized eligible to certain offices General Scorr's law does not propose to repeal the Constitution, and hence it contains the strange absurdity of debarring a man from the privilege of vo-ting for another to fill an office, which he is allowed to hold himself.

The raturalized citizens upon whose votes the Whigs are so confidently counting, will be especially pleased with that feature in Gen. Scorr's plan which places them on a footing with Indians and cure to its author their " most sweet voices"

Here is another Plank for the Whig Platform, for be it remembered that Gen. Scorr has declared posed that if elected to the Presidency, he will fail to improve the opportunity it will afford him to carbeen maturing, for depriving foreigners of the right of suffrage, the dearest privilege of a citizen, the

A BEAR FIGHT.-The Portland Argus relates an almost incredible story of a bear fight, which is said to have transpired in Andover, North Surplus, Oxford county, Maine, on Thursday last. As Eras-Old tus Bean, a young man of twenty years, was hayhis gan with him to shoot patridges, he caught it up and fired at the brute, but with little effect, the bear in the meantime gradually closing upon him.
While preparing to fire a second time, Bean left to the ground, and the bear sprang upon him, and bit mand our best exertions, it we would prevent her and scratched him, severely lacerating his flesh. Bean finally ran his hand and arm down the bear's throat, and the boy coming to the rescue, took from Bean's pocket a jack-kn.fe, with which he, with his untrammelled hand, cut the bear's throat from ear to ear, killing him stone dead while he lay on his He then threw the beast off, notified his riends, had his wounds dressed, and is now comfortable. It was judged the bear weighed nearly four hundred pounds ! One of his paws, which the informant of the Argus saw, weighed two pounds eleven ounces. This beats all the gennine bear fights we ever heard of.
