THE WILL

BESTEDLESS OF DENUNCIATION FROM INT QUARTER of to the spirit some its vinestiments obligation and an inspirate at house we differ the method be extended and thought bounded the state of the see and continued to the restaurant en distance of the contraction

PUBLISHED EVERY SATERDAY AT TOWANDA, BRADFORD COUNTY, PA., BY E. O'MEARA GOODRICH.

TOW AND A: dan Morning, October 9, 1852.

selected Buefry.

From the Logaville Journal. ST J. R. BARRICK.

The m ld October month is come in all her point again; frace her in the varied tinta Of forest, field, and plain ; Of forest, acid, and plain; heat her sad and soleinn winds Sigh thro' the leafy trees.

I hear the dings of summer flowers Borne on the passing breeze.

Month of my heart! I ever love In thy domains to be;
I love thy blue and sunny skies— Threquer days to see; Non garly from the crowd I turn Mi course to wood and wild, breathe the life of autumn air. As when a staless child.

The woods are clothed in crimson hue the fields in auburn dye; I care out on the wife earth round. And in the boundless sky— My heart is filled with a sweet thought begate and of love, e peace seems brooding o'er each scene, ir and me and above.

The best i ut of earth must fade-They oldssom but to die, Miss man lorgotten lie-A esson we may learn, by its moral teach our hearts No more on earth to yearn.

Even ailing leaf but tells me of some 'adding hope of earth.

End dower that, wasting fading lies,

Pans backward to de brith;

To show, in spring's elysian clime,

I wed on balmy dew. At thew, thre' summer's sun and rain. The tender blossoms grew.

Andras I mark its transient course It is earth to earth again. If where summer days it lived, Hew died in autumn's reign-LOOK of Lie-us changing day. Of our hine and of gloom, Hew soon earth's proudest, noblest forms Some in the scient foinb.

An Artist's Stratagem.

or or with the intention of placing i true afterwards. The lady although for a me celeticie t for her beauty, had arrived at as sever almined-tony yeara when she dissimulated and was tal arrod owith all possible advantages, in a or at a compliments. The painter made es king likeness; but this was a great misthrong one was expected, and consereaded that she did not recognize, berself et designished artists in Paris his was a double injury. Anacked in his pride of m his finances, he had not philosophy "ertaste a poman worth three thousand france coll on his hands, and an idea of vengeance reselt to his mind which he put into

. 92, and the pormant was left on the pain-

Her days before the one fixed for the final reion of paratres for the Lonvie, the lafy was sea med hat her portrait was ornamented Sarracressories rather compromising her recommediately to the artist, and there was with some striking likeness certainly; be frinter had thinned the hair on the head of being are, and the factly so faithfully painted, held and two large tresses of false hair. On the ringer several flacous of small boules, labelled "Whitewash," " Vegetable Red," " Cos-"hefface Wunkles," " Blonde Water to dye

i. is accommable," said the lady, greatly excit

· 0! what do you complain  coldly replied the Rave you not declared that it is not your Perail You are right, it is a mere fancy sketch, " is with that view I shall present it to the pub-

"Il ha', sir, you intend to exhibit this painting ?" Certainy, madam; but as a tableu de genre, binerpromie, as the catalogue will indicate it " he we of a The Coquette of forty five has word the lady fainted, and on her recove-"The training paid for the portrait. The accesso-Sine ffined in her presence, the portrait retarramigram state and three thousand francs Me'ened to the purse of the painter.

Excuses, on going home the other night, was by a three work house which was cha-1 and prost up Centre street On chiming to. and reasoned with himselt; " Is that mind "a" (fuccup.) that's all." When we left, he was the Amserly of I farmer, who had lost one of his

THE CARNIVAL BALL BY LIKUTERANT MURRAY.

The camival of 1774 was grawing to a close, and a gay period of feelivity and axons it had proved. The young Count de Marmont was alting alone; luxoriously wrapped in his process dressing gown, and deintily sipping a cup of pure Moche coffee, then at the height of his popularity in Parris, when his valet entered, and presented him a deliciously performed note upon a hilver salver.

The count lazily examined the seal; the devices of which were quaint and pretty, but the parties moment recall. The superscription, was, in a fine, female hand, but that, too, was unknown. In considefation of these circumstances he opened the note with some degree of interest, and read as fol-

" My DEAR COUNT :- You will be without fail at the opera ball to-night; it is the last one of the Carnival and will be so gay. But it is not for that I bid you come. I must see you in relation to make ters of importance. You will know me by wearing a pink domino with a star on the shoulder. I shall know you in whatever disguise you may assume The heart is the best clairvoyant Astie."

Marmont tossed the note from him rather care easly and recommenced sipping his coffee, muttering, meanwhile to himself-". Who can this be ! But pshaw! why need I bother my head about the matter at all; am I not engaged to Tuliedde Fon- might.

matter at all; am I not engaged to Tuliedde Fon- might.

And ""Don't accept the invitation," said another voice But pshaw! why need I bother my head about the have I not promised her to cut those balls ? But this is the last one of the season, and faith I should like to go Now I should like to go above all things for the last time."

" Does monsieur think of going to the ball mas one to-night ?" asked the obsequious valet, fiece ompte, who had been watching his master's face with keen eyes, such a look as a terrier dog might regard a suspicious: hole in the floor. . 4 Ah! in will be magnificent! All the nobles will be there, and monsieur looks so well in the new blue and silver suit."

" Silence I" cried Marmont! The countenance of the valet fell. If he had lost his father or mother, he could not have looked more heart-stricken.

" Monsieur will be the death of me," he said "Well, then I am going?" each Marmont, rising; but you say nothing of my purpose to any one."

" Yes, monsieur " "Remember."

" I shall be dumb, monsieur"

The valet laid his hand upon his hart, as he thus romised most faithfully to obey his master's injunction, and Marmont went to the new riding school. with all the confidence in the integrity of hisser-

In the course of the morning, however, the vale met in the garden of the Palais Royale Mademon elle Adele, the plump and predy wa officiating as the winged Mercuries of their master and mistress, were frequently brought into contact man. You here ? are you a partner in this myswith each other, and to a preserve the dramatic unity" as Mr. Lecomp'e averred, they fell in fove. Of course when they met that day, the ball of the prejected my warring; I got up behind the carriege, evening was the topic of the moment, and as Lecomple's master had promised Adele's mistress that he would not go to another, masquerade ball it was of course very natural and proper that the faithful servant should inform the young lady that he was going, and that he was going in the blue and silver suit, and that, moreover, he had come to this decision immediately after receiving a note directed in a female hand.

> Having obtained this tittle morsel of gorsip Mdlle. Adele dailed away with it in a very bird like manner to communicate it to Mille. Julie de Fontange. When you ask a lady who told her such and such a thing, she will generally smile and answer that a little bird brought her the intelligence. Now pine times out of ten, this same lufe bird is a light built lass, with a roguish eye, a slender waist, and a loot like a fairy's.

> Some women in the position of Julie de Fontange, would have been thrown into a fit of jealous ra_e, at hearing such a piece of news as she had just received, but Julie was a good and sensible girl, and knew very well that Marmont loved her dearly, and so she said very gently to her maid:

" Very well. I shall be there myself !"

" You, Mademoiselle ?" "Yes, Adele, why not?"

" Certainly, if madam pleases."

The little waiting maid clapped her little hands together and almost danced for joy. "And what dress will madame wear?" she

"That is my secret," replied the mistress smil ing quietly. Miss Adele pouted, but asked no more questions for she knew her mistress was firm, and encouraged no familiarity. Gaily and brilliantly did the ball open that wight nu-ic. flowers, pertumet a tvast crowd, universal lularity, gave it a peculiar and intoxicating charme You hardly regrened that the ladies were marked! it was so interesting to guess, what their saces might be from the indications of hand, figure and loot, or the contour of the white and finely rounded clun.

appearing beneath the labe tringe of the wizard; 3 Marmout was there, seeking in the throng for he pink domino He found her at last but her (m) or is a lumins? (hiccop) It it's mud, figure was so disguised in the loose folds of ther ity toxicated. If n's brains, I'm slightly dress that its contour was undistinguishable, but it was tall and commanding, not withstanding, the feet that persuade a free-stone strong that it was until that peeped, forth in the high-heeled slippers were wenir. definitional to leave awning post out of doors after beautifully small, and the jeweled hand faid upon Marmont's arm carelessly and lightly, was taly, said another of the roffians.

white and aristocratic
"Here at last !" whispered the mask to him. es hands in the midst of haymaking, remarked to "You are no recream knight," a hispered, one of Section as he was filling up the poor fellow's the most musical voices he had ever listened to grate, "Its a sad thing to loose a good mower at "You have not made your Amie wait in wait for you. Now, tell me can you gness who I am Feat eater."

W You are the Baroness de Fanchere.!

a Wide of the mark, said the pink domino, laughing lightly to you are not."

Not and yet I can describe to you the decorations of the baroness's somight, to show you that I belong to her set." Il Jon please, " said Marmont.

And he listened to a minute and correct description from the pink domino of her ladyship's boudor. Then breceding off, se if she delighted to people and supprise him she recounted a thousand paciculars of plannon's life tabits, even his thought, until he was completely perplexed and bewildered. "The riddle of the Sphing was nothing to this You must take gity, and reveal to me the being, the good angel who takes such an interest in my affairs. ping a nectar fit for the gods. What say you?"

I feel that you must be beautiful; sien uside with "Agreed! agreed!" cried the man who appear me and lift your mask. I conjure you, do."

" Nay." " But I insist."

" Perhaps you will not like me as well." "I do not fear, come."

"Not here, not amid the yulgar growd," replied. the pink domino, "But go with me to my hotel, where there are some friends of mine who are de strong of the honor of making your acquaintance and I will reveal all? When you know it you will thank fortune for having brought you here 12-

He turned sinddenly bid saw beside him a roung crime.

lad, wearing his own blue and silver lively, but masked like himself. The page, so south as he was observed, shook is head, held up a warning finger and then disappeared in the brillian proved that surrounded there: But of course, Marmont paid no attention to the mpertinent interference of a strange strippling, and, vielding to the impulse of the curiosity, left the tall nom with his fair friend, and was soon after sented beside her in her carriage; . He was so fascinaldid not notice the direction the car age took, only that he course was very tapid. When the driver reined up and the footman threw open the door, the purk domino gave her hand to Marmoni, sprang lightly out of the carriage, and then hurried bird uto the house and up a dark staircase, and then nshered him into a room which was also in complete darkness.

4 Where can my lackeys be ?" she said pettish "They have taken advantage of my absence; but wait here for a moment, and I will quickly temedy this neglect."

Marmont was left in the darkness, but not entirely atone, as he thought, for a light hand touched his houller.

Mermont ! said a voice that thrilled to his ver

"Julief de Fontange !? exclaimed the young "Alas, no !? replied Julie. " Finding that you and followed your or his house. I fear you are betrayed If so, though unable to save you, I can at least die with you."

She could say no more. Lights appeared, and at their sides, preceded by the pink domino, whose ivery. " Who is this boy ?"

seated themselves, motioning Marmont with clum- site to that in which the wood is to be carried. ev courtesy to follow their example. They were evidently cut throats and tobbers. Marmont now culty has for many years been overcome by means bitterly repented having left his sword at home, for of slides, (called in Austria Riesen.) which are in he was a master of his weapon, and though against fact semi-circular troughs formed of six or eight fir such fearful odds, could at least hope to save his trees, placed side by side, and smoothed by simplife. He thought of Julie too, involved in the same mortal peril with himself, and his heart runk within him. But he kept up the appearance of perfect coolness, knowing that the slightest manifestation of " Long live the Carnival !" he exclaimed gaily and this seems one of the Arabian tughts' entertainments."

The ruffians had never heard of the Arabian nights but they thumged the table with their field, way for the logs. Let the traveler take heed in and touted out, so out? The their ample smpths passing these slides after snow by rain has fallen.

" Pray Monstan Plant one of the Poffians, "have you the time about you P

"It is past midnight," replied the count, consult ing an elegant gold watch set in brilliants. ".Egad, that's a pretty toy," exclaimed the ruffian. stretching out his hand, and graping the watch."

"You like it ?" said the count, hastily detaching it from the chain. " Pray accept it as a slight sou-"That's a splendid diamond ring of yours?"

" Do you think so ?" answered the count "Pray acceptit, tor my sake. I set little store by the banbles !! "What a precious gem it is !" muttered the third millian, between his yellow, lang-like leeth. Marmout hastened to present him with a heavy. If you wish to interest a woman, talk of wedding att Hing 45, Pearle the person who had just pokers fits well and any leishman's Mistake at his bridge " this is dry work. Let's have a dright all around: in honor of our mobile and bery liberar givest. 25 18 Wine was brought by one of the gang, and they Maimoitt fasted it and then set down the glass ar Excuse medicentlemen. Wio said. " of am god ing to be rule, I know; but I must say that your all filled their glasses of transacting sight beliff lia wine is external company many aver then to "What," exclaimed one of the ruffians, starting up, and half unabeathing his rapier, glad of the pretext for a quarrel ; "do you mean to insult us ?" "By no means," replied Marmont. it I do not dispute your laste-but your wine merchant is a cheat. Now I have got some good Burgundy of page to my hotel, in five minutes we shall be sip " Agreed ! agreed !" cried the man who appear ed to be the leader of the gang; " but the boy must be quick-for we are thirsty; and cannot wait;" he added with a sinister took at his companions.

"You hear, my boy," said Marmont, addressing Julie, and fixing his keen look upon her intelligen countenance. "Go as quick as you can, and bring me a dozen bottles of that wine p

Julie vanished. The brief space of her absence was an age of agony to Marmont. Had she under stood him ? Was her head clear, and her foot sure? Would no accident befall her f"Cold drops of perspiration stood upon his brow. "In the meantime the rofflans talked together in whispers : ir ing him, and then killing him, to conceal the Young, rich, fortunate, his career reemed destined to an abrippi and sangulary termination. He secretly cursed the carnivat, and the credulous tolly that took him to the ball. But these reflections come too late. Alas, his late seemed to be sealed. Saidenly the door opened, and Julie appeared. "Good God !" cried Marmont, "have you forgotten the wine ?" " It is here," she answered; and standing to one side from the doorway, a dozen gens d'armes with ed by the wit and gatety of her by his side, that her fixed bayonets, rushed into the room, and secured the roboers as well as their accomplice—the woman who had allured him thither by means of a deep laid plot, and after making for weeks his private life her study. Soon after this, the gang were tried and all sentenced to the galleys.

Hardly four months subsequent to this date, Marnont and Julie were happily married, and a life time of peaceful joys repaid the lovely wife for the foresight, courage and intelligence that had enabled her to frustrate the machinations of the pink domi no, and save the life of her befrothed.

Timber Siides in Austria.

The forests of Tyrol and Styria by their magnitures of those countries when compared with Switzerland. They cover the middle regions of the Alps, and encroach more 'npon the verge of the six pence." cultivated fields, which occupy the lower part of the valleys, in Switzerland. It might at first be ligence. supposed that these vast store houses of timber, from their extreme remoteness and difficulty of access, would hardly be of any value to man, and that trees would be allowed to flourish and rot, up, disturbed by the axe, on the spot where Nature with them three ruffiantly fellows, with long rapiers planted them. This is by no means the case; there mag of " bier," throwing down the coin and look. many remote districts of the Austrian Alps where ing as if he expected his change. John, who re ace, now that she was unmarked, exhibited fea- timber is the sole produce, where the people draw tures of great regularity—but which were stamped their subsistence entirely from the forest; and hu-muttered to himself: by the unmistakable sign of cunning and cruelty, man ingenuity has contrived means by which the "So you are not alone, I find," she said, glance stately stem of the Tyrolese larch, which has grown ing at Julie, who was dressed in blue and white to maturity close to the Glacies of the Orteler Spitz, is transported to the Amenal of Venice or the port, know not; it depended upon his thirst and he looked up most beceeding in the face of one of "My page, madame," replied Marmont, with of Triests: while that which has flourished near number of times he could exchange three coppers perfect coolness. "But pardon me. I do not rec- the fountain head of the Salza may be found in the for three cent pieces: but when the "boss" came ognize you even unmasked. Will you not give course of a lew months from the time when it has home at night, the number of small coin autonishme your name, that I may associate it in my mem- quitted its native torests serving as a mast to some ed him. ory with the pleasant mysteries of this evening?" vessel of war or merchandise on the Black Sen.-"You will learn that soon enough," replied the There can be no difficulty in the transport of timber woman, with a mocking smile. "You must ex- growing on the borders of a navigable river; but it cuse me now, while I retire; these gentlemen is a different thing when it grown at the distance of will keep you company in the mean time." as as many miles from any stream capable of floating a As the pink domino left the room, the three men log, or where the steams flow in a direction oppo-

Where the navigable stream is wanting the diffiping off the bark. These sometimes extend many miles. They are so constructed as to preserve a gradual descent-are not always straight, but are made to curve round the shoulders of the mountain distrust would be the signal for his instant assassi- being at times carried in tunnels through projecting rocks, and at others conducted over ravines and holtows on the tops of small stems, like the piers. There is nothing like it for intrigue and romance, of a bridge until they terminate on the borders of some stream capable of carrying the timber onward. The Aurir an Forests are everywhere traversed by these contrivances, which form in fact a rude rail-The wood cutter waits for such lavorable opportunities when the ground is slippery, and the rivers are high, to launch forth the timber which has been cut weeks before. The logs descend with the rapidity of an arrow, and, it would be certain destruction to encounter one in its course; so great in the force they acquire, that if by chance a log strikes against any impediment in the sides of the slide it is tossed out by the shock, and sither enapped in two like wax, or shivered to aplinters.

My dear Polly, I am surprised at your taste in wearing another woman a hair on your head," said Mr. Smith to his wife.

"My dear Billy, I am equally assonished that you persist in (wearing another theen's wool on your back. Billy bleated and took to his trollers parties or dry goods.

the first of the middle of the first section of the factor of the self-back of the self-bac

Goods service and tall the control of services and his Acontespendent of the Boston, Herald Itels Ahs every Danawast. In the election of our danimellal was traveling through New York, and fell in with with a writface : we war as we want has the Mark an Irishman, who had lately arrived in this country who was in quest of a brother who came to this country before him and rettled, in some of the diget gings at a recommendation of

Pat was a strong athletic man; a true Catholic, and had never seen the interior of a protestantchurch that when the series of the series

Ingalls in a good, pious man. He told Pat: he was going to church himself, and invited his companion to keep him company thinher, his place of destination being a Methodist church near by. One the first quality; if you will permit me to send my of the deacons offered brother Ingails a seat,

He accepted the invitation, and walked in followed by Pat, who looked in vain for the alatrate. After he was seated he tomed to ingails and in a whisper which could be heard all around he asked:

"Isn't this a heratio church ?". "Hush, hush," said brother lingalls, "if you speak a loud word they will put you out immediately." "Niver a word will I speak at all, et all," replied Pat.

pastor, whom Pat was eveing very closely, when suddenly an old gentleman, who was standing direcily in front of Pat, shouled siglory?

self a blackgoard.', The parson, grew more and more fervent in the. as that?" legotions, Presently the deacon unered as audi-

"His-s t ye blackguard, have ye no ducency at goes!" all," said Pat, at the same time punching him in the ribs. The minister stopped, and extending his hands upplicatingly, said : Brethern, we cannot be disturbed in this manner; will not some person put that man out?" "Yes sir, your riverence," shouled Pat, "1

C & A . . . C P . 7 5 7 7 So suiting the action to the word, he collared the with a tremendous kick landed him in the vesti- does pull, something busting, I'm sure."

Learning the Currency,

Of all the close dealers among us, the Dutchmen lives on the least, and shave closest. . I is astonishing how soon they learn our currency. A good thing occurred, however a few days since, with the keeper of a small "Lager Bier" saloon, in this neighborhood, who undertook to teach his assistant, a torck headed spraut of "Faderland," the differ-

"Lager Bier" gratis, for that day at least. Procuring a three cent piece, he watched the departure of membered his recent lesson, took up the piece, and handed over three coppers change. How often the aforesaid was drunk that day, we

' Vat ish dese, John; you take so many ?" "Six pence," replied John, with a peculiarly satisfied leer.

"Six-pence! Dunder and bietzen! You take all dese for six-pence ! Who from ?" "De man mit peard like Kossuth: he drink all day mit himself." "Der teulut! You gave him change every time ?" "Ya-h!" said John, with a vacant stare.

"Der teufel catch de jam Yankeas," was all the astonished Dutchmen could say.

scene of intensely exciting interest. nitt of seventeen-on her knees. Her cherry lips per. Small and steady mins give competency more interesting picture ?

List again. "Ah!" can she be unconscious of our presence?

lo ! it returns in triumph! She speaks! " Mary !-Mary ! Tre killed that old bug at last !" " Have you said your prayers, Jim !" "No ma'arm. It ain't my work; Bill says the l conies shorter. का अर्थ रह कुल्लाओं पूर्व । प्रति है Foonomical worth, that died of the obolera is totally unitive and area are with and "

First Trip on the Railroad.

and, free Speech, Free Ren Presidents ton Stree Tt. 1880 S.

We have often thought ease the narator, that te a person who saw a train of care in inction for the A. few months ago, brother lugalle of Swampscow first time, the night must be most miraculous and astonishing. As Jock Downing once said, "Twas so queer to see a hull for of wazzing chinck fall of people and things goin off at that, ere speed, and no hose to dra v 'em "

A zenius of the sort referred to, fately made his experimental trip. He was a greenhorn, a genuine back woodsman, who feared nothing in the shape of a man or beast, but anything that he could not understand puzzled him even more than it did. perhaps, the ordinary run of his fellows. Well, he came to Centersville, a short time suice, for the purpose of taking a railroad trip. He'd hern telf or 'em, but didn't believe, he said, half the nonsense tolks said on 'em. When the care arrived at the place; our fierd was there patiently waiting, and much excited and clated in anticipating his intended ride. As the cars approached, he stood gazing with wonder and awe, at the enjine, puffing and smoking. Following the example of the other, as soon as the care stoned he hurried aboard, with his saddle bags ou his arm, and seated himself near a window. Then looking around at the passengers, manifested much surprise, he put his head out of the window to see the "crutter start." While in this position, watch! ing with anxiety, the whistle sounded. Our hero, much suprised and evidently not a little alarmed, draw back his head with a motion that might be "His-set ye spalpeen, rejoined Pat, with his called a jeck, and turning to a gentleman sitting land whisper, " be decent, and don't make your- near hinr, said:

"Wal, stranger, did you ever hear such a snort

"The engine!" suggested the other.

"Wal, I don't know what its, but hollo how she "Guess you are not acquainted with railroad traveling. "Hang it, no ! hain't they run away ! Creation how it jerks! "It's all sate enough, you may rely, the cars are starting." ti That's all; well, stranger, I ain't afraid, you know, but kinder suprised like, that's all," said the mountain boy, half ashamed "I golly, stranger! deacon, to the utter astonishment of the congrega- did you hear that ere snort! it beat dad's jackase. tion, he dragged the deacon through the aisle, and and he's a roarer, and no mistake. Whew, how it

"O fudge, it's all right," said the other, seating himself for a nap. "I swow! I don't see how you can sleep, darn.

ed ef 1 do." "Nothing like geting used to it." said the other. You've heard of the eels that had been skinned so many times that they rather liked it, and used to come ashore every few days to get their hides taken off, haven't you."

"You're a gassin', stranger " The bell rang and the engine traved off, away "You see John, de piece mit de vomans ish de ro could recover from the shock which the "snort" five-pence, and de piece midout de vomans, ish de had produced, the care were moving slowly over Etowah Bridge. Discovering a change in its gait, "4 Yah!" said John, with a dall twinkle of intel- he popped his head out at the window agin, 7' to see how it moved," saw that he was some distance A wag of a loafer, who overheard the lecture, from the earth, and supposing the "critter" was immediately conceived the idea of a "saw" and flying, swooned, and fell from his seat entirely peechles. Several gentlemen sitting near, caught hold of the "boss," and going up to Joho, he called for a him, raised him up, shook him and rubbed him until he revived a little. A hearty laugh rang through the cars, as the cause of the scene was explained to the passengers, which had the effect of arousing him, for his breath began to come and go "Midout de vomans-lish von sixpence," he more regularly, and at last he opened his eyes, as large as saucers, and seeing several of the gentlemen who had just came to his assistance about him them, and said: "Stranger, has it Int!"

STEPHEN ALLEN'S POCKET PIECE -Among the victims of the Henry Clay disaster, was Stephen Allen, Esq., an aged man of the purest character, formerly a Mayor of New York, beloved and asteemed by all who knew him. In his pocket book was found a printed slip, apparantly out from a news paper of which the following is a copy:

"Keep good company or none. Never be idle If your hands can't be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind. Always speak the truth. Make few promises. Live up to your engagemen's Keep your own secrets, if you have any. When you speak to a person, look him in the face. Good company and good conversation BRAUTIFUL Scene -Night is upon the earth - are the very sinews of virtue. Good character is Darkness is in the valley and upon the hill top. But above all things else You character cannot be he moon rising and clearing away the clouds, dis- essentially injured except by your own acts. If pels the gloom. As she tolle upward, the stars any one speaks evil of you, let you life be so that gather round her: Come with me and look upon a none will believe him Drink no kind of intexicating liquors. Ever live (misfortune excepted.) Enter this chamber roftly-it is the sanotnary of within your income. When you retire to bed, processes—the abode of love and peace. Bend-think over what you have been doing during the ing beside a table, I behold a maiden-blooming day. Make no haste to be rich, if you would prosmove, her gradeful form is anxiously awaying to with tranquility of mind. Never play at any game and fro She is laboring under an excitement. of chance. Avoid temptation; through fear you The cool air gashes in upon her through the open may not withstand it. Earn money before you attice: She is strengthened.-Could we view a spend it. Never run into debt unless you see a way to get out again. Never borrow, if you can "Ah !! was that a word or a long drawn eigh ? possibly arold it. Do not mairy until you are at la to support a wife. Never speak evil of any one -Be just before you are generous. Keep yourself Her hand gropes upon the floor. Has she lost a innocent, if you would be happy. Save when you jewel ? Her dark eye in wild frenzy flashes The are young to special when you are old. Read over aweet smile has vanished from her features. But the above maxime at least once a week."

Take a wife, Tom, said Richard Brinsley Sheridan to his wild son Tom, "take a wife Tom, and: reform."

. " With all my heart," teplied Tom innocently whose wife shall I take !"

praverspand Title amens! We agree to do it 'cause ! PA, how many logs has a ship? " A ship has no legs, my child." "Why, pa, the paper sava The "report that " Powers' Greek Slave" had she draws twen'y feet, and that she runs before the