

Bradford Reporter.
Free Soil, Free Speech, Free Men
Practical for Free Territory.
E. O. GOODRICH, EDITOR.

Towanda, Saturday, December 13, 1852

Terms of the Reporter.
$3.00 per annum—paid within the year 50 cents will be deducted for each subsequent insertion. No paper sent over two years, unless paid for. Advance payment, per square of ten lines, 20 cents for the first and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. Office in the "Union Block," north side of the Public Square, between Adams and Elm streets. Distance between Adams and Elm streets.

Epigrams to Concord.

We announced, a short time since, that Bradford County had already had its ambassador in Concord. We find in the New York Herald of Sunday, a list of the arrivals at Concord N. H., from other States, since Nov. 13th, 1852. In this list, are the names of many distinguished men, and amongst others, we find registered at Gae's (how appropriate!) Ambricson House, as arriving on November 13, the name of "L. C. Head, Bradford, Pa." Who on earth is "L. C. Head"? No such individual readily in this county, that we are aware of. Perhaps, however, the person copying from the register of the hotel, has so changed the name, that the real owner will not know it, or perhaps it is an alias, as some people can never do in a straight-forward, upright manner, but imitate the ostrich, which buries its head in the sand, and foolishly imagines that its whole body is concealed. At any rate who is C. L. Head, or from C. Head, or whatever name he may answer to, from Bradford, who was in such unseemly haste to be heard at Concord?

Letter from Gen. Pierce.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the City and County of Philadelphia, held on Wednesday, J. M. Miller, Esq., Chairman of the Executive Committee, read the following letter from Gen. Pierce:

Concord, N. H., Nov. 29, 1852

Dear Sir:—Your note, with a copy of the resolutions of the Democratic Executive Committee of the City and County of Philadelphia, passed November 10th, came yesterday. I am grateful for the kindness manifested by my fellow-citizens in Pennsylvania and elsewhere, but so far as my personal wishes and inclinations are concerned, I would gratefully and gratefully go to Washington in the most quiet way possible. Indeed, I have never desired to maintain any public position connected with duties and responsibilities before me. Having said this much, I must leave what is fitting, proper and desirable to the taste and judgment of my friends. There is no probability that I shall be in Philadelphia before the first of February, and it is quite possible my journey may be delayed till after the close of the year. I have no objection to the Executive Committee of the City and County of Philadelphia, and through them to the Democracy represented by that organization, my grateful acknowledgments.

Your friend and obedient servant,

FRANK PIERCE.

John Miller, Esq., Philadelphia, Pa., Chairman of the Executive Committee of the City and County of Philadelphia.

A resolution was submitted by Mr. Ginzey G. Ginzey, Esq., and passed by the Committee, instructing the Chairman to appoint a committee of two persons from each Congressional District, and one person from the fractional part of the Fifth Congressional District, of the City and County of Philadelphia, to get in connection with political and other organizations, in the reception of Gen. Pierce, the President of the United States elect.

Latest from Europe.—The Niagara arrived at Towanda on Friday, with one week's later intelligence from Europe. We give the substance of her news.

Cotton has declined.

Breadstuffs are firm, with an upward tendency.

The English Parliament has declared against protection and in favor of free trade.

From France, there is nothing important. The Empire is progressing steadily. The vote in 93 departments was 7,200,000 yeas, to 270,000 nays.

It is reported that Napoleon will address one manifesto to France and another to Europe, both essentially pacific. He has already sent a message to the Legislature, stating that the Government will undergo a change of name only.

Blackwood's Magazine.—The last number of Blackwood's Magazine, containing the following Articles:—The Golden Age; A Poem; Katie Stewart; (conclusion); Fiction for French Friends; The Restrictive Tariff of Foreign Countries; My Novel, Part XXVI; The Privileges of the Flagellants; Queen Mary; A Moral from Waterloo; The Holidays.

The Presidential Vote.—Although the official returns from a number of the States have not been received, it is ascertained that Gen. Pierce will have a plurality over Scott, on the popular vote of about 207,000; and a majority over both Scott and Hale of some 60,000. His majority on both popular vote and electors is larger than that of any candidate since the existence of the present parties. The whole vote cast will be not much less than three millions.

Our friends who are in want of buckwheat flour, will find that a superior article is manufactured at Misses' Mill, in Monroe. We speak from experience for a sack which has been furnished us, having been duly tried, is pronounced "No. 1, in quality."

The Special Election in Massachusetts, on Monday, to fill vacancies in the Congressional Delegation, terminated in the choice of 6 Whigs, 1 Free Soiler, and 1 Democrat. Mr. Seaves, who was re-elected Mayor of Boston by a close vote.

Mr. C. C. Wadsworth, of Canton, Bradford County, Pa., has recently taken out a patent for an improvement in tools for harvesting.

Mr. S. S. Beizer, Esq., has sold the Lacksawanna Cattle, to his late partner, P. K. Baines, who has associated Mr. Gatzert, with him in said publication. We wish all parties success.

CALIFORNIA NEWS.—The Steamship Illinois arrived at New York from Aspinwall, on Sunday morning, bringing the mails and passengers brought down from San Francisco by the Golden Gate, and about $2,500,000 in Gold. The California States are to Nov. 16th. The results of the election were so far ascertained to show the Democrats would have a decided majority in the Legislature, and that the electoral vote of the State had been given to Gen. Pierce by four-fifths of the electors. But the burden of the news consists in the particulars of a terrible conflagration, which occurred at Sacramento City on the 2d of Nov., and swept the best part of the city from existence. The total loss is estimated at $10,000,000. One account says:—
"The fire broke out on J. Street and spread over Third, K. L., and M. Streets, leaving completely bare the whole space between J. Street on the south and J. Street north, and all between Front and Tenth streets, comprising not less than 40 blocks, and leaving one-tenth of the population of the City homeless."

A fire occurred at San Francisco on the 10th Nov., which destroyed a lot estimated at $150,000. A sweeping fire had also taken place at Mar. ville, by which the loss was some $50,000.

A MAMMOTH PICTURE SHEET.—The appearance of the Pictorial Brother Jonathan reminds us that the Christmas Holidays are at hand. This year's JONATHAN is really an elegant number. It is beautifully printed on fine, hot pressed paper, and must give the best possible satisfaction to everybody. The large series of engravings of the "Adventures of a Christmas Turkey," and those of "The Christmas Pudding," are truly fine and spirited specimens of the art of making pictures on wood. The Jonathan is published by B. I. Day, 48 Beekman Street, New York, at 12 cents per copy, or ten for one dollar.

Our neighbor sheet, the Argus, made its appearance last week, in an entire new dress, and looking all the better and brighter for its purification by fire. We trust that the Wings of the County will see that the loss sustained by the destruction of Mr. Parsons' materials will be abundantly made good, by an increased interest in patronizing the paper.

TOWANDA, Dec. 9, 1852

Mr. Goodrich, Dear Sir:—A communication appeared in your paper suggesting the propriety of a "Young Men's Library and Reading Room." It has often occurred to me that such a measure was very much needed in our community, and I feel persuaded that if it is taken, out of an energetically pushed through it would meet with the cordial approbation and support of all our citizens. The annual expense attending its management and support would be trifling and could easily be provided for by an annual fee of five dollars from the members. And I have no doubt that many of our public spirited and successful citizens would lend a liberal helping hand at its commencement and continue their subscriptions until it had fairly worked its way into popular favor. I have no hesitation in promising to a subscription list for this purpose, if it is taken hold of by some of our active and enterprising young men, four annual subscriptions of twenty-five dollars each for five years, and if you, or any of your young friends, will take the necessary steps in the matter you may call upon me for the fulfillment of this promise as soon as you see proper. It was in this way that the Apprentices Library of Philadelphia, took its rise, and it numbered among its active first founders the most prominent merchants of that city, and the great advantages which has resulted from it, are far beyond computation. How more than twenty will take hold of it and enroll themselves as members, with a fixed resolution to carry it out, success will most assuredly crown their attempt; but I do not doubt that it could start with less fifty, and in one year increase the members to one hundred. If so, it would not be but five years before they would have a library of the very choicest kind, and the effect which it will have upon the minds of its members in that time, would surprise no one more than themselves.

So I say stir up some of your "companions" to this good work and let us have a convenient and comfortable room where our citizens can call in and read the commercial and political papers, pamphlets and magazines, from all parts of the country, and can carry to their homes a choice volume to read in their leisure moments there.

Yours sincerely,

FRANK PIERCE.

Late and Important from Mexico.

New Orleans, Dec. 10.—The Evening Delta publishes Mexican news to the 20th ult., which is ten days later than previous advices.

The Revolutionary movements are extending throughout the country. No battle has yet occurred between General Uruga and Gen. Valdez, the leader of the Federal troops, but the latter is surrounded in his fortified camp, and has been summoned to surrender by Uruga. The situation of Gen. Valdez is very critical, there being but little possibility of his receiving aid from the capital, and without reinforcements he will soon be forced to surrender.

The people of Guadalupe received General Uruga with the greatest enthusiasm, and the crowds flocking to his standard has increased his force to nearly four thousand.

General Mesa and Kobollo, have also pronounced in favor of the plan of Guadalupe, with 1100 men. The States of Tamaulipas and Guanajuato have also taken the same side.

The Mexican Congress has been in session about a month. The committee in relation to the Tehuantepec propositions, have reported a bill granting the contract to Senor Belandier.

The defeat of General Blanco, by the French Count Russett Boulton, has been confirmed, with the addition that the conqueror has proclaimed Sonora independent, and annexed to France.

Judge Conkling arrived at the City of Mexico, on the 14th ult., but had not presented his credentials at the latest dates.

The Gardner Investigating Committee, had left the Capitol for the mines.

Among the acts of Congress, has been the passage of an appropriation of $500,000 for the current expenses, and the resolution to impeach one of the former ministers for treason.

STATE EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.—We observe in the "Pennsylvania School Journal," a call for a State Educational Convention, for improving our common schools. It has been decided, since the notice in the Journal was published, to hold the Convention at Harrisburg, on Tuesday, the 28th of the month next. The notice is short, yet we trust it will meet with a general and hearty response from all parts of the state. Delegates have already been appointed from the principal cities and towns, and we hope every county will be represented, and that such an impetus will be given to the cause of education as will be felt in all parts of the Commonwealth, and especially at the place where the Convention is to be held. Harrisburg is in some measure the seat of our State, and an influence sent out thence will be felt throughout the Keystone in every county town and school district.

Proceedings of the XXXIId Congress.

SECOND SESSION.

DEBATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.

The Senate met at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Hale introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question.

Several important messages were also received from the Executive Department.

On motion of Mr. Hamlin, the Committee on Enrolled Bills was ordered to act temporarily until the next committee shall be appointed.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question, which laid over, under the rule, receding the resolution heretofore adopted of motion of Mr. Clay, providing the successful candidate shall not be paid by the Senate in the memory of a Member of Congress who dies away from the seat of government during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Hale then introduced the resolution on the subject of the Mexican question,