The Result of the Late Election.

The official table which we published last week, gave the true result of the late election in this County. We have never known a canvass which manifested so little enthusiasm and was so devoid of all acrimony and bitterness as this. The poll shows that some 2500 voters have stayed at home, or else not voted.

Under this head the Washington Union, and other papers in New York and the South, keep up a constant fire into Spain, France and England, giving it as their firm conviction that there is a secret treaty between those powers for the gradual emancipation of the negroes in the Island of Cuba...

The Administration of Justice.

Under this head the Washington Union, and other papers in New York and the South, keep up a constant fire into Spain, France and England...

Mr. Editor—Your last week's paper contains a communication signed "E.M.," upon which, with your permission, I will make a passing remark. That the late Fair was regarded as an experiment, with many doubts hanging over it is certainly evident to a very considerable extent. But this, perhaps, was no more than we had reason to expect. Many too, doubtless from this cause, were deterred from competing for premiums...

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

By referring to the published list of premiums and instructions to competitors, the writer will find that competitors were required to do precisely what he suggests, to wit: "Competitors for premiums must produce a full statement of the mode of cultivation, with a certificate also of two respectable neighbors as to the product and measurement of the ground, also exhibit a sample of the crops at the Fair. My opinion is, that the more full report of the committee will show that this requirement was obeyed by the competitors to the satisfaction of the Judges."

A marriage took place in this city last week under the following romantic circumstances. A young clergyman of Episcopal Church, resident in Canada, was engaged to a lady in England. THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.

By Capt. Taylor, who has become connected with the Japan expedition, gives an account of a visit made to the Loo Choo Island, which is tributary to the Japanese Prince of Satsuma. Probably not more than a dozen vessels had ever been there before, and the arrival of two great steamers, with the Saratoga and Supply, created, as may be supposed, an immense sensation. Four of the expedition traversed one half of the island, attended by Government spies, whose espionage was impossible to escape.

OUTRAGE AT BEDFORD, OHIO.

At Bedford, Ohio, on Saturday last, a man named Barnes, who had recently married a young lady in the neighborhood, while at home with his wife was waited upon by a former visitor of hers by the name of Osborn, who seated himself between the newly married couple, and demanded one hundred dollars damages. This being refused, he drew a dirk and made a pass at the lady, which was arrested by her husband. He then attacked the husband, and inflicted five wounds, with the dirk, one in the back which is likely to lead to his death, though he still survives. He would have killed him on the spot had not the father of Barnes come in time to arrest his murderous purpose.
