The great superiority of the block style of mounting plates is at once apparant to those who have for any length of time worn artificial tooth. To those who have yet to be initiated, it is only necessary to say, that in the old method of mounting the plate with a succession of single teeth, it was no unusual thing for a tooth to drop off; by the new method no such accident can take place, the teeth being all connected by each other. In the second place, the plate with block teeth is always clean and sweet, being claims will please present them in proper thape for settlement, and all negating indebted are notified. plate with stock term is no chance for deposits of food being that a settlement will be expected at that time withthus effectually precluding even the saliva from making a lodgment, and in the third place, thu adaptation of the grinding surface is better fitted for making a long surface is better fitted for making surface made, however small, the upper rim being capped, ticatory purposes, the irregularities, being made exactly to correspond with those of the teeth of the op-
