Canada Thistle.

The common thistle, as is well known, has an annual root and is propagated entirely from seed. Hence, it is easily got rid of by any means tending to prevent its going to seed.— The Canada Thistle is also an annual so far as the plant is concerned, but its root is perennial and jointed, each joint, like that of the elder, producing a distinct plant. Hence when the ground containing Canada Thistle is ploughed and harrowed, the roots are more widely dispersed, and the plants greatly multiplied.— This pest is extensively spread in the Northern part of the State of New York, from whence it has been introduced into Pennsylvania, and several other of the Middle States. Sometimes the seeds have been mixed with those of timothy and other grasses, and sometimes they have been transported, attached to the wool of sheep driven from the North. Whenever the weeds gets hold of the soil, its creeping roots so tenacious of life, make it one of the worst pests known to the farmer.

A great many devices have been resorted to for the eradication and destruction of the Canada Thistle. Some aim at the entire removal of the root by extirpating machines contrived to cut off and harrow up the roots. Others rely upon mowing down the thistles when they are in full bloom, as a most certain method .--After cutting down, some common salt applied to the stems or crowns of the roots, makes the destruction much more sure. It is an admitted fact, that the life of trees and plants, when these are not in the torpid state in which they are enabled to exist in winter, depends upon a function performed by their leaves or twigs, deprived of the use of which for a given time, during the season of their growth, trees and plants inevitably die. Low and frequent eutting down in summer about the blooming period will doubtless destroy plants however tenacious of life they may be, since the roots are as much indebted for life to their leaves or twigs, as the leaves are to the roots. Neither can subsist long, without the aid of the other important members of the system. Much interesting and practical information relative to the various expedients resorted to in Europe for the eradication of thistle, couch-grass and other weeds with creeping and tenacious roots, will be found mentioned in the Farmer's Encyclopædia under the heads of Thistles. &c. Orchards, Apples. and the Market.

"David, I am going to quit the nursery business. In twenty-one years fruit will be a drug in New York city. Why, everybody is setting out orchards. Just look around this neighborhood! There is deacon Jones has just set out 500 trees; Tom Smith 400, and his brother Jim will have 1000 next spring, and so on at that rate all over the country-grafted fruit, too, none of it for cider. Now what do you suppose is to become of all these apples? I tell you what it is, David we must wind up the nursery business or we shall break flat .-Every body is going crazy about fruit. Every body will grow it, but no body buy it, a few

This prognostication was made more than twenty years ago by a sensible man engaged in propagating choice fruits for sale in Central New York, and no doubt the speaker honestly believed the days of the nursery man were well nigh numered. Brother David, however, was appear. of a different opinion. He did not believe it was so easy to overstock the market with such fruit as no other than American soil and could be so unsaleable and the business so unplant more or better, or newer varieties of trees; consequently he urged that the business should be perseveringly continued until the dawning of the evil day was more visible in the horizon.

What has been the result? A sale of 40,000 apple trees and 7,000 of other fruits during the had planted 500, have increased 1000, and before for all the choice varieties of the pro-(we have done counting distance by miles,) of may add molasses or honey. the fruit bearing hills of New England. Nay, not only New England and New York, but the ever bearing trees of the rich plains of that possess the taste they now do for choice, delicious fruits.

Our advice, therefore, is, as it has always been, to every man who owns an acre of landplant trees. Don't be afraid of overstocking the market with any kind of fruit, except such proved tastes of the world demand, and will farmer than the complaints of hungry stock .have, if it is procurable, the best that can be Rural New Yorker. grown .- Oswego Journal.

Practical Hints about Poultry.

Whether the large sized varieties of fowls which "are all the rage" now amongst fancy breeders and dealers, are really preferable to the old-fashioned barn-yard fowls, is a subject of which there are two opinions among those enormous prices which they occasionally command, they weigh heavily in the market scales, or fill a large platter on the dinner table. But on the other hand, they are great gormandizers surface, while the frosts of spring have left it themselves, and are generally considered diffi- comparatively open, and when the ground beoften as once in two years, if not annually; and pains should be taken, in replacing them, to procure strong, healthy and perfect birds; the hen will lay better, and hatch more chickens. Only a small number of hens should be to lay, and have determined to kill them off.-They have commenced reducing the number, which was perhaps forty or fifty, and when they got down to half a dozen, were surprised to find every one of the hens laying, and the supplies of eggs for the family better than the whole number furnished. As to profit, we doubt whether, if all their food be bought, the eggs and chickens produced by any breed, and sold at the regular market prices, for the table, will pay the expenses of keeping, but it by no means follows from this, that hens are not a source of profit on a farm. They eat much of what would otherwise be entirely lost and wasted; and a small patch of buckwheat, sown at a trifling cost, and left on the ground where they can stroll over it and feed at their pleasure, will keep them as fat as butter. The main point is, the great value of the manure of poultry. The hen-roost is the place where most farmers should go for their guano. If obtained there, it will invariably prove of good quality. There need be no fear for those who get their guano from this source, that it will turn out to be spurious or inferior. We doubt whether even intelligent farmers would estimate at more than one-hundredth part of its amount the quantity of excellent manure, which can be made in this way in the course of a year. The hen-roost, duck-roost and turkey-roost should be supplied with several loads of peat, swamp muck, or both, spread evenly over the surface of the floor, and on this there should be scattered a thin layer of sand or gravel. On rainy days, when the work can be done as well as not-and as often as practicable-this should be all shoveled over, and the manure thus mixed with the other ingredients. The compost soon becomes strong, when it can be removed, and fresh supply of suitable material thrown in. The ouse is kept sweet, clean and healthy for the fowls; and if any farmer will adopt this plan, and practice it faithfully for five years, and keep an accurate account of the crops raised directly from the compost made with the poultry manure, and from the manure made by feeding those crops out in their turn, he will be amazed at the amount of each which he will have realized, and at the permanent improvement of his farm.-Londonderry Standard.

To CLEAN RINGS, BROOCHES, AND OTHER JEWELRY .- Put a little hartshorn into a saucer dip into a clean, soft rag, from an old cambrid handkerchief. With the rag, go carefully over the jewelry, on both sides. Then dry and polish, with another bit of soft rag; and finally, with a soft piece of old silk. Precious stones, mosaics and cameos may be cleaned in this manner. To brighten pearls, tear off a small bit of pin-paper, (such as rows of pins are stuck in,) roll it up, and, with the end of the roll rub each pearl, separately; renewing the paper frequently.

To Remove Acids, and other Stains from SILKS, GLOVES, AND WOOLENS .- The application of hartshorn, rubbed on with the finger, will generally remove the stain-spots that are sometimes found on new silk, and on new kid gloves. There are few stains, indeed, that may not be obliterated by hartshorn. If too strong, dilute it with a little water. Pour out, into your saucer, but very little hartshorn, at a time, as it evaporates almost immediately,

A ND CHERRY PECTORAL.—The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. Ayen's Catharic Pills have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or les good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm. harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with billions complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with exery every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with linaments and salves; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for olas! there cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walkes alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise, or mental anguish, or some lurking disease has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation, or secretion, till they do they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where sorrow sat, joy bursts from every feathre. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they areating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restle and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sideache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred comploints all arise from the derangements which these Pills rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized me, Ayea's Cherry Pectoral has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled Consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong whisper to all but him Consumption. He tries everything; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his fame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now: it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Cherry Pectoral an imperishable renown. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the Cherry Pectoral if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an idvaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

It is not to be wondered at then, that 10 and even 20 bottles of these Sarsaparillas are sometimes taken without any perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Wine.—By the invention of a wonderful chemical apparatus, a perfect wine is produced without beating; retaining, at the same time, all the primitive healing properties of the rare medicinal plants of which it is composed, thus rendering the Forest Wine the most efficient medicine the world ever produced, at the same time time the most agreeable.

A bottle of your Forest Wine and box of Pills, which I procured of James Carr, (your agent for this place.) has done wonders for me. I had been in a state of decline for more than a; year, afflicted with a dreadful cough, pain in the breast, general debility, and loss of appetite. I became almost a skeleton, and had been unable to leave my room for more than two months; my friends told me I had the Consumption and despaired of my recovery. I could not obtain any permanent relief from any medicine. I had taken, or my physician, until your Wine and Pills were procured. The first dose of the Pills brought up from my stemach, much pulled and greenish matter, and my were procured. The first dose of the Pills brought up from my stomach, much phlem and greenish matter, and my stools were perfectly black. I then commenced taking your Forest Wine three times a day, my appetite began to return immediately, my cough left me, and in less than two weeks I was almost well. I now enjoy better health than I ever did before, having increased twenty-five pounds in seven weeks.
