DAVIS' PLATFORM BEE-HIVE. THE subscriber having been appointed Agent for the counties of Bradford, Sullivan and Lycoming, has the pleasure of calling the attention of the public to this useful invention. The Hive is truly a great improvement on the old square box; and the facilities it affords for taking out the honey are as harmless to the bees, as they are profitable to the owner. No resent to drawns and pans is needed ble to the owner. No resort to drums and pans is needed ble to the owner. No resort to drums and pans is needed to hive the increase in the spring, and no resort to brimstone, fire and fagot is required to conquer the bees and proure their honey in the fall. As the bees multiply, new sections are added to the hive; and when the honey is wanted, they are removed accordingly. The arrangements for feeding the bees, for changing them to different parts of the old hive, or to a new one, for ventilation, are unquestionably ahead of anything hitherto known.

A description of this Hive is impossible, without reference to a model, but an examination will satisfy any one of its advantages. For sale, Town and Individual Rights, with books, bill of feed, &c., giving fall directions for making the Hive, and managing the Bees.

C. H. DANA'S HAND CORN PLAN.

TER, patented September 5, 1854, costs ONLY
THREE DOLLARS, and is therefore within the means of every man who plants helf an acre of ground. It is simple in its construction, and executes its work with accuracy and despatch on various kinds of soil.

Unlike other planters, it has no gearing to get out of repair, but is carried in the hand like a cane, and can be worked up hill or down; as well as on level ground, planting as much ground in a day as five men can with hoeser it may also be used to plant beans, as it can be gaaged to drop as few or as many kernels as desired. It is meeting with unprecedented success everywhere it is introduced, having been presented at several Agricultural fairs, and always without exception received the highest premium, being the best and cheapest implement of the kind in use.
