Resolved, That there ought to be in each township, a School Officer, whose duty it shall be to inspect Teachers and visit the Schools in his respective township, either in connection with the County Superintendent, or alone.

Resolved, That the study of Written Arithmetic should not be commenced by the child until he is of sufficient age to fully appreciate and perfectly understand the principles of the science, and it should always be preceded by a thorough drilling in Intellectual Arithmetic.

Resolved, That every Teacher should be a subscriber for, and a constant reader of, some Educational Periodical; and also it is his duty to attend, if practicable, educational meetings, and in all other ways seek his own improvement in the subjects to be taught, as well as the best and most approved methods of teaching.

Resolved, That we respectfully and most earnestly solicit the hearty co-operation of all the School Directors of the County in carrying forward the great work of educating the rising generation.

Resolved, That Teachers should be sufficiently acquainted with Physiology, and the laws of health to be able to guard with care the health of those committed to their charge.

Resolved, That it is the imperative duty of every teacher to sustain good order in school, and adopt such means as shall secure that important end, even if it become necessary to resort to corporcal punishment.

Mr. Coll proposed the following amendment:—

That order is essential to the success of a School. In maintaining this corporcal punishment, should be a last resort, but yet its infliction may be the imperative duty of the teacher.

THE subscriber having been appointed Agent for the counties of Bradford, Sullivan and Lycoming, has the pleasure of calling the attention of the public to this useful invention. The Hive is truly a great improvement on the old square box; and the facilities it affords for taking out the honey are as harmless to the bees, as they are profitable to the owner. No resort to drums and pans is needed to hive the increase in the spring, and no resort to brimstone, fire and fagot is required to conquer the bees and procure their honey in the fall. As the bees multiply, new sections are added to the hive; and when the honey is wanted, they are removed accordingly. The arrangements for feeding the bees, for changing then to different parts of the old hive, or to a new one, for ventilation, are unquestionably ahead of anything hitherto known.

A description of this Hive is impossible, without reference to a model, but an examination will satisfy any one of its advantages. For sale, Town and Individual Rights, with books, bill of feed, &c., giving full directions for making the Hive, and managing the Bees.

They expect to remain about three weeks. By the aid of this invention, every Blacksmith can dispense with the additional hand required to forge iron, and will consequently effect a great saving of labor to all who become possessed of it. This is considered one of the greatest and most useful inventions of the age, and the manner in which it forges iron of every description has greatly surprised the numerous sons of Vulcan who have seen it operation.
