profit and satisfaction are much increased. In the beginning of your labors, you must of necessity procure the seeds from some enter-prising neighbor, or regular seedsman. In the latter case, go to a well known and responsible person,-if possible, one of your acquaintances. It is generally understood, that of the seeds annually exposed for sale, a very large part are worthless, having lost their vitality, or being of inferior varieties. The vexation of preparing land and realizing nothing, is equalled by waiting patiently for several months to obtain nothing but a small, tough, stringy product.—
It is not a fine sounding name which makes a

But, with all your care, you may get deceived. Perhaps the seed will not vegetate, or it proves different from what it was represented. Even then you must not hastily impute blame to the seedsman. It cannot be expected that he should raise all that he sells, and he may have been deceived as well as yourself In the absence of proof, or very strong grounds of suspicion, it certainly would be wrong to believe him guilty of fraud. You must not jump at a conclusion. Because the seed did not vegetate, is no evidence that it would not have done so if placed in favorable circumstances. That plants do not appear above ground, may have been caused by your own gnorance; perhaps the seed was buried so low that its tender stem could not reach the surface, or else covered so slightly that the germ, as soon as it manifested itself, was killed by the heat. Defect of germination may have been the result of natural causes, such as excessive heat or cold, or the extreme dampness of the ground. For these reasons, you should be positively certain, before you dare level a blow at a man's reputation.

To discover whether seeds possess the power of vegetation, is quite as important for your own benefit, as to test the seedsman's honesty. Sowing dead seed will occasion the loss of much time and patience. You should, therefore, take a little of that which you consider doubtful, and steep it in warm water for several hours, when, if it show unmistakable signs of sprouting, you may sow as soon as you please. The only way to discover whether you have been cheated in the quality of the plant, is to wait patiently until the crop comes to maturity.

Peach Worm.

In many of the papers, at this season, may be found remedies for the peach worm. They may be called standard remedies, because they appear periodically year after year. There is no harm in trying them, but the only remedy we believe in, and have found effectual as well as simple, is to examine each tree, spring and fall, with a knife tapering to a sharp point, hunt up the intruder, and destroy him. If he is about at all there is no difficulty in calling him immediately under the surface of the ground, his presence being indicated by the

Just below the surface, the bark is tender which makes it the point of attack. In the hard bark above the ground he cannot make an entrance, and to guard against him below. we have pursued the plan each fall, exposing the trunk by drawing away the earth around it down to where the larger roots begin to branch out, and leaving it exposed all winter. The bark thus becomes hard and impregnable.

In the spring it should be filled up again a little above the level, a peck of leached ashes being applied also around each tree, according to the size. This application promotes the thrift and growth of the peach.

By attending to these recommendations, in stead of seeing a short lived tree, having two or three crops and then dying off, as is the case with many orchards, we believe it can be made to live and be made productive and profitable from ten to fifteen years at least, and perhaps longer.

We know of neach trees in this vicinity, an parently perfectly healthy and bearing well, twenty-five years old. To those who consider this plan too troublesome, we only say do with out peaches and make no complaints. Fruit of the best quality cannot be grown without care and trouble, and if it could, would not be valued so much as it is. The yellows, in the peach, is far more difficult to manage, and indeed no remedy has yet been found. Whenever it makes its appearance, the tree should be exterminated root and branch.

THE WHEAT FLY .- It is asserted by those who have tried it, that one bushel of unslacked lime ground to fine powder, like gypsum, to the acre, sowed in the spring just after the frost has disappeared, will effectually prevent the ravages of the fly. The experiment is worth trying. I have not tried it.

WATERY POTATOES .- If your potatoes are watery put into the pot in which they are to be boiled a small lump of lime; this will render them perfectly dry and mealy. This is an easy and effectual way of obviating a very common evil. The lime should be fresh. For a common sized family-say of six persons-the piece of lime should not exceed the size of an English walnut.

A FACT FOR FARMERS .- Dr. R. I. Baldwin has recently made public the rsult of several years' investigation and experiments upon manures, and various ways fertilizing the soil. He states that the best and speediest way to fertilize any soil, is to cover it over with straw. bushes, or any raw materials, so as to completely shade it. The surface of the earth thus being made very cold, dark, damp and close, soon undergoes a chemical process like putrifaction, and becomes highly fertilized. plan of fertilizing, he says, may be applied with success with any soil, whatever, no matter how poor, and the result will be astonishing.

"It is well to leave something for those who come after us," as the gentleman said who threw a barrel in the way of a constable who was chasing him.

AYER'S PILLS. A ND CHERRY PECTORAL.—The fol A ND CHERRY PECTORAL.—The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. Ayer's Cathartic Pills have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or les good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce last little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

It is antagonistic to disease, and in more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with billious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or ies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with exery every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with linaments and salves; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for clas! there cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walkes alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise, or mental anguish, or some lurking disease has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation, or secretion, till they do they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now torn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not be heaved which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses to sw the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized me, Ayen's Cherry Pectoral has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled Consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the classy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong whisper to all but him Consciuntion. He tries everything; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his fame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now: it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy: his sleep is sound at night: his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Cherry Pectoral in imperishable renown. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the Cherry Pectoral if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an idvaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

The method by which all Sarssaparillas, and other similar medicines are prepared, is by boiling the Roots of plants to obtain the extracts. Their medicinal virtues are thus principally evaporated and destroyed.

It is not to be wondered at then, that 10 and even 20 bottles of these Sarsaparillas are sometimes taken without my perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Winc.—
By the invention of a wonderful chemical apparatus, a perany perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Wine.—
By the invention of a wonderful chemical apparatus, a perfect wine is produced without beating; retaining, at the same time, all the primitive healing properties of the rare medicinal plants of which it is composed, thus rendering the Forest Wine the most efficient medicine the world ever produced, at the same time time the most agreeable.

DREADFUL COUGH, DEBILITY, AND LOSS OF APPETITE.

DR. HALSEY: Hempstead, Dec. 1, 1847.

A bottle of your Forest Wine and box of Pills, which I procured of James Carr., (your agent for this place,) has now wonders for me. I had been in a state of decline for more than a year, afflicted with a dreadful cough, pain in the breast, general debility, and loss of appetite. I bein the breast, general debility, and loss of appetite. I became almost a skeleton, and had been unable to leave my room for more than two months; my friends told me I had the Consumption and despaired of my recovery. I could not obtain any permanent relief from any medicine I had taken, or my physician, until your Wine and Pills were procured. The first dose of the Pills brought up from my stomach, much phlem and greenish matter, and my stools were perfectly black. I then commenced taking your Forest Wine three times a day, my appetite began to return immediately, my cough left me, and in less than two weeks I was almost well. I now enjoy better health than I ever did before, having increased twenty-five pounds in seven weeks. Your Forest Wine and Pills are highly valued in this vicinity, and I owe my recovery entirely to their virtues.

AFFECTIONS OF THE KIDNEYS.

Mr. T. J. Gillies, a highly respectable Merchant of No. 308 Broadway, New York, cured of a severe affection of the Kidneys by the Forest Wine and Pills.

Dr. G. W. HALSEY: New-York, March 12, 1853.

Dear Sir—In the summer and fall of last year I had a severe complaint of the Kidneys, which rendered me quite unfit for business. I procured your Forest Wine and Pills which cured me in a few weeks time, and I have since enjoyed better health than I had for many years previously. From their efficacy in my own case, and from what I know your medicines to have done for others, I am induced to recommend them as the best medicines with which I am acquainted.

DYSPEPSIA.

There are thousands cured every year of this disease by the Forest Wine and Pills; Dyspepsia, Costiveness and Indigestion, are kindred complaints, frequently existing together, and the cure of one is generally the cure of all. The Forest Wine and Pills above all remedies are pre-eminent in the cure of Dyspepsia.
