Let us look now at the thrifty farmer. He has good sheds to keep his cattle from the weather, and warm, ventilated stables for his cows and young stock; and also, a shed to protect his manure heap.

He has leaves or other refuse vegetable matter together with soil from his headlands, convenient to his barn-yard, to compost with his manure heap through the winter.

He does not allow the liquid manure to escape into the nearest stream, a quarter or half a mile from his barn-vard.

His barn, and sheds, and dwellings are all supplied with good spouting. His fences are always in good order, and materials for repairing or renewal are collected and made during the winter. His wood-shed is supplied with wood cut in August, always one year ahead. His wife never scolds, because she never has occasion to. Her cellar and pantry are always supplied with the needful raw material, which she works up into a palatable form to fill up vacuums at meal time. Heavy bread, cold buckwheat cakes, and rancid butter are novelties which her good man and the children have heard tell by some of the neighbors; but have never seen. He considers it a duty to promote the circu-

THE USE OF LEAVES .- The office and utility of leaves are becoming better understood by cultivators than formerly; yet we find a good many still adhering to the old belief that the suns's rays, directly shining on forming fruit, are what perfect it, independently of other influences

On this subject theory and practice have been invariably found in perfect accordance with each other. The principles of physiology teach us that the sap of a tree, when it passes in at the roots, remains nearly unchanged in its upward progress through stem and branches, until it reaches the leaves, where, being spread out in those thin organs, to light and air, it undergoes a complete change, and thus becomes suited to the formation of a new wood Strip a rapidly growing tree of its leaves at mid-summer, and from that moment the supply of new wood ceases, and it will grow no more till new leaves are formed; and if it have young fruit, the growth and maturity of the latter will cease in the same way. A few days since, a Yellow Gage Plum tree lost all its foliage from leaf-blight, when the plums were not fully grown, and while yet destitute of flavor. The fruit remained stationary and unaltered, until within a few weeks, a second crop of leaves came out. They then swelled to full size, received their crimson dots, and assumed their honeyed sweetness of flavor.

The object of prunning should be, therefore, to allow the leaves to grow to full size without being injured from crowding.

We find the following corroborative fact in a late number of the New England Farmer : We once knew an intelligent lady, and one who understood much about horticulture, strip her grape vines of a portion of their leaves, in order to let in the sun and ripen the fruit; but to her surprise, where the leaves remained as Nature had disposed, them, the grapes were the earliest, and every way the best. her to investigate the matter, when she was delighted to learn that the leaves were not only the protectors but caterers of the fruit, constantly elaborating and supplying it with the pabulum it required to bring it to perfection .- Country Gentleman.

AYER'S PILLS. A ND CHERRY PECTORAL.—The fol-AND CHERRY PECTORAL.—The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. Aven's Cathartic Pills have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or les good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with billious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or ies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with exery every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with linaments and salves; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for olas! there cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walkes alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago caten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise, or mental anguish, or some lurking disease has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation, or secretion, till they do they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where sorrow sat, joy bursts from every feature. Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized me, AYEE's CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of appearably settled Consumption have been cured by it. disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled Consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong whisper to all but him Construction. He tries everything; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his fame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now; it has stopped his cough and mado his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Cherry Pectoral if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an idvaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

DAVIS' PLATFORM BEE-HIVE. THE subscriber having been appointed Agent for the counties of Bradford, Sullivan and Lycoming, has the pleasure of calling the attention of the public to this useful invention. The Hive is truly a great improvement on the old square box; and the facilities it affords for taking out the honey are as harmless to the bees, as they are profitable to the owner. No resort to drums and pans is needed to hive the increase in the spring, and no resort to brimstone, fire and fagot is required to onquer the bees and procure their honey in the fall. As the bees multiply, new sections are added to the hive; and when the honey is wanted they are removed accordingly. The arrange asure of calling the attention of the public to this useful new sections are added to the hive: and when the honey is wanted, they are removed accordingly. The arrangements for feeding the bees, for changing them to different parts of the old hive, or to a new one, for ventilation, are unquestionably ahead of enything hitherto known.

A description of this Hive is impossible, without reference to a model, but an examination will satisfy any one of its advantages. For sale, Town and Individual Rights, with books, bill of feed, &c., giving full directions for making the Hive, and managing the Bees.

The method by which all Sarssaparillas, and other similar medicines are prepared, is by boiling the Roots of plants to obtain the extracts. Their medicinal virtues are thus principally evaporated and destroyed.

It is not to be wondered at then, that 10 and even 20 bottles of these Sarsaparillas are sometimes taken without any perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Wine.

TESTIMONY.

This is to certify, that I have used Dr. Halsey's Forest Wine in my family with the most entire success. My wife was badly afflicted with Neuralgia, affections of the Spine and Kidneys, and general Debility. She found speedy relief, and regained her health by the use of the Forest Wine.

From my own knowledge of this excellent medicine, I From my own knowledge of this excellent medicine, I confidently recommend it for the good of others who may be suffering from similar compaints. It is the best medicine with which I am acquainted, and those who are afflicted with the above, or any similar disease, may safely rely on its virtues.

Cohoes, April 13, 1850. HENRY DONALDSON. DREADFUL COUGH. DEBILITY, AND LOSS OF APPETITE.

DR. HALSEY: Hempstead, Dec. 1, 1847.

A bottle of your Forest Wine and box of Pills, which I procured of James Carr. (your agent for this place.) has done wonders for me. I had been in a state of decline for more than a year, afflicted with a dreadful cough, pain in the breast, general debility, and loss of appetite. I became alrasst a skeleton, and had been unable to leave my room for more than two months; my friends told me I had the Consumption and despaired of my recovery. I could not obtain any permanent relief from any medicine I had taken, or my physician, until your Wine and Pills were procured. The first dose of the Pills brought up from my stomach, much phlem and greenish matter, and my stools were perfectly black. I then commenced taking your Forest Wine three times a day, my appetite began to return immediately, my cough left me, and in less than two weeks I was almost well. I now enjoy better health than I ever did before, having increased twenty-five pounds in seven weeks. Your Forest Wine and Pills are highly valued in this vicinity, and I owe my recovery entirely to their virtues.
