Farmer's Department. The Wheat Fly. Messas. Editors .- Just at this time when the farmers of our valley are so generally com plaining of the probable destruction of their wheat crop by what they are calling the "Weevil," a little information drawn from "the books" may not be unacceptable. The little mites in the wheat heads called the weevil, are the maggots of the "wheat fly," known for the last twenty years in this country under various names. By some mistaken for the Hessian fly and the grain weevil-among Entomologists it is designated "Cecidomyia Tritici." The earliest written information of which I have seen is found in a letter by Christopher Gullet and published in the Philosophical Transactions in 1772. In that letter it is described as a small yellow fly with blue wings about the size of a gnat, and as blowing into the ear of wheat and producing a worm "which seen through microscope appears a large yellow magget of the color and gloss of amber." Its ravages are much complained of both in England and Scotland, and in 1795 Mr. Marsham investigated this insect as appears by a communication in the "Transactions of the Linnean society" -since that date many persons have written upon the subject, all of whom have described it as a small insect resembling somewhat the gnat. Its first appearance noticed by our writers was in Canada and the first satisfactory communication I have seen was made by William Evans and published in the "Montreal Daily Advertiser," in 1834, and afterwards republished in the "Cultivator" Vol. 1, second edition. page 105. In that communication we are told that the wheat fly generally makes its appearance about the last of June and according to observations made they exist through a period of thirty-nine days. The hue of the fly, says Mr. Evans is orange, the wings transparent and changing color according to the light in which they are viewed. It lays its eggs within the glumes of the florets in clusters varying in number from two to ten or even fifteen, and the larva feed upon the grain. They are produced from the eggs in the course of eight or ten days: They are at first perfectly transparent, and assume a yellow color a few days afterwards; They travel not from one floret to another and as many as forty-seven have been numbered in one floret. The same writer or that this insect has been found in Canada until last year 1833, but that it appears to have multiplied prodigiously and it is only when the grain is in the milky state that they prey upon it, or rather upon matter destined to form the grain. Wheat in new lands is not so likely to be affected by it." Dr. Harris in his "Treaties on insects" (a book most valuable to every farmer) describes the European and American wheat fly as essentially the same. It is by him described as appearing towards the end of June or when the wheat is in blossom, "in swarms during the evening at which time they are very active. The females generally lay their eggs before nine oclock at night thrusting them by means of long retractile tube in the end of their bodies, within the chaffy scales of the flower in clusters from two to fifteen or more. By day they remain at rest on the stems and leaves of the plants where they are shaded from the heat of the sun; they continue to appear and lay their eggs through a period of thirty-nine days. The eggs are oblong, transparent, and of a pale buff color and hatch in eight to ten days after they are laid. The young insects produced from them, are little footless maggots, tapering to-wards the head and blunt at the hinder extremity. They are at first perfectly transparent and coloriess but soon take a deep yellow or orange color. They do not travel from one floret to another but move in a wriggling manner, and by sudden jerks of the body, when disturbed. They soon crowd around the lower part of the germ and there appear to subsist on the matter Factory Prices. Particular attention paid to orders by mail. destined to form the grain. The latter in consequence of their depredations, becomes shrivelled and abortive. The maggots when fully grown are nearly one-eighth of an inch It is generally believed and Mr. Gorrie has written satisfactorily upon the subject as has also Mr. Sheriff, Judge Bule, and Mrs. Gage, that these maggots leave the ears of wheat as soon as the kernel has hardened and descend to the ground and go into it, to the depth of half an inch, where they remain in a torpid state during the winter, coming out of the ground in the winged form in the spring, about the time the wheat is in blossom. theory has been pretty well proved by the discovery of great numbers of these flies in June. in fields where wheat had been raised the year The subject to the farmer is one of great interest-much has been written upon it, but up to this time no remedy has been found to materially lessen the evil.

Burning the stubble after harvest has been resorted to and doubtless would be destructive to the maggot while in the torpid state in the ground. Fumigation has also been resorted to. Strips of woolen cloth dipped in melted brimstone and burned on the windward side of fields, for several successive evenings at the time when the grain is in blossom and the fly is laving her eggs. This is however not only a troublesome preventive but quite doubtful in its results. The most likely and easily tried preventive would be lime or wood ashes strown over the grain when in blossom. Early and late sowed wheat are said to be less likely to be injured-the former being out of blossom before the fly takes wing and the latter after it has disappeared.

The best remedy in my opinion for the far mers of our valley would be to put their wheat fields for a few years in with corn, oats, rye, barley and grass. In this way they may starve out the fly and put money in their pockets at the same time.

Unless other farmers have been more successful with their wheat crops than I have been for the last few years they will find the fly, which may drive them into raising other crops, rather a blessing than otherwise.

The fly, the rust and the frost with other, "ills" which wheat "is heir to" make it too uncertain a crop just now, when "money made by the operation" and would put me in "speculating in Shanghais."-Record of the Times. E. W. S.

HORSE PROVENDER .- The best horse proven der, says the Maine Farmer, that we ever used. was a mixture of two-thirds oat meal and onethird corn meal. The oat meal has been thought by some physiological chemists to contain much muscle or flesh-forming matter, and the corn meal to contain much fat-forming material; and, therefore, when combined together, we get both principles combined.

AYER'S PILLS.

A ND CHERRY PECTORAL.—The fol-A lowing remedies are offered to the public as the best nost perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER's most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or les good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

will care them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with exery every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grewn under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with linaments and salves; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for olas! there cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walkes alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise, or mental anguish, or some lurking disease has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation, or secretion, till they do they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where sorrow sated with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized me, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled Consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong whisper to all but him Consumption. He tries everything; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his fame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now: it has stopped his cough and mado his breathing easy: his sleep is sound at night: his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Cherry Pectoral in imperishable renown. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the Cherry Pectoral if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an idvaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

DAVIS' PLATFORM BEE-HIVE. THE subscriber having been appointed Agent for the counties of Bradford, Sulivan and Lycoming, has the pleasure of calling the attention of the public to this useful invention. The Hive is truly a great improvement on the old square box; and the facilities it affords for taking out the honey are as harmless to the bees, as they are profitable to the owner. No resort to drums and pans is needed to hive the increase in the spring, and no resort to brimstone, fire and fagot is required to conquer the bees and procure their honey in the fall. As the bees multiply, new sections are added to the hive; and when the honey is wanted, they are removed accordingly. The arrangements for feeding the bees, for changing them to different parts of the old hive, or to a new one, for ventilation, are unquestionably almed of anything hitherto known.

A description of this Hive is impossible, without reference to a model, but an examination will satisfy any one of its advantages. For sale, Town and Individual Rights, SCOTT'S PATENT BLACKSMITH'S STRIKER! THE undersigned, having purchased the right to sell is a number of the counties of this state, and elsewhere Scott's Patent BLACKSMITH'S STRIKER, respectfully announce that they are now stopping at BLACK'S Hotel, in Towanda, where they will exhibit the Patent Striker, and explain its operation. They expect to remain about three weeks. By the aid of this invention, every Blacksmith can dispense with the additional hand required to forge iron, and will consequently effect a great saving of labor to all who become possessed of it. This is considered one of the greatest and most neefly inventions of the Scott's Patent BLACKSMITH'S STRIKER ed one of the greatest and most useful invention age, and the manner in which it forges iron of every cription has greatly surprised the numerous sons of can who have seen it operation.

warranted to cure without an unpleasant or weakening effect.

The method by which all Sarssaparillas, and other similar medicines are prepared, is by boiling the Roots of plants to obtain the extracts. Their medicinal virtues are thus principally evaporated and destroyed.

It is not to be wondered at then, that 10 and even 20 bottles of these Sarsaparillas are sometimes taken without any perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Wine.—

By the invention of a wonderful chemical apparatus, a perfect wine is produced without beating; retaining, at the same time, all the primitive healing properties of the rare medicinal plants of which it is composed, thus rendering the Forest Wine the most efficient medicine the world ever produced, at the same time time the most agreeable.

TESTIMONY.

This is to certify, that I have used Dr. Halsey's Forest Wine in my family with the most entire success. My wife was badly afflicted with Neuralgia, affections of the Spine and Kidneys, and general Debility. She found speedy relief, and regained her health by the use of the Forest Wine.

MORE TESTIMONY FROM COHOES.

DR. G. W. HALSEY—Dear Sir: My wife last autumn was reduced to a low state of Debility. My family physician advised her to take your Forest Wine. Accordingly I went to Mr. Terry's, your agent in this town, and procured a bottle of it, which restored her in a very short time to perfect health.

DREADFUL COUGH, DEBILITY, AND LOSS OF APPETITE.

DR. HALSEY: Hempstead, Dec. 1, 1847.

A bottle of your Forest Wine and box of Pills, which I procured of James Carr. (your agent for this place.) has done wonders for me. I had been in a state of decline for more than a year, afflicted with a dreadful cough, pain in the breast, general debility, and loss of appetite. I became almost a skeleton, and had been unable to leave my room for more than two months; my friends told me! had the Consumption and despaired of my recovery. I could not obtain any permanent relief from any medicine! I had taken, or my physician, until your Wine and Pills were procured. The first dose of the Pills brought up from my stemach, much phlem and greenish matter, and my stools were perfectly black. I then commenced taking your Forest Wine three times a day, my appetite began to return immediately, my cough left me, and in less than two weeks I was almost well. I now enjoy better health than I ever did before, having increased twenty-five pounds in seven weeks. Your Forest Wine and Pills are highly valued in this vicinity, and I owe my recovery entirely to their virtues.

Yours, respectfully.

MARTIN CALDWELL.

AFFECTIONS OF THE KIDNEYS.

Mr. T. J. Gillies, a highly respectable Merchant of No. 308 Broadway, New York, cured of a severe affection of the Kidneys by the Forest Wine and Pills.

Dr. G. W. HALSEY: New-York, March 12, 1853.

Dear Sir—In the summer and fall of last year 1 had a severe complaint of the Kidneys, which rendered me quite unfit for business. I procured your Forest Wine and Pills which cured me in a few weeks time, and I have since enjoyed better health than I had for many years previously. From their efficacy in my own case, and from what I know your medicines to have done for others, I am induced to recommend them as the best medicines with which I am acquainted.
