Farmer's Department.

SAVING MANURES .- After the May harvest is over farmers have leisure time enough to attend to the making of composts. Stable manure must not be suffered to lie long in heaps without mixing it with much other matter. That from horses in particular will heat to excess in a very few days, provided it lies light and admits the air to the heap. But even this kind of manure will not heat in case it is trodden down to exclude the air. Let a horse in a stable, twelve feet square, stand on his manure and tread it close and there is no danger of heating. It is on this principle that when we want to prepare manure for the field early in the spring, we overhaul it often and throw it up as light as possible. This is a good time to gather weeds and sods and peat mud to increase the compost heap. All the scrapings should be gathered, for all will be wanted for September seeding, or for spreading on grass lands in October.

As to the barnyard, that may be plowed be fore the compost matter is carried out. But we doubt much of the propriety of the practice of plowing often in the summer in barn yards. We only expose the strong portions of the manure to evaporation. And if the cow-yard in the spring was well covered with loam or other matter, it may lie till September to be enriched by what is dropped by the cattle.

We object not to the use of a plow in the yard a few days before carting out to the field, for this makes the labor of shovelling easier and also serves to mix up the ingredients. It is a good practice to cover all the fresh manure by throwing on a little loam each morning .--Have two or three heaps of loam in different parts of the yard, and use a shovel instead of a plow .- Mass. Plowman.

TRIMMING TREES .- As soon as having is over fruit trees of all kinds may be trimmed. Now is the time to expect the wounds to heal rapidly, as the trees make wood fast at this season.

Never cut off large limbs from fruit trees, unless you choose to induce premature decay. You cannot do worse than to cut off large limbs. If there are too many of them let them remain, while you thin out the twigs that are not too large to bear fruit.

Let no man with heavy boots climb your trees. Pliable shoes are much better than boots. Nails in boots may do to go on ice, but they are quite too hard for the limbs and bark of fruit trees.

Hogs .-- Give them occasionally a tablespoonful of a compound, three parts ashes and one of salt, for each bog, mixed with their food, and it will destroy the kidney worms. For costiveness, with which they are often affected, take copperas, pulverised, and put it in a skillet, and put it over a quick fire ; it will soon boil ; then stir it till well mixed, and take it off to cool ; then pulverise it, and give to each hog a tablespoonful as often as the excrement shows them to be costive. It can be mixed with milk or other food.

POULTRY DISEASES .- Onions seem to be a preventitive and remedy for various diseases to which domestic poultry is liable. Having frequently tested their excellencies, we can speak understandingly. For gapes and inflammation of the throat, eyes, and head, onions are almost a specific. We would recommend are almost a specific. feeding fowls, and especially the young chicks, as many as they will eat as often as twice or three times a week. They should be finely chopped, a little corn meal added.

TOMATO SAUCE .- Gather your tomatoes when fully ripe, and after washing, mash them in Then place them in a ble vessel.

To PRESERVE PLUMS .- Make a syrup of clean brown sugar ; clarify as directed in these receipts ; when perfectly clean and boiling hot, pour it over the plums, having picked out all insound ones and stems ; let them remain in the syrup two days, then drain it off : make it boiling hot, skim it and pour it over again ; let them remain another day or two, then put them in a preserving kettle over the fire, and simmer gently until the syrup is reduced and thick or rich. One pound of sugar for each pound of plums. Small damsons are very fine preserved as cherries or any other ripe fruit ; clarify the syrup, and when boiling hot put in the plums ; let them boil very gently until they are cooked, and the syrup rich. Put them in pots or jars ; the next day secure as directed.

PUT IN WHEAT EARLY .- Farmers ! now is the time to prepare land for wheat. Don't forget the lesson of the past two years. Remember that early sown wheat generally escapes rust and the midge worm, (weevil) We know some farmers who intend to sow all their wheat before the last of this month, August. See to it also, that the land is deeply plowed, and well drained, then the crop will be able to withstand either a dry or a wet season.

PROFITS OF POULTRY .- Few farmers expect to realize anything of any amount from their poultry. Hens are left to take care of themselves, as a general thing, while sheep and other animals, from which they cannot possibly realize so large a per cent. on the cost, occupy the whole of the breeders time and attention .--Now let us suppose that a man owns 300 hens, and takes care of them as he ought. He selects six acres of respectable land ; makes a good fence around it, and divides it in the middle. He puts up a good warm building, 12 feet by 40. In one of these three acre yards he keeps his hens during the summer ploughing it once in two or three weeks for their benefit. The other yard he plants to corn ; the crop being sufficient to keep his hens through the winter. They lay on an average, two hundred eggs each per annum, or 6,000 a year, in all, which worth, at a low estimate $600. The hens should be changed from one yard to the other every year. BOOTS AND SHOES.

John W. Wilcox.

John W. Wilcox, AS located his establishment on Main Street, on door Morth of the "Ward House," and will continue the manufacture of BOOTS & SHOES, as heretofore. He has just received from New-York a large assortment of Womans' Childrens' and Misses' Shoes, which are offer-ed at low prices. The attention of the Ladles is particu-larly directed to his assortment, comprising the following new styles:-Enamelled Jenny Lind gaiter boots; do. shoes ; black lasting and silk gaiter ; walking shoes, bus-kins, &c. Missea' gaiters and shoes, of every description. A large variety of Childrens' fancy gaiters, boots & shoes of all kinds. From my own Knowledge of this excellent medicine, i confidently recommend it for the good of others who may be suffering from similar complaints. It is the best medi-cine with which I am acquainted, and those who are afflic-ted with the above, or any similar disease, may safely re-ly on its virtues. E. G. MUSSEY. ly on its virtues. E. G. DREADFUL COUGH, DEBILITY, AND LOSS OF APPETITE. The HALSEY: Hernpstead, Dec. 1, 1847. A bottle of your Forest Wine and box of Pills, which I procured of James Carr. (yoar agent for this place.) has done wonders for me. Thad been in a state of decline for more than a year, afflicted with a dreadful cough, pain in the breast, general debility, and loss of appetite. I be-came almost a skeleton, and had been unable to leave my room for more than two months; my friends told me 1 had the Consumption and despaired of my recovery. I could not obtain any permanent relief from any medicine I had taken, or my physician, until your Wine and Pills were procured. The first dose of the Pills brought up from my stamach, much phlem and greenish matter, and my stools were perfectly black. I then commenced taking your Forest Wine three times a day, my appetite began to return immediately, my cough left me, and in less than two weeks I was almost well. I now enjoy better health than I ever did before, having increased twenty-five pounds in seven weeks. Your Forest Wine and Pills are highly valued in this vicinity, and I owe my recovery entirely to their virtues. Yours, respectfully. MARTIN CALDWELL. AFFECTIONS OF THE KIDNEYS.
