"FISH AND PHILOSOPHY." DR. JOHN M'INTOSH, Would inform the inhabitants

Would inform the inhabitants of Bradford county that he respectfully solicits 600 subscribers for his local work entitled "FISH AND PHILOSOPHY, or Sketches work entitled "FISH AND PHILOSOPHY, or Sketches made During a Short Sojourn in Northern Penusylvania."
The book will consist of from 250 to 300 pages, 12me, and will be bound in embossed muslin. The price will be $1,00. As the work was not written to vindicate any particular theory, or to advance any particular interest, it is difficult to say what it aims at—further than to help while away a leisure hour or two, in what the Author hopes, not unprofitable reading.

The pages are chiefly devoted to descriptions of local scenery; incidents while Trouting on the Schrader branch; literary criticisms and reminiscences; conversations, deterary criticisms and reminiscences; conversations, de elopments of local character, poetry and philosophical effections.

As the publication of the book is not a question of As the publication of the book is not a question of bread, the author can use the liberty of speaking plain.—
In the first place, then, he cannot afford to publish the book unaided—nor would he if he could; for the simple reason, he is unwilling to shoulder the responsibility of committing a—possibly—poor book to the world. He therefore seeks to make a corporate concern of it, and thus share with the subscribers the odium of failure, should it fail. It is a purely gratuitous matter, gentlemen, sign, or not sign. In the second place, the author is unwilling to have his stock of books added to, by too many hundred copies of a work that failed to redeem the price of its publication; neither does he desire the horror of witnessing the awful spectacle of an auto-da-fe, of what cost him so much pains and time to create;—for he certainly would commit to the flames what remained unsold the edition, should it be printed, asking no favors; and if 600 subscribers can be had, he will do so. He can afford, however, to wait, should the 600 refuse to come to the rescue. The MS will not diminish in value. It will remain as it has done, cherished by the owner, as was cherished and loved 'the poor man's one little eye lamb that its plant to be printed and loved 'the poor man's one little eye lamb that the printed and loved 'the poor man's one little eye lamb that main as it has done, cherished by the owner, as was cherished and loved "the poor man's one little ewe lamb, that was unto him as a daugher." The author will ask no one ished and loved "the poor man's one little ewe lamb, that was unto him as a daugher." The author will ask no one to undertake to publish it on the strength of its merits: perhaps from pride, perhaps from a prophetic apprehension of its lack of merit. Time—perhaps—will determine if he did well to be influenced by the latter-consideration. The author will further say, that should the desired number of subscriptions be obtained, he will feel tempted to promise an embellished frontispiece, enclosing a medallion likeness of the principal character, Dr. Plum. And should a second edition follow, he—the author—will exert all the influence he can command to secure for the original subscribers a lock of that distinguished individual's hair; as thank Heaven, he is appreciative, and, judging from his antecedents, the author has no doubt that Plum would gladly wear a wig for a whole year, to have the pleasure of furnishing to his friends so interesting a souvenir.

The publication of the book, then, is dependent on the receipt of 600 subscribers, and one month will be allowed for names to be given in. If, at the expiration of that time only one person has subscribed, or any other number between that and 600—unless very closely approximating it—the book will not of course be expected to see the light. But, if the entire number be obtained, those who have segmed, will, in three months from the closing of the subscription lists, be supplied with a copy, or copies, as they may have ordered.
