Horse Breaking.

It may be accepted as a rule, having few if any exceptions, that it is most profitable to breed the best descriptions of horses. These can only be obtained from first class animals, and even the use of such will not be sufficient without the addition of the exercise of considerable skill and good judgment in the rearing and management generally.

Notwithstanding the unquestioned and manifest truth of this position, many act in contratrariety to it, and continue to breed from inferior animals. Many permit themselves to indulge in such a short-sighted economy and in such erroneous calculations as lead them to think they cannot afford for breeding purposes anything but old and broken down mares. And then the impression seems to be very general that perfection or good qualities in the sire will counteract and redeem any defect in the dam. That the sire does exercise a powerful influence on the general appearance of the progeny is not to be denied, this being most marked and manifest in the general out-I'nes and in color. But the qualities of temper, disposition, endurance, courage and others of like nature are generally more evidently derived from the dam. A gentleman with a quick eye for good points in a horse has stated that in repeated journeys through some of the Western States he has seldom seen any superior, or even any really good horses .-Those States, or those portions of them which are situated upon the main thoroughfares, seem to abound in all kinds of half-bred and defective horses, which would be of small value in the best Eastern markets.

To raise good horses it has often been said -but needs to be said again-we must begin with sound and good materials. Both horse and mare must be free from any constitutional or transmissible vice or defect, such as spavin, ring-bone, contracted feet, heaves, or any affection of the breathing apparatus. If either parent is thus diseased, or otherwise defective or unsound, we cannot obtain a sound progeny. Occasionally an animal may be produced which may appear to be sound and healthy, and may continue to appear so until hardship, ill-fare, or the attack of some disease brings the defective constitution or hereditary taint sooner or later to the open light.

While so many errors continue to be committed in the breeding of horses; while so few possessed of the requisite skill, tact, means and good judgment, are engaged in the business, it cannot be otherwise than that it might be carried on with no small profit by any possessed of the skill, tact, convenience and judgment, which are necessary for the highest suc cess. A large number, or a majority of purchasers, have discrimination enough to discern between the offspring of parents of good constitution and the most valuable points, and the offspring of parents defective in these particulars. In addition to a proper selection of animals to breed from, there other things essential to rearing horses of the most desirable qualities. Among these we would name as the most important proper care and feeding during gestation, and also during the whole period of growth from infancy to maturity .-The profits as well as the satisfaction and pleasure of the breeder, will, as a general rule, correspond in some measure with the amount of skill, and good judgment exercised in these and other particulars of management .- Country Gentleman.

TEA FOR SICK HORSES .- Linseed tea is not only a valuable restorative for sick horses, but of the membranes peculiar to organs of respiration and digestion; it shields and lubricates the same; tranquilizes the irritable state of the parts, and favors healthy action. We have prescribed linseed tea in large quantities.

In the parts, and favors healthy action will also be delivered once or twice in each week. They beg leave to refer to the following named gentlem:—Rt. Rev. Aloxzo Potter, Bishop of the Diocese of Penn's Philadelphia; Rev. Dr. Maclean, President of the it is exceedingly useful in cases of inflamation der the prevailing influenza; they seemed to derive much benefit from it, and generally drank it with avidity. Aside from the benefit we derived from the action of mucilage and oil, which the seed contains, its nutritive elements are of some account, especially when given to animals laboring under soreness in the organs of deglution, which incapacitates them from swallowing more solid food. In the event of an animal becoming prostrated by inability to masticate or swallow more food, linseed tea may be resorted to, and in cases of irritable cough the addition of a little honey makes it still more useful. In the latter form it may be given to animals laboring under acute or chronic disease of the urinary apparatus, more especially of the kidneys.

To Prepare Linseed Tea .- Put a couple of handfulls of the seed into a bucket, and pour a gallon and a half of boiling water upon it. Cover it up a short time, then add a couple of quarts of cold water, when it will be fit for use .- American Veterinary Journal.

PROPER TIME TO MANURE .- With respect to the proper time or season for putting on farmyard artificial and other manure that will depend entirely on circumstances and the convenience of the farmer. I remember this question was once put to a very shrewd old farmer by a young neighbor, who had a very high opinion of the old man's judgment and experience in farming matters; and after stipulating for a fee in the shape of a jug of ale (which of course, was very cheerfully paid) what think you was the old man's reply to the anxious inquirer? Why simply this: "Put it on all the year around." Now, although we may not quite agree with the farmer that all the year about is the best time for putting on manure, yet I think most of us agree with him that a dressing of good manure will seldom do harm at any season; and no doubt by this significant answer the old man meant to impress upon the mind of his neighbor the high value he placed upon this right hand friend .-In my opinion, the best time for applying manure of any kind (including bone dust) to permanent pasture is when the vegetation is the most active, say in the months of April and September, if the land can be spared ;and the old fashioned custom of putting on manure immediately after the hay is carried off, is, I think, a very good one.—Mr. Martin.

THE ELECTRO CHEMICAL BATH, DIRECT & TO-&-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE.

DIRECT & TO-&-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE.

JAMES HARRIS, ELECTRICIAN, of Towanda, respectfully informs the public that he has lately procured from New York the celebrated Electro-Chemical Bath, which has proven to be one of the most important and wonderful discoveries of the age, from its ability to extract minerals from the human system.

Some eight years ago, a physician of Cincinnati discovered the process of extracting minerals from the body, by galvanism; more recently, M. Verges, of New York, an electro-gilder, having suffered from the introduction of poisonous minerals into his system in the prosecution of his art, conceived the idea of removing them by the same processes, he succeeded in doing so, and quickly recovered. He then applied the same means to others similarly affected, with like results. His success exceeded his most sanguine expectations, for not only did these Baths remove mineral poisons, but cured many diseases, some of which were the result of minerals, and some were not.

More recent experiments have fully confirmed the singular power of this Bath to den from the system all minerals that may be lodged therein, to the great detriment of health. Very often persons are afflicted by diseases which are beyond the comprehension of the most skilful physicians, and which are the effect of poisonous minerals accumulating in the system for years, taken in the shape of calonnel lead &c. &c.

physicians, and which are the energy of poisonous limite-rals accumulating in the system for years, taken in the shape of calomel, lead, &c. &c.

The following are some of the diseases cured by these baths: Rheumatism, Paralysis, Palsy, Painter's Cholic, Chronic Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Scrofula, Cancer, Neuralia in all its forms, Salt Rheum and Humors of all binds keurant in an its forms, sait kneum and flumors of an kinds.

He has also S. B. Smith's newly invented DIRECT AND TO-AND-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE, which is a great improvement on the Magnetic machines heretofore in use. With the aid of the Bath and Machine, we have at command all the available medical efficiency of Electricity. The medical power of the Machine is very great, in introducing medicines into the system through the pores of the skin—applying it directly to the parts affected, which gives an increase of medicinal power over that of taking it into the stomach, rendering it particularly efficacions in all local diseases.

I am now prepared to apply these Baths, and also the Machines, at my house in the south part of the borough of Towands, or I will visit patients at a distance, who are unable by reason of disease to come to this place, at mo-mable by reason of disease to come to this place, at moderate prices.

I am also sole agent for Bradford county, for the above
