Look to your Orchards.

A good orchard is the best investment that can be made and every farmer should take advantage of the early Spring to transplant trees and vines of different kinds of fruit.

Ripe fruit is the most healthy food we eat. Apples constitute a wholesome change not only for man but for domestic animals under his care. Hogs and cattle can be fattened almost wholly upon apples and yet too many of our farmers are allowing the trees in their orchards to become superanuated without having any young trees to take their place. Let every one examine his orchard and cut out the dead ones and plant young, thrifty trees in their places. But the enterprising and provident farmer will not content himself with merely planting apple orchards, though these are the most important, he will plant Pear, Plum, Cherry Peach, Apricot and Quince trees. He will find time to cultivate grapes, currants, raspberries (the last are too much neglected.)-Fruit trees for transplanting can be purchased of nurserymen and the very best kind sho'd be obtained As much care should be taken in selecting fruit trees as in making choice of stock. The ground should be well prepared and bountifully manured with compost or other manure. Orchards are not merely a legacy transmitted from father to son, but they become a profitable investment in a few years to the enterprising and skillful proprietor.

Ashes for Corn.

[From the Dollar Newspaper.]

I noticed an article in the "Newspaper" not long since, wherein your correspondent recommends a mixture of ashes, shell, lime, bones, &c., which he has found valuable for corn, when applied as a top dressing to the hill after planting. We have been in the habit of using ashes alone for some years, and have invariably found it of much greater value when put to the hill than on the surface .-Some five years since, we had finished planting our core, with the exception of about five acres left for pasture, which we did not plough until the rest was planted. We had put ash es in the hills of all we had planted, and had some three or four bushels left. When we were about half done planting, this rest, I recollected the ashes which were left, and immediately sent for and had them applied. The rest on both sides had no ashes in the hill, but when the corn was some two or three inches high, we obtained enough unleached ashes and applied them to the hill on the surface .-The corn came up best where there was no ashes, which I have often before and since observed to be the case, ashes oftentimes keeping the corn back. But when the corn became a few inches high, you could observe a change. That on which the ashes were put in the hill, grew evenly and had a fine color, while on either side you would soon find hills, of almost any required size, from the smallest to the greatest, and of almost all varieties of

The difference continued throughout the season, and it was an easy matter to tell at a glance where the ashes were in the hill from the very row. In this case, the ashes on top did no apparent good. I am unable to explain the reason of this, or why a handful of ashes in each hill should make such a marked difference. I noticed numbers of small insects on rence. I noticed numbers of small insects on the hills, and felt somewhat inclined at the time to think they had something to do with it. Be this as it may, we believe so much in the beneficial effect of ashes in the hill for corn, that we do not if possible to get enough put any more corn on without them. We per use much leached ashes, which we generally with the unleached, and find it to as well .-We generally add some plaster also.

Some are opposed to the practice of ashing in the hill, on account of the extra time consumed while planting, and so prefer putting on top at a more leisure time. The proper way to determine where it would be to try each way, side by side. The experience of others may be different from mine. Or difference in soil may cause different effects. But my mind is fully made up that the best way for me, is to apply in the hill, all things considered, and that will in almost every case pay well. When the corn crop fails, there is TEV. JAMES McWILLIAM, A. M., Professor of Ancient generally enough difference in the stalks to make it do so.

GUANO FOR GRASS LAND .- We have recently conversed with two gentlemen-both practical men and of critical observation-who informed us that they have now fields in grass, and yielding good crops, laid down some 5, 6 and 7 years ago, manuring them solely with guano, and receiving little or no manure since, if such were to be the general result we might bring up our farms to a wonderful degree of fertility, because a third or one half of the tilling land laid to grass with guano, and producing a full crop for several years in succes sion, would enable us to appropriate all the manure of the farm to the hoed crops. This would allow of very high manuring, and put the land in such a condition as to produce heavy grass crops without the further application of guano. But we need further experiments, and to test the guano upon its own merits, by putting the land into grass without a particle of any manure.-New-England Far-

REMEMBER !- "The more porous and deeper a soil is, the more water it is capable of holding in suspension as a protection against long rainless seasons: and when water is in excess, the surplus portion gradually filters through into the drains below, and passes harmlessly away." These results are obtained by drainage and deep tillage.

SELECTION OF GRAFTS .- Mr. Stowell says that in selecting grafts, take the twigs from those branches which have borne fruit the previous season; or if you want buds, take from those which have fruit upon them. By being careful as to this, you will get fruit, usually in two seasons.

BARLEY .- The high price of Barley, is turning the attention of farmers to its cultivation in lieu of oats.

To broil ham properly, the slices sho'd be first soaked in hot water, dried in a cloth and broiled on a gridiron over a clear fire.

CURE FOR Bors-Give the horse some molasses and milk, then put a half pound of tea in one quart of water, and draw it as you would for the table, and when partly cool give it to him and it will soon relieve him.

THE ELECTRO CHEMICAL BATH, DIRECT & TO-&-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE.

DIRECT & TO-&-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE,

JAMES HARRIS, ELECTRICIAN, of Towanda, respectJefuly informs the public that he has lately procured from New York the celebrated Electro-Chemical Bath, which has proven to be one of the most important and wonderful discoveries of the age, from its ability to extract minerals from the human system.

Some eight years ago, a physician of Cincinnati discovered the process of extracting minerals from the body, by galvanism; more recently, M. Verges, of New York, an electro-gilder, having suffered from the introduction of poisonous minerals into his system in the prosecution of his art, conceived the idea of removing them by the same processes, he succeded in doing so, and quickly recovered.

He then applied the same means to others similarly affected, with like results. His success exceeded his most sanguine expectations, for not only did these Baths remove mineral poisons, but cured many diseases, some of which were the result of minerals, and some were not.

More recent experiments have fully confirmed the sin-

were the result of minerals, and some were not.

More recent experiments have fully confirmed the singular power of this Bath to draw from the system all minerals that may be lodged therein, to the great detriment of health. Very often persons are afflicted by diseases which are beyond the comprehension of the most skilful physicians, and which are the effect of poisonous minerals accumulating in the system for years, taken in the shape of calomel, lead, &c. &c.

The following are some of the diseases cured by these baths: Rheumatism, Parallysis, Palsy, Painter's Cholic, Chronic Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Scrofula, Cancer, Neuralia in all its forms, Salt Rheum and Humors of all kinds.

He has also S. B. Smith's newly invented DIRECT AND

He has also S. B. Smith's newly invented DIRECT AND TO-AND-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE, which is a great improvement on the Magnetic machines heretofore in use. With the aid of the Bath and Machine, we have at command all the available medical efficiency of Electricity. The medical power of the Machine is very great, in introducing medicines into the system through the pores of the skim—applying it directly to the parts affected, which gives an increase of medicinal power over that of taking it into the stomach, rendering it particularly efficacious in all local diseases.

I am now prepared to apply these Baths, and also the Machines, at my house in the south part of the borough of Towanda, or I will visit patients at a distance, who are unable by reason of disease to come to this place, at mo-of rowands, or twin visit patients at a distance, who are unable by reason of disease to come to this place, at moderate prices.

I am also sole agent for Bradford county, for the above Machines.
