Bradford Reporter.

E. O. GOODRICH, EDITOR.

TOWANDA:

Chursdan Morning, December 4, 1858.

TRUNS—One Dollar per annum, invariably in advance.— Four weeks previous to the expiration of a subscription, notice will be given by a printed wrapper, and if not re-newed, the paper will in all cases be stopped.

CLUBBING - The Reporter will be sent to Clubs at the fol-

ADVERTISEMENTS - For a square of ten lines or less, One Dollar for three or less insertions, and twenty-five cents for each subsequent insertion.

JON-WORK - Executed with accuracy and despatch, and a reasonable prices - with every facility for doing Books, Blanks, Hand-bills, Ball tickets, &c.

MONEY may be sent by mail, at our risk-enclosed in an encelope, and properly directed, we will be responsible for its safe delivery.

This number of the Reporter is delayed for one day, in order that it may contain the President's Message. -We are in consequence obliged to defer the proceedings of Court, which will be reported in full for our next, as well as our usual quantum of general news.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, DEC. 1 .- Both Houses of Congress met and organized in the usual form. In the Senate nearly fifty members were present. Nothing was done beyond sending and receiving notices of organization.

In the House about two hundred Members were on hand. Mr. Hodges of Vt. and Messrs. Allen and Morrison of Ill., elected to fill va-Gen. Whitfield as Delegate from Kansas were presented. Mr. Grow objected to their reception. Mr. Phelps thought that precedent justified the swearing in of Mr. Whitfield, and the legality of his election might be settled after- stitutions of existing States. ward. Mr. Campbell of Ohio would let the case go by as it did last session. Mr. Grow persisted in his objection, stating that the House had decided, after full investigation, tlat there la l been no valid election in Kansas, and for that reason rejected Mr. Whitfield who then held a seat. There had been no change since, and the House should not reverse its own decision. Mr. Phelps said there had been a new election ; by the ejection of Mr. Whitfield a vacancy was made ; and Mr. W. was chosen to fill the place. No one was here therefore let him be sworn in. On a division, it was voted, ayes 97, nays 104, that Mr. W. was not entitled to a seat. Mr. Grow moved to reconsider, and to lay that motion on the table ; but the friends of Mr. Whitfield resisted : motions to adjourn were voted down ; and a session of six hours was kept up, each party trying to tire the other out. Finally, at 7 1-4 jority.

TUESDAY .-- In the Senate the President's Message was discussed by Senators Wilson, Hale, Trumbull, Mason, Brown, and others.

In the House the entire session was consumed in debate upon the motion to reconsider the vote declaring Mr. Whitfield not entitled to a seat as Delegate from Kansas. No vote was taken.

tion, the people of the United States have sanctioned and announced.

They have asserted the constitutional equality of each and all of the States of the Union as States ; they have affirmed the constitutional cquality of each and all of the citizens of the United States as citizens, whatever their religion, wherever their birth or their residence;

they have maintained the inviolability of the constitutional rights of the different sections of the Union ; and they have proclaimed their devoted and unalterable attachment to the Union and to the Constitution, as objects of interest superior to all subjects of local or sectional controversy, as the safeguard of the rights of all, as the spirit and the essence of the liberty, peace and greatness of the Republic

In doing this, they have, at the same time, emphatically condemned the idea of organizing in these United States mere geographical parties ; of marshalling in hostile array toward each other the different parts of the country, North or South, East or West.

Schemes of this nature, fraught with incalculable mischief, and which the considerate sense of the people has rejected, could have had countenance in no part of the country, had they not been disguized by suggestions plausible in appearance, acting upon an excited state of the public mind, induced by causes temporary in their character, and it is to be hoped transient in their influence.

Perfect liberty of association for political objects, and the widest scope of discussion, are the received and ordinary conditions of government in our country. Our institutions, framed in the spirit of confidence in the intelligence and integrity of the people, do not forbid citizens either individually or associated together, to attack by writing, speech, or any other me-thods short of physical force, the Constitution and the very existence of the Union. Under the shelter of this great liberty, and protected by the laws and usages of the Government cancies, were qualified. The credentials of they assail, associations have been formed, in some of the States, of individuals, who, pretending to seek only to prevent the spread of the institution of Slavery into the present or future inchoate States of the Union, are really inflamed with desire to change the domestic in-

To accomplish their objects, they dedicate themselves to the odious task of depreciating the government organization which stands in their way, and of calumniating, with indiscriminate invective, not only the citizens of particular States, with whose laws they find fault, but all others of their feliow-citizens throughout the country, who do not participate with them in their assaults upon the Constitution, framed and adopted by our fathers, and claiming for the privileges it has secured, and the blessings it has conferred, the steady support and grateful reverence of their children. They seek an object which they well know to be a revolutionary one. They are perfectly aware to contest Mr. Whitfield's right to a seat ; the that the change in the relative condition of people of Kansas were entitled to a Delegate; the white and black races in the slave-holding States, which they would promote, is beyond their lawful authority ; that to them it is a foreign object ; that it cannot be effected by any peaceful instrumentality of theirs ; that for them, and the States of which they are citizens, the only path to its accomplishment is through burning cities, and ravaged fields, and slaughtered populations, and all there is most terrible in foreign, complicated with civil and servile war ; and that the first step in the atp. m. a motion to adjourn prevailed by one ma tempt is the forcible disruption of a country embracing in its broad bosom a degree of liberty, and an amount of individual and public prosperity, to which there is no parallel in history, and substituting in its place hostile governments, driven at once and inevitably into mutual devastation and fratricidal carnage, transforming the now peaceful and felicitous brotherhood into a vast permanent camp of and Asia. Well knowing that such, and such only, are the means and the consequences of the compact, if compact there was. their plans and purposes, they endeavor to pre-The resignation of Donaldson, U.States pare the people of the United States for civil binding virtue in any sense, whether as respects thern States possess relatively so much of vi- is greatly enhanced by the consideration, that, Union by appeals to passion and sectional pre-Governor Geary, but the President insists that judice, by indoctrinating its people with reciprocal hatred, and by educating them to stand face to face as enemies, rather than shoulder to shoulder as triends. It is by the agency of such unwarrantable interference, foreign and domestic, that the minds of many, otherwise good citizens, have been so inflamed into the passionate, condemnation of the domestic institutions of the Southern States, as at length to pass insensibly to almost equally passionate hostility toward their fellow-citizens of those States, and thus finally to fall into temporary fellowship with the avowed and active enemies of the Constitution. Ardently attached to liberty in the abstract, they do not stop to consider prac-tically how the objects they would attain can be accomplished, nor to reflect that, even if the evil were as great as they deem it, they have no remedy to apply, and that it can be only aggravated by their violence and unconstitutional action. A question, which is one by his position, and called upon by his official of the most difficult of all the problems of social institution, political economy and statesinterests of the whole, and of every part of the manship, they treat with unreasoning intemperance of thought and language. Extremes beget extremes. Violent attack from the North finds its inevitable consequence in the growth navigation and commerce, it is necessary only of a spirit of angry defiance at the South. Thus in the progress of events we had reached that consummation, which the voice of the peowealth and population, and in private as well ple has now so pointedly rebuked of the atas public well being, attest the wisdom of our tempt, of a portion of the States, by a sectional organization and movement to usurp the control of the Government of the United I confidently believe that the great body of tinguished and characterized the people of those, who inconsiderately took this fatal step, are sincerely attached to the Constitution and the Union. They would, upon deliberation, agitation. tion of the last and the commencement of the shrink with unaffected horror from any conscious act of disunion or civil war. But they have entered into a path, which leads nowhere. unless it be to civil war and disunion, and which has no other possible outlet. They have proceeded thus far in thet direction in consequence of the successive stages of their progress having consisted of a series of secondary issues, each of which professed to be confined within constitutional and peaceful limits, but which attempted indirectly what few men were willing to go directly, that is, to act aggressively against the constitutional rights of nearly one-half of the thirty-one States. In the long series of acts of indirect aggres-

It is impossible to misapprehend the great States, and in several instances of their Govprinciples, which, by their recent political ac- ernments, aimed to facilitate the escape of persons held to service in the Southern States, and to prevent their extradition when reclaimed according to law and in virtue of express provisions of the Constitution. To promote this object, legislative enactments and other means were adopted to take away or defeat rights which the Constitution solemnly guaranteed. In order to nullify the then existing act of Congress concerning the extradition of fugitives from service, laws were enacted in many States forbidding their officers, under the severest penalties, to participate in the execution of any act of Congress whatever. In this way that system of harmonious co-operation be-tween the authorities of the United States and of the several States, for the maintenance of their common institutions, which existed in the early years of the Republic, was destroyed ;

conflicts of inrisdiction came to be frequent ; and Congress found itself compelled, for the support of the Constitution, and the vindication of its power, to authorize the appointment | but to require its repeal. of new officers charged with the execution of

vernments in a state of mutual hostility, rath- | ment by its very terms ; and Congress or the er than follow magistrates of a common coun- States may, in their discretion, propose amendtry, peacefully subsisting under the protection of a well-constitutioned Union. Thus here, is between the sovereign States of the Union. also, aggression was followed by reaction ; and In the present instance, a political enactment, the attacks upon the Constitution at this point which had ceased to have legal power or andid but serve to raise up new barriers for its thority of any kind, was repealed. The podefense and security.

The third stage of this unhappy controversy right to enact such repeal, was strange enough, was in connection with the organization of Territorial Governments, and the admission of new States into the Union. When it was proposed to admit the State of Maine, by separation of territory from that of Massachusetts, and the State of Missouri, formed of a portion of the territory ceded by France to the Unnited States, Representatives in Congress objected to the admission of the latter, unless with conditions suited to particular views of public policy. The imposition of such a condition was successfully resisted. But, at the same time, the question was presented of imposing restrictions upon the residue of the territory ceded by France. That question was, for a time, disposed of by the adoption of a geographical line of limitation

In this connection, it should not be forgotten that France, of her own accord, resolved, for considerations of the most far-sighted sagacity, to cede Louisiana to the United States. and that accession was accepted by the United States, the latter expressly engaged that " the 'inhabitants of the ceded territory shall be incorporated in the Union of the United States, and admitted as soon as possible, according to the principles of the Federal Constitution, to the enjoyment of all the rights, advantages and immunities of citizens of the United States ; and in the mean time they shall be maintained and protected in the free 'enjoyment of their liberty, property, and the 'religion which they profess"—that is to say, while it remains in a territorial condition, its all the States of the Union alike, each with the free enjoyment of their liberty, with a right | terest, there to found in their discretion, subfooting of perfect equality with the original States.

The enactment which established the restrictive geographical line was acquiesced in rather than approved by the States of the Union. It stood on the statute book, however, for a number of years ; and the people of the respective States acquiesced in the re-enactment of the principle as applied to the State of Texas ; them ; it found that field of competition aland it was proposed to acquiesce in its further application to the territory acquired by the United States from Mexico. But this proposition was successfully resisted by the Representatives from the Northern States, who, regardless of the statute line, insisted upon applying restriction to the new territory generalarmed men like the rival monarchies of Europe repealing it as a legislative compromise, and, out legal prohibitions on either side, slave la- a matter of the most earnest solicitude. On augmented receipts, probably, from that source on the part of the North, persistently violating bor would spontaneously go everywhere, in this occasion of imperative necessity it has been These considerations will justify a reduction of consciences, to whom did this authority attach? its birth. Then followed the cry of alarm sion of unlawful votes, or the exclusion of law Not to those of the North, who had repeatedly refused to confirm it by extension, and who had zealously striven to establish other and incompatible regulations upon the subject .--And if, as it thus appears, the supposed compact had no obligatory force as to the North, of course it could not have had any as to the South, for all such compacts must be mutual and of reciprocal obligation.

It has not unfrequently happened that lawgivers, with undue estimation of the value of the law they give, or in the view of imparting to it peculiar strength, make it perpetual in terms; but they cannot thus bind the conscience, the judgment and the will of those who may succeed them, invested with similar responsibilities, and clothed with equal authori-More careful investigation may prove the ty. law to be unsound in principle. Experience may show it to be imperfect in detail and impracticable in execution. And then both reason and right combine not merely to justify,

The Constitution, supreme as it is over all its acts, as if they and the officers of the States the departments of the Government, legislawere the ministers, respectively, of foreign go- tive, executive and judicial, is open to amendsition assumed, that Congress had no moral and singularly in view of the fact that the argument came from those who openly refused obedience to existing laws of the land, having the same popular designation and quality as compromise acts-nay, more, who unequivocaldisregarded and condemned the most positive and obligatory injunctions of the Consti-tution itself, and sought, by every means within their reach, to deprive a portion of their fellow-citizens of the equal enjoyment of those rights and privileges guarantied alike to all by he fundamental compact of our Union. This argument against the repeal of tatute line in question, was accompanied by another of congenial character, and equally with the former destitute of foundation in reason and truth. It was imputed that the measure originated in the conception of extending the limits of Slave-labor beyond those recently assigned to it, and that such was its natural as well as intended effect ; and these baseless assumptions were made, in the Northern States, the ground of unceasing assault upon constitutional right.

The repeal in terms of a statute, was already obsolete, and also null for unconstitutionality, could have no influence to obstruct or to f political or social institution. When the t organizing the Territories of Kansas and Nebraska was passed, the inherent effect upon acts of Congress might prescribe, new States, hereafter to be admitted into the Union.

It was a free field, open alike to all, whe ther the statute line of assumed restriction were repealed or not. That repeal did not open to free competition of the diverse opinions and domestic institutions a field, which, without such repeal, would have been closed against ready opened, in fact and in law. All the reobjectionable enactment, unconstitutional in effect, and injurious in terms to a large portion of the States eference to free labor ?

from the North against imputed Southern en- ful ones, by improper influences, by violence, croachments ; which cry sprang in reality from or by fraud. But the people of the United the spirit of revolutionary attack on the do-mestic institutions of the South, and, after a rights, and to suppose that they will not remetroubled existence of a few months, has been dy in due season, any such incidents of civil rebuked by the voice of a patriotic people. Of this last agitation, one lamentable feature was, that it was carried on at the immediate expense of the peace and happiness of the people of the Territory of Kansas. That was made the battle-field, not so much of opposing factions or interests within itself, as of than in the States. If he had such power the the conflicting passions of the whole people of the United States. Revolutionary disorder in it would be a monarchy in fact ; and if he had Kansas had its origin in projects of intervention, deliberately arranged by certain members of that Congress, which enacted the law for the organization of the Territory. And when propagandist colonization of Kansas had thus en undertaken in one section of the Union, for the systematic promotion of its peculiar views of policy, there ensued, as a matter of course, a counteraction with opposite views, in other sections of the Union. In consequence of these and other incidents. many acts of disorder, it is undeniable, have interruptions, rather than the permanent suspension, of regular government. Aggressive for the redress of wrong. and most reprehensible incursions into the Territory were undertaken, both in the North and ful condition of Kansas affords opportunity for the Sonth, and entered it on its northern bor- calm reflection and wise legislation, either the der by the way of Iowa, as well as on the eastern by way of Missouri ; and there has existed within it a state of insurrection against the constituted authorities, not without countenance from inconsiderate persons in each of the great sections of the Union. But the dif- and will take all the necessary steps to assure ficulties in that Territory have been extrava- to its inhabitants the enjoyment, without obgantly exaggerated for purposes of political agitation elsewhere

The number and gravity of the acts of vio-lence have been magnified partly by statements or activity and partly by reiterated ac-centrals nutrue and partly by reiterated acentirely untrue, and partly by reiterated accounts of the same rumors or facts. Thus the in this Territory will be found in the documents Territory has been seemingly filled with ex- communicated herewith from the Departments treme violence, when the whole amount of such of State and War.

acts has not been greater than what occasionally passes before us in single cities to the regret of all good citizens, but without being regarded as of general or permanent political consequence.

Imputed irregularities in the elections had in Kansas, like occasional irregularities of the same description in the States, were beyond the sphere of action of the Executive. But incidents of actual violence or of organized obstruction of law, pertinacionsly renewed from time to time, have been met as they oc- year amount to $92,850,117. The expendi curred, by such means as were available and as the circumstances required ; and nothing of treaty with Mexico, and excluding sums paid this character now remains to effect the generomote the propagation of conflicting views ral peace of the Union. The attempt of a part of the inhabitants of the Territory to erect a revolutionary government, though sedu- ing amounted to $12,776,390.

lously encouraged and supplied with pecuniary aid from active agents of disorder in some of the States, has completely failed.

Bodies of armed men, foreign to the Terriinhabitants are maintained and protected in his convictions of public policy and private in- tory, have been prevented from entering or Of this sum of $45,525,319, including premi compelled to leave it. Predatory bands, enthen to pass into the condition of States on a ject to such limitations as the Constitution and gaged in acts of rapine, under cover of the existing political disturbances have been arrested or dispersed. And every well-disposed person peace to the pursuits of prosperous industry, pressed to payment by the Government. for the prosecution of which he undertook to participate in the settlement of the Territory. It affords me unmingled satisfaction thus to announce the peaceful condition of things in debt and $100,000,000 paid by treaty to Mex-Kansas, especially considering the means to which it was necessary to have recourse for the peal did was to relieve the statute-book of an attainment of the end, namely, the employment of a part of the military force of the ture for the ensuing five years will not exceed United States. The withdrawal of that force that sum, unless extraordinary occasion for its from its proper duty of defending the country Is it the fact, that, in all the unsettled re- against foreign focs or the savages of the fronions of the United States, if emigration be tier, to employ it for the suppression of domesy, whether lying north or south of it-thereby left free to act in this respect for itself, with- tic insurrection, is, when the exigency occurs, will cause a continued demand for lands and freedom, is to suppose them to have ceased to be capable of self-government.

The President of the United States has not power to interpose in elections, to see to their freedom, to canvass their votes, or to pass upon their legality in the Territories any more Government might be republican in form, but undertaken to exercise it in the case of Kansas, he would have been justly subject to the charge of usurpation, and of violation of the dearest rights of the people of the U. States Unwise laws, equally with irregularities at elections, are, in periods of great excitement. the occasional incidents of even the freest and best political institutioas. But all experience demonstrates that in a country like ours, where the right of self-constitution exists in the com pletest form, the attempt to remedy unwise legislation by resort to revolution, is totally out been perpetrated in Kansas, to the occasional of place ; inasmuch as existing legal institutions afford more prompt and efficacious means

I confidently trust that now, when the peace-Legislative Assembly of the Territory, or Congress, will see that no act shall remain on its statute-book violative of the provisions of the Constitution, or subversive of the great objects for which that was ordained and established struction or abridgment of all the constitutional rights, privileges and immunities of citizens The number and gravity of the acts of vio- of the United States, as contemplated by the

I refer you to the report of the Secretary of the Treasury for particular information con cerning the financial condition of the Government, and the various branches of the public service connected with the Treasury Department.

During the last fiscal year the receipts from customs were, for the first time, more than $64,000,000, and all sources, $73,918,141 which, with the balance on hand up to the 1st of July, 1855, made the total resources of the tures, including $3,000,000 in execution of the on account of the public debt, amounted to $60,172,401; and, including the latter, to 872,948,795, the payment on this account hav-

On the 4th of March, 1853, the amount of the public debt was $69,129,637 There was a subsequent increase of $2,750,000 for the debt of Texas-making a total of $71,879,937 um, has been discharged, reducing the debt to $20,737,129, all which might be paid within a year without embarrassing the public service ; but being not yet due, and only redeemis now enabled once more to devote himself in able at the option of the holder, cannot be

> On examining the expenditures of the last five years, it will be seen that the average, deducting payments on account of the public ico, has been but about $48,000 000. It is believed that, under an economical administration of the Government, the average expendiincrease should occur. The Acts granting bounty lands will soon have been executed. while the extension of our frontier settlements the revenue from customs so as not to excee > reduction is imperative, and again urge it up-

The amount of reduction, as well as the man-sideration the revisioa of the revenue laws.

prepared under the direction of the Sec etary

of the Treasury, and also legislation upon som

special questions affecting the business of that department, more especially the enactment of or papers from the files of the Government, and requiring all such books or papers, and all other public property, to be turned over by the

on the consideration of Congress.

Marshal for Kansas, has reached Washington, and has been accepted. Great efforts are being made to have him re-appointed in spite of Geary shall be sustained.

Fellow citizens of the Senate and of the House of Representatives

The Constitution requires that the President shall, from time to time, not only recommend to the consideration of Congress such measures as he may deem necessary and expedient, but that he shall give information to them of the State of the Union. To do this duty fully involves exposition of all matters in the actual condition of the country, domestic or foreign, which essentially concern the general welfare. While performing his constitutional duty in this respect, the President does not speak mere ly to express personal convictions, but as the executive minister of the Government, enabled obligations, to scan with an impartial eye the United States.

Of the condition of the domestic interests of the Union, its agriculture, mines, manufactures, to say that the internal prosperity of the country, its continuous and steady advancement in institutions, and the predominent spirit of intelligence and patriotism, which, notwithstanding occasional irregularities of opinion or ac-tion resulting from popular freedom, has dis-I con America.

In the brief interval between the terminapresent Session of Congress, the public mind has been occupied with the care of selecting, for another constitutional term, the President and Vice-President of the United States.

The determination of the persons, who are of right, or contingently, to preside over the administration of the government, is, under our system, committed to the States and the people. We appeal to them, by their voice pronounced in the forms of law, to call whomsoever they will to the high post of Chief Magistrate.

And thus it is that as the Senators represent the respective States of the Union, and the members of the House of Representatives sion, the first was the strenuous agitation, by the subject. It was a mere clause of an act the explicit and solemn act of the sole sovereign authority of the Union.

the memoers of the House of Representative and out of it, of the Question of emancipation and out of it, of the question of emancipation and expression of legislation, received its final shape of the United State. Their election of him is in the Southern States. The second step in this path of evil consisauthority, and to undermine the fabric of the the State of California, and the organization clusion of those of the Northern States? Is of the Territories of New-Mexico, Utah and it the fact, that the former enjoy, compared Washington.

the time arrived for the organization of the accidental circumstances, as to be able to pro-Territories of Kansas and Nebraska. In the duce the supposed result, in spite of the as-tion, it had now at length come to be seen complishment, and of the more numerous popuclearly that Congress does not possess consti- lation of the Northern States ? tutional power to impose restrictions of this character upon any present or future State of enactment of new laws of restriction and con-

the Union. In a long series of decisions, on demn the repeal of old ones, in effect avers their the fullest argument, and after the most de- particular views of government have no selfliberate consideration, the Supreme Court of extending or self-sustaining power of their the United States has finally determined this own, and will go nowhere unless forced by act point, in every form under which the question of Congress. And if Congress do but pause could arise, whether as affecting public or pri-vate rights—in questions of the public do- if it venture to try the experiment of leaving main, of religion, of navigation, and of ser- men to judge for themselves what institutions vitude.

The several States of the Union are, by force of the Constitution, co-equal in domestic | if law of domestic relation in the State of Maine; no more can it in the State of Missouri. Any statute which proposes to do this is a mere nullity ; it takes away no right, it confers none. If it remains on the statute book unrepealed, it remains there only as a monument of error. remove imperfection from the statutes, with of civil liberty and self-government. out affecting, either in the sense of permission or of prohibition, the action of the States, or of their citizens.

Still, when the nominal restriction of this nature, already a dead letter in law, was, in terms, repealed by the last Congress, in a the contrary have disavowed all such intentions, clause of the act organizing the Territories of and have shrunk from conspicuous affiliation Kansas and Nebraska, that repeal was made the occasion of a wide-spread and dangerous

It was alleged that the original enactment being a compact of perpetual moral obligation, its repeal constituted an odious breach of faith. An act of Congress, while it remains unrepealed, more especially if it be constitutionally valid in the judgment of those functionaries whose duty it is to pronounce on that point, is undoubtedly binding on the conscience of each did, that they were incompatible with the comgood citizen of the Republic. But in what sense can it be asserted that the enactment in the Union.

question was invested with perpetuity and entitled to the respect of a solemn compact ?-No distinct contending powers of the Government, no separate sections of the Union, treating as such, entered into treaty stipulations on statute restriction upon the institutions of new and was passed by compromise of the conflict- States, by a geographical line had been repealing opinions or sentiments of the Members of ed, the country was urged to demand its res-

with the latter, such irresistibly superior vitali-Such was the state of this question, when ty, independent of climate, soil, and all other States. progress of constitutional inquiry and reflec- sumed moral and natural obstacles to its ac-

The argument of those who advocate the will best suit them ; if it be not strained up to perpetual legislative exertion on this point ; Congress proceed thus to act in a very spilegislative power. Congress cannot change a rit of liberty, it is at once charged with aiming to extend slave labor into all the new Territories of the United States.

Of course, these imputations on the intentions of Congress in this respect, conceived as they were in prejudice, and disseminated in passion, are utterly destitute of any justificaand a beacon of warning to the legislator and tion in the nature of things, and contrary to the statesman. To repeal it will be only to all the fundamental doctrines and principles

While therefore, in general, the people of the Northern States have never, at any time, arrogated for the federal government the power to interfere directly with the domestic condition of persons in the Southern States, but on with those few who pursue their fanatical objects avowedly through the contemplated the former. Those disorders were not the conmeans of revolutionary change of the government, and with acceptance of the necessary consequences-a civil and servile war-vet many citizens have suffered themselves to be drawn into one evanescent political issue of agitation after another, appertaining to the same set of | ited itself, by acts of insurrectionary character, opinions, and which subsided as rapidly as they arose when it came to be seen, as it uniformly pacts of the Constitution and the existence of

Thus when the acts of some of the States to nullify the existing extradition law imposed upon Congress the duty of passing a new one, the country was invited by agitators to enter into party organization for its repeal ; but that agitation speedily ceased by reason of the impracticability of its object. So, when the

it the fact, that done with the best results, and my satisfaction Thereupon this enactment ceased to have the peculiar domestic institutions of the Sou- in the attainment of such results by such means, $48,000,000. I think the exigency for such war by doing everything in their power to de- the North or the South ; and so in effect it gor, that, wheresoever an avenue is freely open through the wisdom and energy of the present prive the Constitution and the laws of moral was treated on the occasion of the admission of to all the world, they will penetrate to the ex- Executive of Kansas, and the prudence, firmness and vigilance of the military officers on ner of effecting it, are questions of great and duty there, tranquility has been restored with- general interest ; it being essential to industrial out one drop of blood having been shed in its enterprise and general prosperity, as well as the dictate of obvious justice, that the burden accomplishment by the forces of the United of taxation be made to rest as equally as pos-

The restoration of comparative tranquility sible upon all classes, and all sections and inin that Territory furnishes the means of obterests of the country. serving calmly, and appreciating at their just I have heretofore recommended to your con-value, the events which have occurred there. and the discussions of which the Government of the Territory has been the subject.

We perceive that controversy concerning its future domestic institutions was inevitable ; that no human prudence, no form of legislation, a law to punish the abstraction of official books no wisdom on the part of Congress, could have prevented this.

It is idle to suppose that the particular proisions of their organic law were the cause of out-going officer to his successor : of a law reagitation. Those provisions were but the occa- quiring disbursing officers to deposit all public sion, or the pretext of an agitation, which was moneys in the vaults of the Treasury or in inherent in the nature of things. Congress other legal depositories, where the same are legislated upon the subject in such terms as conveniently accessible ; and a law to extend were most consonant with the principle of popu- existing penal provisions to all persons who lar sovereignty which underlies our government. may become possessed of public money by de-It could not have legislated otherwise without posit or otherwise, and who shall refuse or negdoing violence to another great principle of onr lect, on due demand, to pay the same into the institutions, the inprescriptible right of equali- Treasury. I invite your attention anew to ty of the several States. each of these o' jects.

We perceive, also, that sectional interests The army during the past year has been so and party passions, have been the great imconstantly employed against hostile Indians in pediment to the salutary operation of the or- various quarters, that it can scarcely be said, ganic principles adopted, and the chief cause with propriety of language, to have been a of the successive disturbances in Kansas. The peace establishment. Its duties have been assumption that, because in the organization satisfactorily performed, and we have reason of the Territories of Nebraska and Kansas, to expect, as a result of the year's operations, Congress abstained from imposing restraints greater security to the frontier inhabitants than upon them to which certain other Territories has been hitherto enjoyed. Extensive combihad been subject therefore disorders occurred nations among the hostile Indians of the Terin the latter Territory, is emphatically contraritories of Washington and Oregon at one time dicted by the fact that none have occurred in threatened the devastation of the newlyformed settlements of that remote part of the sequence in Kansas, of the freedom of selfcountry. From recent information, we are government conceded to that Territory by permitted to hope that the energetic and suc-Congress, but of unjust interference on the cessful operations conducted there will prevent part of persons not inhabitants of the Territc- such combinations in future, and secure to ry. Such interference, wherever it has exhib- those Territories an opportunity to make stear dy progress in the development of their agrior of obstruction to processess of law has been cultural and mineral resources. repelled or suppressed, by all the means which Legislation has been recommended by me the Constitution and the laws place in the on previous o casions to cure defects in the exhands of the Executive. isting organization, and to increase the efficien-In those parts of the United States where, cy of the army, and further observation has by reason of the inflamed state of the public mind, false rumors and misrepresentations have but served to confirm me in the views then expressed, and to enforce on my mind the conthe greatest currency, it has been assumed that viction that such measures are not only proper it was the duty of the Executive not only to but necessary.

I have, in addition to invite the attention of suppress insurrectionary movements in Kansas, but also to see to the regularity of local Congress to a change of policy in the distribuelections. It needs little argument to show tion of troops, and to the necessity of providthat the President has no such power. All ing a more rapid increase of the military arm government in the United States rests substan- ament. For details of these and other subted of acts of the people of the Northern Congress. But if it had authority over men's toration, and that project also died almost with cleations is liable to be impaired by the intru-