The Horse in the Stable.

If one would have a good horse on the road, he must take care of him in the stable. To the man who is fond of that noble animal, the horse, the stable is no mean place which is the home of his faithful servant.

This building need not have the embellishment of architecture, nor be made air tight; but it should be comfortable—made to promote the comfort of its occupant. It should be well ventilated, by allowing a draught of fresh air constantly to pass through it, especially during the warmer months.

Plaster of Paris used freely about the stable is quite desirable, both on the score of comfort and profit. It is cruel to foster a noble horse in a stable where the air is suffocating, on account of noxious gases constantly generating and escaping for want of a few quarts of some absorbent.

The floor of the stall should not have much inclination—only enough to allow the water to pass off. The more level the surface on which a horse stands the better.

It is said that "sprung knees" are occasioned partly by standing on steep floors in the stable. That such a floor is not pleasant for the horse, is clearly seen in the fact that when the horse will stand across his stall, in order to find the most level position.

Let the horse feel as naturally as possible in the stable. He has been furnished with a long neck, in order that he may reach down to feed, as he does in the pasture, and not that he may reach up, and pull-out a small lock of hay from the rack.

The best horsemen say—feed a horse as you do yourself. Give him his breakfast, dinner and supper, with nothing between meals. It is a mistaken kindness that keeps him continually before a horse. When he has more hay before him than he can eat up clean, he wastes it, or eats more than his system requires.

A horse should have enough to eat and then, if not in use, should stand three or four hours with nothing before him. Such a course of treatment keeps his appetite keen, and he relishes his dinner.

Let him have a generous supply of good bedding. A horse enjoys a good nice bed as much as a man, and why should he not have it? A good horse deserves it. Because he cannot complain sleeping in the wet and dirt of the stable, or on hard plank, let no man think that his horse does not appreciate such favors as a good bed. He will lie down during the day occasionally, if he is well cared for. For summer use, saw-dust makes excellent bedding. It is cool, sweet and even; and also keeps the stall in a healthy condition.

A supply of fresh, clean water is indispensable to the comfort of man and beast. I have noticed that my horse drinks the most heartily after eating his supper, about eight o'clock in the evening.

Grooming is one of the civilities of the stable, and ought to be attended to daily. It not only causes a horse to look well, but it promotes health. A faithful groomer is equal to two quarts of oats.

Such attention paid to a good horse by no means less "casting pearls before swine." He who does it and treats his horse kindly, is sure of his reward.—Vineyard Farmer.

GIVE HENS MEAT.—Many persons complain that their hens will not lay, and that, notwithstanding their assiduity in furnishing them with all the articles ordinarily recommended to insure fecundity, the eggs they produce will not "half pay the expenses." Now, we presume there is something lacking, or the fowls would not run their owners in debt. It is not generally understood, even by those who profess to be most deeply versed in the mysteries of "henology," that the hen being omnivorous, requires, to insure fecundity, a very liberal allowance of meat! When enjoying her liberty in the fields, pastures, or door-yards, the principal part of her sustenance is derived from insects, worms, &c. She partakes but sparingly at such times of grain; and, often, when that article is supplied, leaves it for the more inviting food which nature supplies her with, in her favorite haunts. Now, if we confine her where the natural propensity for this description of food cannot be gratified, even though we supply the best of grain, and in abundance, she will cease to lay. The privation affects her health, and will necessarily be an end of profit until the deficiency is supplied. When fresh meat or fresh fish cannot be supplied, the common scraps of the butcher, which are hard and compact, can be kept any length of time, answer all the desired purposes.—New England Farmer.

WHAT SHADE TREES TO PLANT.—For open streets and ground, the following list comprises the most choice collection. We place first in order those which we consider the best, all things taken into account: Silver-leaf maple, oriental plane, English and American elms, tulip-trees, sycamore maples, sugar maples, pin oak, scarlet oak, burr oak, catalpa, linden, deciduous cypress, liquid amber or sweet-gum, laburnum, cucumber, magnolia, Kentucky coffee tree, &c. We omit the evergreens, as we recommend setting them in spring, unless it be done early in autumn. Most of the above trees can be obtained of first-class nurserymen, and they may all be set in spring, but we prefer this season of the year, if it can be done before the ground becomes solid.

The silver-leaf maple, in its foliage, somewhat resembles the silver-leaf poplar, and is by many persons preferred to it. It is the most rapid growing of the maples.

The other maples are well known as strong, robust growing trees, with thick, dense foliage, holding on to late in the autumn; and they are among the most desirable of shade-trees.

Mrs. Dubois, in describing an insane tom cat, says: "He dashed under the bed, where he converted his eyes into two balls of phosphorus, his tail into a bologna sausage, while his voice assumed an 'unsartificial' that reminded her of the old scratch himself." She shot him with the stop-pail.

THE ELECTRO CHEMICAL BATH, DIRECT & TO-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE.

JAMES HARRIS, Electrician, of Towanda, respectfully informs the public that he has lately procured from the celebrated Electro-Magnetic Bath, which has proven to be one of the most important and wonderful discoveries of the age, from its ability to extract mineral matter from the system.

Some eight years ago, a physician of Cincinnati discovered the process of extracting mineral matter from the system, by galvanism; and recently M. Verge, of New York, an eminent chemist, has made large quantities of mineral matter, which he has named "Verge's Mineral Matter."

He then applied the same means to other similarly affected, with like results. His success exceeded his most sanguine expectations, for not only did these patients recover from their ailments, but they were cured of the most stubborn and chronic diseases, and were the result of mineral matter, and some were cured of Rheumatism, Paralysis, Palsy, Painter's Colic, Chronic Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Scrofula, Cancer, Neuritis in all its forms, Salt Rheum and Humors of all kinds.

He has also S. B. Smith's newly invented DIRECT AND TO-FRO ELECTRO MAGNETIC MACHINE, which is a great improvement on the Magnetic Machine heretofore in use. With the aid of the Bath and Machine, we have at command all the available medical efficiency of Electricity. The medical power of the Machine is very great, in introducing medicines into the system through the pores of the skin—applying it directly to the parts affected, and in the treatment of the most stubborn and chronic diseases, such as Rheumatism, Paralysis, Palsy, Painter's Colic, Chronic Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Scrofula, Cancer, Neuritis in all its forms, Salt Rheum and Humors of all kinds.
