Mysterious Murder of Dr. Burdell in New York.

One of the most mysterious and savage murders on record was perpetrated in one of the most respectable streets in the city of New York on Friday night or Saturday morning, the victim being Dr. Harvey Burdell, a dentist of repute and a man of property, whose office was at No. 31 Bond street. On going to the office about 8 o'clock Saturday morn-ing, the boy who did the chores of Dr. Burdell's office found his employer lying dead and horribly mutilated in the hall near the outside door. The horrible discovery was soon made known, and naturally created a great excitement in the vicinity.

No clue has been obtained to the murderer or murderers. But that the murder was a most cold blooded, desperate and fiendish one is evident from the condition of the corpse and the room The Doctor was a man of independent fortune ; but as none of the valuables about his person or the rooms he occupied had been taken, it is evident that robbery was not the object of the demon which did the deed, although it is rumored that the Doctor had had some controversies with a person with whom he dealt in reference to money matters. It is impossible, too, that the fact that other people lived and lodged in the house, and that such a murder could not have been committed without creating a great deal of noise, may aid in discovering the brutal and savage perpetrator of the deed. There were pools of blood around the floor and the body was covered with blood.

The tongue protruding from the mouth of the corpse gives presumptive evidence that before the horrid work was cousummated, the Doctor had been strangled. One hand was nearly severed from the wrist, and a closer examination revealed fifteen stabs upon the body

The Doctor was a man about 48 years of age, temperate in habits and agreeable in man-

It appeared in the evidence taken before the Coroner that a Mrs. Cunningham, kept the house which was owned by Dr. Burdell and in thes for the rights of White labor, the clarion which he had his office and sleeping apartments. Mrs. C. testified that she had been secretly married to Dr. B. but owing to some disagreement he took his meals at the Metropolitan Hotel since September last. The in- who doubted. If there has been a true soldier mates of the House were Mrs. Cunningham in the cause of Freedom, that man is PRESTON and two daughters, Mr. Snodgrass, Mr. Eck- KING. el. and servant girl : and neither of them heard any noise or disturbance during the night .--They all were at breakfast Saturday morning as usual, except Mr. Eckel, who had gone out before breakfast, an unusual thing for him.

After the murder of the Doctor, Mrs. Cunningham produced, before the Coroner's inquest, a certificate of marriage with him a few weeks ago-but the minister who married her. and a servant who was present, have failed to haps, having much the greatest renown, as a recognize either the corpse or a daguerrotype leader. The course of King has been straightlikeness as the person to whom she was married, and the impression is strong that Eckel was the man, and that he assumed the name of Dr. Burdell for a particular purpose. If indulged in no schemes of political sagacity, this should be proved to be the case, it would, which seemed to the ambitious to lead to powin our opinion, go far towards fixing the murder on them. There is no doubt that Burdell was jealous of Eckel, or that he had cause to He was evidently tired of the people in his house, and had a written agreement from reward in the respect of both friends and op-Mrs. Cunningham to leave on the first of May, ponents, and the great State of New-York which he certainly would not have desired if he had been married to her. This agreement was among the papers stolen from his private drawer, which he always kept locked, by Mrs. abundance of his wisdom, has trimmed with Cunningham. If we add to this an expression such egregious inconsistency, that he has bemade by Eckel to Mrs. Cunningham at table one day, that "it would be little matter if he (the Doctor) did get a knock, if it could be done handy," we have pretty strong evidence that the inmates of the house were depraved, with whom he is now connected. The two afand that there was an unfriendly feeling towards ford capital illustrations of the honest, upright, slop has been found beneficial. the Doctor-of whose company they were evidently tired, and a portion of whose money By the way this latsired to pos ter idea we derive from other testimony which we have not room to publish.

TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE. - Four persons burnd to death .- The Elmira Gazette of the 27th ultimo says : One of our employees, who was at Bath yesterday, brings us the particulars of a melancholy accident and loss of life which occurred on Bonny Hill, about four miles south of Bath, on Wednesday of last week. Elder Havens was engaged in boiling a cough preparation, which contained some ingredients of a combustible nature. By some means the preparation took fire, instantly enveloping the whole room in flames. There were five persons in the room-Elder Havens, his wife, two daughters, aged two and fourteen, and a son aged five years. A stranger passing by discovered the fire a few moments after it occur red, and immediately rushed to the aid of the inmates, and succeeded in rescuing them from the flames and bringing them out of the house and placing them on the snow. They were most shockingly burned, and two of the children survived but a few moments ; Mrs. Havens died the same evening, and Elder H. died the next morning ; the remaining child is yet alive, but so badly burned that its recovery is considered doubtful.

Having thus given a brief summary of the case as it stands, we subjoin an analysis of the evidence down to Thursday evening, from the New-York Herala :--

1. The fact of the murder, which is admitted

2d. The circumstances previous to the murder, and on the night and morning after it. A large amount of evidence is brought forward to show that there was a bad state of feeling will be destroyed. The Chinese, on their part, between Dr. Burdell and Mrs. Cunningham have set fire to the foreign factories, and the and Eckel. The servants testify to improper whole of that part of the city would appear to conduct on the part of Mrs. C. and Eckel. It appears that the Doctor hated the whole party, and they all had ill feeling against the Dr. The antecedents of Mrs. Cunningham, are proved to have been bad. A neighbor swears that hand, were about to pour shells and rockets he heard the cry of murder before eleven, when all the inmates of the house, except the servants, were up. The servant swears that she was awakened by an unusual noise, and this was probably in her first light sleep. Other described by Doctor and Mrs. Main.

For the benefit of such, if any such Jury approved of having a building erected cord of the proceedings of the House during for the public offices, and accommodation and the present session, that Snobble's statement was false.

In the official organ of Congress, The Congressional Globe, of December 23, 1856, page 161, we find this record of proceedings in the House of Representatives :

"The following bills and resolutions from the Senate were then severally taken from the Speaker's table, read a first and second time, and referred as indicated below." And on the succeeding of the Globe, among the bills so named as " taken from the Speaker's table," the Toombs bill is included, as follows : " An Act (No. 356) to authorize the peo ple of the Territory of Kansas to form a constitution and State government preparatory to their admission into the Union on an equal footing with the original States. Referred to the Committee on Territories."

So it appears that the "Toombs bill " first came into the hands of Mr. Grow, as Chairman of the Committee on Territories, December 23, 1856, long after the doughface chambridge, from Pernambuco, reports having spoken the barque Essex, from Boston, for Rio, which had taken two seamen from the raft belonging to the lost steamer Lyonnais.
