The Destitution in Michigan.

[From the Detroit Tribune, May 15.]

A call, signed by some of our most promineat citizens, appears in this evening's Tribune, for a meeting to consider the best means of affording relief to the famishing settlers in the northern counties. Our former statements of the destitution and suffering in that region have been most painfully confirmed. We shall not speak in the language of hyperbole, when we state that the number of families in Gratiot, and adjoining counties, are perishing for want of even the meanest food. This statement is made on the authority of the presiding elder of the Methodist Church of that section. in a letter to the Rev. Mr. Mahon, of Lansing, who related the facts in a public meeting held in that place, on the night before

One poor woman, who had with a mother's devotedness had given her two little children sh all the food she could procure, died a few days since in Gratiot county of absolute starvation, and her children, when found where too weak to be revived, and shared a mother's fate. Other citizens have painfully struggled into Clinton county on foot, begging for food. Some of them had lived for a number of days on leeks alone, and the stench of their bodies was almost insufferable. The whole country in the counties is strippled of food, and even ose in the best circumstances can procure nothing to eat but boiled pumpkins and molasses, while the poorer classes, where actual want has overtaken them, eke out a misera-
