To the Editor of the American Agriculturist. In response to your solicitation for practical information relative to the making of sugar from the maple I offer my mite. It is well known that Maple Sugar is one of the staple productions of the Western portion of the "Southern Tier" of New York. It has of course, been a matter of no little interest to our farmers to manufacture in the best manner, both as to quality, and economy, an article of so much importance, and many have promptly adopted the means and appliances which ingenuity has suggested and experience proved worthy. The first premium awarded at the late State Fair, was given for an article made in Allegany County. In offering a statement of the process and implements used, I give those adopted and used by those engaged somewhat extensively in sugar making, and who make a very superior article.

In tapping, a 5-8 or 3 4 auger bit is used, making the hole 1 1-2 or 2 inches deep. The spout is made of hard wood, four or five inches long, a hole bored with a small bit through its length, and turned in a lathe, one end to fit the hole made by the bit in the tree, and the other with a head, over which the wire loop attached to one edge of the bucket, is slipped and held. The end of the spout is made quite tapering, or "stunt" as it is sometimes termed so as fill the hole perfectly tight at its entrance in the bark of the tree. This allows all the sap to pass through the spout, and prevents its escape otherwise. To "freshen" another hole is bored and other spout inserted near the first, so that the same bucket receives the sap from both.

The buckets are usually made of pine, hooped with ash or iron, and sometimes the outside is painted. On one side at the upper edge of the bucket, a wire loop is inserted, large enought to pass over to the end of the spout after it is firmly driven into the tree, by which the bucket is house. This discovery that is short in Castr will be paid.

Towarda, April 2. 1857.

Coal and Wood Cooking, Coal and Wood Parlor, Dining Room, Six Plate and Cylinder, ever brought into Northern the New York; all of which we are now prepared to sell at wholesale or retail, at as low are so, which the same befound this side of New-York, from the fact that all our goods were bought of first hands and in full packages and large quantities, that gives us an advantage over smaller purchasers and bry Goods dealers, that will enable us to sell from 5 to 15 per cent. less than any of them, which advantage we shall offer to any who will favor us with a call before purchasers and retail. All kinds of Job Work done to order, on short notice and warranted. Warke cheap—one door South of Pox's, and nearly opposite Tracy & Moore's, Main street, in the new Wood Bod and Country Produce, old Iron, Brass, Brittania and Country Produce, old Iron, Brass, Br its length, and turned in a lathe, one end to fit firmly driven into the tree, by which the buck et is hung. This dispenses with the sheet iron or tin spout, the gouge, and the nail. Many furnish covers to each bucket, which are made from blocks of pine, sawed of the proper length from which thin pieces are riven with a shingle frow. On one side or edge of these thin pieces a notch is cut, through which, when properly placed on the buckets, the sap drops from the spout. This cover excludes all rain and snow, leaves and bark. When the "Sugar Camp" is inclosed (and all should be,) and all kinds of stock excluded, the bucket should be hung near the ground, but otherwise, they may be hung out of the reach of sheep and swine, and reasonably from cattle.

joined by rivets, the sides and ends turned up five inches, a heavy wire around the upper edge in the manner of a dripping pan. Iron loops are riveted on at proper distances to serve as handles. Three of these pans placed on a well constructed arch, the two back pans plac ed each its height higher than the one immediately before it, small fancets placed in the two rear pans so that the back one may be discharged into the one next forward it, and that into the front one is found to be a great

A large store tub, placed so that it will stand its whole height above the upper or back pan, should be provided with a good cover, a good faucet and spout reaching from the tub to the pan. By the faucet and spout the sap may flow from the store tub to the upper pan, and from that to the second, and so to the third or front pan. The supply may be regulated by the faucets in each, so that the flow to all will be regular and sufficient. For gathering, a sled should be provided with a moderate sized tub firmly fastened upon it, which tub should have the upper head placed four or five inches below the upper end. Two 2-inch holes should be bored through this head. In gathering, a team attached to the sled passes along the roads that traverse t'e camp at proper intervals, the sap is taken from the buckets in pails, and poured on the upper head of the gathering tub, and passes through the holes until the tub is full. It is then drawn to the proper place to be discharged into the store tob. The discharge is through an inchand-a-fourth hole in the bottom of the gathering tub, by a spout reaching to the top of the store tub. It will be seen that the ground where the "camp" is built should be uneven so that the store tub may be placed above the highest pan on the arch, and the gathering tub when standing on the sled already to discharge may stand a little above the top of the store tub. The discharge from the gathering tub is closed by a long "plug" which passes through one of the 2-inch holes in the upper head into the 1 3-4 hole in the bottom. The spout from the gathering tub should be well made, with the end receiving the discharge tightly covered, and a hole through the cover large enough to receive the discharge and not waste. This spout is placed on the sled-runner and easily and firmly secured. When the season is somewhat advanced, the weather warm, and the buds begin to grow, it is often difficult to make sugar. The difficulty is obviated by putting a spoonful of quick lime in each bucket. The sap becomes sweet, and the syrup granulates freely and is quite as white and pleasant as ever. In " sugaring off" the syrup is carefully strained into a medium sized canldron kettle, and carefully reduced until it becomes sugar, some adding milk or other substances to " cleanse," and others rejecting it entirely. Indeed, when covers are used on the buckets, the gathering and store tubs, the pans well placed on a well constructed arch under cover, and the whole process conducted with the utmost neatness and order, the ' cleansing process" is quite unnecessary

The cost of buckets and spouts is $12 1-2 to $15 per hundred, according to materials and workmanship; pans $3, to $5 each, according to size, and quality of materials. Iron bound pine buckets are preferable to tin, and cost much less. The pans made entirely of iron, in the manner described, are far better than those with wood sides, less liable to leak, easier kept rlean, sweeter, and more easier to handle.— The cost for the same size and quality of iron is not materially more.

With this suit of apparatus, perfect cleanliness may attend the whole process, the sap and syrup are not stained, embittered, nor soured by a combination of sap, rain, snow, leaves, buds, coal, and ashes. An artiste is readily and economically produced, almost rivaling the snow in whiteness and purity, pleasant to the sight, and exceedingly pleasant to the taste, as I hope you may have the opportunity of

" Fair handed Spring unbosoms every grace."
