Operations for March.

Up to this time, (Feb. 13,) the Winter has been so entirely different from anything in our experience that we are at a loss to know how to fill out this Calender. Of snow we have rearcely enough to keep one in mind of how it looks, or what are its effects. We are, however, even yet looking for a parting glimpse of Old Winter's peculiar features. Supposing that this will be the case, there is work enough on hand that needs attention. There is timber to be got out of the woods for farm purposes ; wood, bark and timber to take to market; and the year's supply of fuel to be looked after, &c., &c. The farm animals need as MANURES—Cart to the lots where they are to be applied; dump in large heaps and cover with muck or plaster. Keep the manufactories at work, from the horse and cow stables to the hog pens, privies and hen roosts. A little time spent among these daily, adding muck, to the hog pens, privies and neu roomed to the hog pens, privies and neu roomed to the hog pens, privies and throwing into heaps under cover will pay a good interest in the next corn crop.

Maps of the Farm may profitably be made by children during the evenings. Let them mark off the different lots, locate the buildings represent the orchard and woodland, on a large sheet of paper, and on this mature your plans sheet of paper, and on this mature your plans for the coming season. treading up and guawing off at this season. Plow when the frost is out and the ground is dry. Avoid turning over clayey soils in a li wet state unless you want to make bricks.

POTATOES-Have seed in readiness. If raised for many years on the same farm, try an exchange with those of a different locality. Both the common and sweet varieties should be planted South during this month. Sheep will perhaps be dropping their lambs during the latter part of this mouth. Provide warm quarters for them. Feed roots or grain to those with lamb, and keep seperate from other stock. Sugar Maples-Tap when freezing nights are followed by thawing days. Have everything in readiness and boil down as fast as it can be collected from the trees.

Tools of all kinds, working gear for horses and oxen, wagons, carts, &c., should be procured or made at once.

Turnips, Carrots, &c , are, we trust, still in sufficient quantity to furnish a daily supply to milch cows, sheep and horses. They will not come amiss for young stock or working oxen.

Wood-The favorable Winter has been a good season, to collect the "down stuff" in the forest. Finish obtaining the year's supply early and have it cut up at the door and housed or sheltered from rain, for seasoning and use .- American Agriculturist.

Corn for seed should be saved early in and well filled-leave enough husks to the cob to braid a strings that will make a peck of shelled corn. Let it be hung in an airy place until thoroughly cured. Should indications of an early freeze threaten, remove it from that danger for the time being, and then hang up again until cured. Keep in an airy room until wanted to plant. Never save corn for seed that has been in a pile in barn or field even twelve hours-it may have sweat. It is wisdown to have a few years surplus stock of seed GEO. H. BUNTING, on hand, saved when we have a sound crop, for even this year's corn may not ripen, and old seed is as good as new. I have sown for green fodder this year, seed of ten years old and upwards, and it looks well. You have my experience; hear to and heed it, and I trust your corn will not fail to come for years.

No man ruins his health without bringing the consequences down upon himself. Like Samson, he destroys the temple, and buries himself in the ruins. Cover all seeds with at least their ownthickness of soil, but as some of it gets washed off, you must allow for it.

TOWANDA HARDWARE CUTLERY, IRON AND STOVE STOPE.

Have working oxen in good condition for the heavy labors approaching. Continue to give roots with cut hay, or straw, and ground feed.

Cellars—Cleanse from any accumulations of dirt or decaying vegetables, and sort over fruits, potatoes, &c.

Clover—Sow on fields which received timothy seed last Fall. If sown upon a light snow a more even seeding can be had, and the melting of the snow will carry the seed in the ground. From six to twelve quarts per nere, according as the ground is a loam or clay soil, is a suitable quantity for sowing.

Draining—Commence as soon as the frost will permit, and thus make the swales and bog lands the most productive portions of the farm.
