Colle in Horses .- Colie in horses is a very common disease, and if taken in time may be easily cured in most cases. It is not unfrequently confounded with inflammation of the bowels but is easily distinguished, as follows ; Colie has no increase of the pulse, which is not over fifty a minute; the animal often rolls : the disease intermits, and there is out little fever .---With inflammation of the bowels there is much fever: the pulse is sometimes a hundred a minute, the attack is gradual, and the disease does not intermit.

When colic arises from bad food, a pint or so of a solution of saleratus will aften afford H. A. BURBANK'S BAKERY entire relief. As it assumes more of a spasmodic character, peppermint and ginger may be added. We have used with entire immediate success, a small spoonful of saleratus, the same quanti'y of ginger, and a tea-spoonful of peppermint, added to a pint of nearly hot water, and given from a junk bottle. Powdered charcoal is one of the best and safest mediums for any disease resulting from derangement of the digestion, and two or three ounces or more mixed with water, may be given at any time with great advantage.

Inflammation of the bowels is generally in-creased and rendered fatal by irritating med- R the public generally, that he has removed his Inflammation of the bowels is generally inicines.
