Horrible Tragedy in New York.

One of the most bloody and horrible trage dies which ever took place in this city enacted at 217 West Thirtieth street, last night. Francis A. Gouldy a young man, ever. It is said his father has urged him to twenty years old, literally butchered the family undoubtedly killing his father and one servant girl, inflicting injuries which may prove fatal to his stepmother, two brothers, and another fellow." They say he was never regarded as servant girl, and crowning the terrible crime with self-murder.

The family consisted of Francis Gouldy, Jane A., his second wife, three sons, Francis A., the homicide : Nathan fourteen years old; Charles Wesley, five years old; a daughter, and four years old and two servant girls, Elizabeth Carr and Joanna Murphy.

It appears that the young man Francis had contracted some habits which displeased his father. He was out too late at night and let him in when he came home of nights and, as soon as he heard the officers enter. perhaps rebuke him for his unseasonable hours. It is stated also, that Frank, as he was called yesterday took a bank book from his father's drawer, which the gentleman pronounced no better than stealing. Whatever the provocation or cause, Frank went home about ten o'clock last night. The family had retired with the exception of the father, who was sitting in a front room on the second floor. His wife was in bed in the room adjoining in the rear, and the two small children were in a crib in the room with their

Mrs. Gouldy says that as Frank came in she was just retiring, and he said to her, "Why, mother, are you up vet ?" " Yes, Frank," was two, and finally heard a heavy fall on the floor. She had just got into bed, and thought to herself. "Is it possible Frank has struck his father?" and at that moment Frank came into her room, partially raised the netting from around the bed, and dealt her a heavy blow on the head with a hatchet. She screamed and sprang up, and he repeated the blow twice when she fell heavily to the floor, breaking down the netting as she fell.

The murderer then passed through the hall bed-room, where his two brothers slept. They had both got up hearing the noise, and he struck each a murderous blow on the head with the same hatchet he had used upon his father and mother. He left them both prostrate and covered with blood, and passed on to the stairs and ascended to the third floor.

The apartments on the third floor were occupied by himself, his sister Mary and the two servants. The servants had heard the noise and were in the hall of the upper floor as he went up stairs. He immediately attacked them with the same fatal hatchet prostrating each with a frightful blow upon the head.

Mary, hearing the struggles and screams of the servants, opened the door and, looking out saw the girls covered with blood but did not recognize her brother. Believing it to be a burglar, she locked her door and remained in her room. Had she known it was her brother, she would have rushed out, in which case she would probably have been murdered.

After committing this series of atrocious crimes, it is believed the homicide went down stairs, pulled off his boots and coat, and donned slippers and morning gown, in which costume he returned to his room. But Mary meantime, had not been idle .-

She had raised her window and cried "murder !" And officers Morehouse and Hull, of the Twentieth Ward Police, who were standing on the corner of ninth avenue and Thirty-first street heard her cries

They immediately went to the house, but the door was locked, which delayed their en trance for some time; but they succeeded with some labor in forcing the door.

It is probable that Frank heard them and found that he was detected. Be this as it may, before they found him he took a three-shooter which was heavily loaded, and placing the muzzle to his head fired. The ball entered above the right ear and passed out just over eye, causing instantaneous death.

The alarm having been given, the neighbors rushed to the spot, and beheld a scene of blood and horror too painful to describe.

The father lay upon the floor entirely uncon scions with his face and head bathed in blood. In the next room the mother lay helpless, and in the hall bed-room the two boys were prostrate, and one of them senseless, and in the upper hall the two servants lay also covered with blood, one of them tossing her arm in delirium; while the author of the appalling tragedy lay lifeless on the floor of own room, still grasping the fatal pistol in his right hand

The two small children and Mary were the only ones unharmed. As the affrighted neigh bors passed through the room in which the crib was, the little girl, two years old, sprang up and said pleasantly, "I am not hurt." The carpets and furniture in every room through which the murderer had passed, were stained with blood. Mr. Gonldy the father, was struck upon the left side of his skull, in two places, the axe entering into the substance of the brain. The patient is wholly unconscious, and all probabil-lity cannot recover. Mrs. Gouldy, the mother, who is enceinte, received three wounds upon the head, two of which were scalp wounds, from one to two inches in length. The third wound penetrated the substance of the brain about two inches above the right ear. Hopes are entertained of her recovery.

The boy Nathan received a blow on the right side of his head cutting up the scalp for three inches and detaching a large piece of the temporal bone. His condition is also extremely critical. Consciousness however, is perfect.

Charlie the boy of five, received a blow about an inch and a half from the median line, near the vertex, which communicated with the substance of the brain. The condition of the patient is comfortable, but dangerous.

The girl Elizabeth Carr, was dangerously wounded and probably cannot recover. Indeed the condition of all the victims of this unnatural crime is extremely critical, and it would not glorious victory for the cause of the people." be a matter of surprise if none of them should Frank, the murderer, was awakened by the revival last winter, and joined the church on probation, or "on trial," as it is more generally called. But he soon apparently lost all interest in religion, and returned to the habits which his father hoped he had renounced forattend family prayer in the evening, but that he has of late refused to do so. But Frank is spoken of by former acquaintances a " good a bad young man although he was rather wild. Others say the family feared his habits would lead him to some desperate act. It is, of course, impossible to conceive any adequate motive for this wholesale and horrid butchery. Two theories are presented : one, Mary Eliza fifteen ; two small children, two that he killed his father for the fancied injuries he had received at his hands and frenzied by the bloody deed killed all that came in his way. Another is, that he intended to leave no wit nesses of his crime and no heirs to his father's fortune, and finding that he had not succeeded wanted too much money. His father refused either in destroying the whole family or in conto give him a night key, but would get up and cealing the evidences of his guilt, killed himself
