(Correspondence of the Pres.) Washington, Nev. 11.

If this Central American business had not become an operation in the hands of specula-tors, each intent upon making money, the Gov-ernment would have little or no trouble. Gen eral Walker has been with us, manufacturing sympathy, as usual, and has got up a supply. best way to get at this bad min's character is to get our naval com nanders now in the Caribbean sea-not Commodore Paulding, who, gallant as he is, may speak somewhat from personal feeling-but those who have succeeded him; and if the result does not make the President ashamed of tolerating this man Walker near him. I will give up the argument He has been the cause of the loss of more innocent lives than any other man of our day and time. He has inflicted unheard of injuries upon our countrymen in Central America; and now he is about to go forth on a new expedition of rapine and spoil. Alternating in the bands of one speculator and then of another, he goes with any one who is ready to pay him the most. I am of the opinion that nothing will ever be done to effect a peaceful settlement of this question until the speculators are got rid of and Walker is punished, as he deserves to be. The whole affair is eminently disgraceful to the country.

The statement that Mr. Buchanan is ready to make peace with Judge Douglas is false. He does not intend it. I speak of what I know. An instance in proof of this assertion may be cited: Only a day or two before the election in Illinois he removed from the postoffice, at Jerseyville, in that State, Mr. C. S. Jackson, well known in your city, where he has resided for years, and where he is very respectably connected. Cause-his attachment to Douglas.

What renders Mr. Buchanan more furious however, is the awful manner in which he has been deceived by Cook, Leib, and Carpenter, the men to whom, by the advice of Cobb amd others, he has confided in Illinois. The son of Senator Fitch, of Indiana, was another of those worthies. He was the especial culumniator of yourself and others, and his speeches, coarse as they were, were transferred to his own home organ in Georgia, the Athens Banner, and editorially approved. A Georgian, now here, says the endorsement was sent from the Treasnry Department by Clayton himself. That these men, armed with all the power of the Federal Government, incited to labor from here, and written to by members of the Cabinet, and even by the President himself, have not been able to poll more than four thousand votes out of 245,000, is the proof alike of their own weakness and recklessness, and of the wickedness of the policy of the Administration. It is this that galls the President.

The New York Journal of Commerce, Baltimore Exchange, Providence Post, and others, are cutting loose from the Administration, and have already come out for Douglas. While this makes Mr. Buchanan very indignant-for all these papers adhered to him up to the moment of the Illinois election-it is exactly what he ought to have expected. They did their very best to uphold him; they even organized themselves against Douglas; but, after all they cannot resist the tide They give in reluctantly; but when we reflect that they were all the time quietly on our side, their declaration since the election is not to be wondered at.

Glancy Jones has returned to Reading a most unhappy man. I was wrong in stating that under the new diplomatic bill he could not be paid till he reached Vienna. He receives his salary from the date of his appointment and may stay as long as he pleases in old Berks, Uncle Samuel footing his bills.

We have the news of Mr. Haskin's election this morning. This is a very bitter pill. Mr. Fryor of the Richmond South, will now admit that your Tarrytown speech did not entirely break her neck, and she died. defeat your friend Haskins.

There is no doubt that the Southern people are resolved against Walker's new raid upon Central America. He has no sympathisers outside of a set of filibusters and disunionists.

There is a rumor upon good authority that Secretary Cobb will resign his office if Mr. Buchanan makes a move in favor of Pennsylassistance to our great interests, and that Clay- last, of disease contracted in Mexico. ton, his shadow, has circulated his sentiments far and wide. (Correspondence of the New York Times.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. The position assumed by the British Government relative to Nicaragna and American filibusters has created the liveliest interest here. The resistance threatened by the British forces in the Nicaragua waters is not the worst feature of the case. Mr. White has been assured that his boats could not navigate the San Juan if under the protection of General Walker .-Should they carry the filibuster flag I am as sured the boats will be seized and burnt by the British authorities. Walker regards all this as mere bluster to frighten him from his fixed purposes, and so pronounces it. Yet he laughs at it and his movements will not be varied in the slightest by all the threats the English Legation here can hurl against him. I am satisfied these are not empty threats .-Nor are they so regarded by our Government, No little excitement exists in the State Department in relation thereto. Mr. White has been required to make declaration that he is "not in the filibuster interest, nor will be countenance any violation of our neutrality laws." General Walker says the same thing. He denies any intention to violate the nentrality laws of the country, and declares his purpose to go to Nicaragua as a peaceable "emigrant." Thus we still find White and Walker in the same boat. A few days may develope something of importance.

The subject cho sen was "Democracy and Republics,"-a theme not quite as well suited to the popular taste, as some of the lecturer's other subjects. The lecture, however, was an able one, presenting many new and somewhat startling ideas, but on the whole calculated to interest an audience though they may dissent from the speaker's arguments, and fuil to see the force of his conclusions. "COURTSHIP AND MATRIMONY" is the title of a new work, just issued by the enterprising oublishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, from the portfolio of Robert Morris, Esq., the able editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer. In these days, it is gratifying to find a volume, like the present, wherein taste is unvitiated and sense undestroyed; in which simplicity of style and clearness of expression is retained, and which is written. not to excite the imagination or pander to the evil passions of our nature, but to inculcate lessons of wisdom, as well as to draw tears and move to laughter. We are reminded, in reading these essays, of the genial hearted Goldsmith. They contain the delicate fancy, the good sense, and the quiet humor which characterize Goldsmith's writings; and they are, moreover, with like correctness of language, They treat, beside that of courtship and matri mony, of a variety of subjects, from scenes and experiences in social life, and are particularly adapted for every day family reading. No book before the public contains sounder morality, or practical household wisdom more pleasantly expressed, and certainly there is no collection of essays, better adapted for general reading in the family. As the work has been most enthusiastically praised by such men as John Grigg, it is needless to say that we trust that all persons will extend to it their hearty patronage, by sending for it, the publishers will send a copy to any person, to any place, per mail,

The following paragraphs in the Chicago Herald, November 6, an administration organ, will lead those who propose uniting their fortunes with the new Douglas party, to see the latter suffered a loss of ten killed and several propriety of not hallooing until they are quite out of the woods, which event it appears may possibly not occur till 1860. "On the eve of going to press, we have re-

This is probably three national democrats to the lower human wretch, who well knew what won last killing three men, two women and four House, and assuring us, also, that three of the democratic senators holding over will, beyond doubt, oppose the re-election of Douglas. Ad-ded to this good news, we have the assurance that several of the senators and representatives inst elected, and supposed to be favorable to Douglas, will not support him, but will maintain the integrity of the democratic party of the country, by voting for Judge Breese, or some other good and reliable democrat

"This intelligence comes to us in such shape and from sources so reliable, that we canno doubt it-cannot doubt that Mr. Donglas will e defeated in his efforts to secure his re-election to the United States Senate.

"The true friends of the democratic party n the legislature, rather than throw a fire brand in the national councils of the party, will so vote as to prevent the election of either Douglas or Lincoln, and leave the matter open until 1860, when the democracy of the state will be better able to settle the controversy consistently with the welfare of the democratic

"We congratulate the Spartan band of national democrats in Illinois, and the demoracy of the country generally, upon this intelgence, and assure them they may rely upon its truthfulness. Douglas is defeated, and the democratic party will be safe from his disorganizing efforts after the next session of Congress, which will finally close his senatorial

NIAGARA FALLS-THE ROAD TO TERMINATION POINT FALLEN AWAY -We learn from the Hamilton Spectator, that constant change, the law of nature, reigns too at Ningara. On a visit to the Falls a day or two since, we observed another change has occurred, meriting at least a passing notice. Every sight-seer must recollect the path which, commencing below the brink of the ravine on the Canada side, almost opposite Prospect House, leads beneath Table Rock, and which those who desire to go "under the sheet of falling water" used to traverse in their waterproof habiliments.

It leads to Termination Point, as a spot a long distance under the cataract, was called, few day since, by a man named Fisher. The and the adventurer who dared air and flood to wound is supposed to be mortal. The cause of reach it, blinded by spray, deafened by the terrible roar which the beating of millions of tuns of water on the rocks below produces, used to receive a certificate of his having accomplished the feat. The oilskins are yet in requistion, the guides yet demand and receive their fees, and the certificates are yet given .-Termination Point, too, may yet exist. But no mortal being can visit it. It never could be seen from the shore end of the cavernous contested case between Blair and Barret, the tunnel-one side rock, the other water and the floor a composition of both-which lead thither. When first introduced, it was the practice to exhaust the air in these cases after the body had been put in, to secure them fully, it was said, against change by contact with the atmosphere. For the colored persons drowned at this place, was various reasons this practice has fallen into disuse, the only precautions now taken being to completely cool the remains before sealing From some neglect in this latter respect a circumstance took place not long ago, which, orignating here, is worth relating. The case, containing an adult, who had suddenly deceased while apparently in good health, was scaled up to be sent for interment to a neighboring phrey, was first taken up, and is not yet deci- State. The conveyance for half a day's ride was by railroad, and then by wagon for thirty miles. The day was warm and the road rough and much motion was doubtless given to the remains. The persons in charge stopped for a brief rest at a tavern, and were in the house when they, as well as all in the vicinity, were startled by a very loud report, and was found the burial case had by a rapid generation of gas, exploded with much violence, en irely blowing out the heavy French glass face plate, which it shattered into a thousand pieces.
