War or Peace in Europe.

News from Europe pours in upon us with fulness and rapidity. We have English papers to the 19th of March inclusive, by the mailsteamer Persia.

Respecting the war-question, there continued to be various speculations. The British Gov ernment have repeated their declaration in both Houses of Parliament, that they still saw no reason for apprehending that the Emperor Napoleon would break faith, and precipitate a war in Italy. Lord Cowley, the British Ambassador at Paris, had brought with him full assurances from Vienna that the Emperor of Austria would act only upon the defensive. This might be expected; he is more likely to be attacked than to attack. All that he demands, or expects, is full power to rule Austrian Italy just as he pleases.

Prussia and England, should hostilities commence, may be expected not to interfere unless their own interests are assailed. Prussie nas no location whatever in the south of Europe; while England, though with no Itali a posse sions, has such resting places as Gibraltar Malta, and the Ionian Islands. Time was when a sword could not be drawn, nor a shot fired, in Europe, but Eugland was certain to bristle up, like an britable bull dog, and rush into the contest, searcely earing on which side the fought, so that she fought, and reckless of the cost, though when she came to pay the bills her people grumbled terribly, and protestwhat is called "glory" lead them into such an expensive scrape.

Russia is said to have intimated that her policy, unless forced to deviate from it, will be strictly neutral. Yet it is reported that the Czar has strictly prohibited the sale of horses; which, as Austria wanted to purchase, shows no very friendly feeling. Austria, France and Sardinia are undoubtedly strengthening their armies, and making great preparations—to be ready in the event of hostilities breaking out. riage of Prince Napoleon with the Princess Clotilde, a secret treaty was made, whereby France promised to support Sardinia against Austria, whatever should happen, securing to Sardinia all conquests in Lombardy, providing that Savoy and Nice be transferred to France The doubtful thing about this is, that the particulars of such a treaty, if it had been made, would have been kept very secret.—Press.

EXCITING SCENE.—CAPTURE OF AN ALLEGED created about ten minutes before seven o'clock this morning by the capture of a quiet and inoffensive colored individual, in the Market House, by United States Deputy Marshal unfortunate colored man was immediately rushed to the depot and placed on board the train which was to leave at seven o'clock for Philadelphia, without being afforded an opportunity to say a word to a single friend. Upon hearing of the capture, we at once wended our way to the depot, and, after some hesitation, the Marshal condescended to show us his warrant, which had been issued by the Slave Commissioner, Hoke Longstreth, commanding the Marshal to capture one Daniel Dangerfield, late of the State of Virginia, setting forth Simpson. Consequently these officers came here and captured the individal in question, without producing any evidence whatever that where he has little hopes of a fair and unbiassed trial. The person arrested has been living, for a number of years, with the Ruther fords, a few miles from town, bears an unexentionable character and has proved an industrious man. He has been married about six years, and had two children, both of whom are dead-the last one dying only last Friday. The news of the capture spread rapidly through town; and upon coming to the look at her husband, who was sitting quietly in the cars, manacled in irons : and there we betunate wife gave vent to her feelings of sor- tain. row at being thus suddenly separated from her husband. Her piteous cries brought tears in the eyes of many bystanders, who had before calmly looked on. If this man had been allowed a hearing here, no one would have complained. All the testimony in his behalf could have been procured here without expense or trouble; while on the other hand he will be ushered before a strange tribunal, where none of his friends can be present. A gentleman here at once telegraphed to a distinguished member of the Bar in Philadelphia, and we see that some show of justice is done to the unfortunate colored man .- Harrisburg Tel.

Thompson, of New Jersey, one of the most faithful adherents, has at last become disgusted with the hollow-heartedness of the Execu-The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says that no man cin be pointed out who is sincerely attached to James Buchanan, either in Washington or elsewhere. At his own home in Lancaster, he has scarcely seen at the White House, and none of the men who are known to have adhered to the fortunes of the President in those dark days, when he crouched at their feet begging for their support. What the condition of affairs is in Philadelphia I need not repeat. Even the people who hold offices under him, while they may fear, do not admire or esteem him; and of those who do not hold office, scarcely one can be found among those who were proud to be numbered as his friends three years ago, who does not express sorrow or indignation at the course he has pursued. In Washington, I venture to assert that the President cannot point to an honest personal friend. Messrs. Bright and Slidell are supposed to be the nearest to him, and yet those who know these gentlemen shrug their shoulders at the slightest suggestion of any cordiality between them and the head of the Government.

NEXT TO A MIRACLE .- Mr. BUCHANAN'S Administration has done what everybody, until within the last few months, deemed absolutely impossible. It has incited a large number of time Gen. A.'s Administration was considered the weakest and the worst the country had everknown. Since then it has been so far surpassed that people a tually look back upon it with envious admiration .- N. Y. FROM HARRISBURG.

[Correspondence of the Bradford Reporter.] HARRISBURG, April 1, 1859.

E. O. Goodstch :- The committee of Ways and Means have reported resolutious authorizing the appointment of a committee to purchase a lot of ground adjoining the Executive mansion. The House refused to proceed to its consideration. The prevailing opinion is that enough has already been expended for the executive grounds in that locality. The purchase will not be made this year.

The same committee reported a bill authorizing the State Treasurer to pay the Towarda Bridge Company the balance due them for rebuilding said bridge. The bill was taken up on Tuesday and passed. It goes to the Senate

The bill requiring the Williamsport & Elmira R. R. Co., to fence their road has been lost in the Senate by a tie vote. Mr. MYER thinks it will be reconsidered and hopes it may vet pass. I have but little confidence in the Senate when a railroad company and the people are at issue. Mr. MyER made a strong appeal for its passage.

An act to establish the "Pennsylvania Industrial Reform School" has passed both branches of the Legislature. It is a very meritorious bill, and it is hoped it will soon go into operation. Its great object is to establish a school for the "physical, mental and moral instruction and reform of destitute, ignorant, idle and criminal persons,"-such as may voluntarily place themselves under the care of the managers, or may be referred to them by the Courts as fit subjects for reform.

The bill appropriating $1,200 a year, for five years, to the Westminster college, for educating teachers, was vetoed by Gov. PACKER .-Upon the vetoe a spirited debate ensued, when the Gov. was sustained by 52 to 24 .- Right !

The Free Banking Law has been under consideration in the House. After much skirmishing and promiscuous firing, the bill passed to a third reading, when the House refused to suspend the rules and read it a third time, it requiring two-thirds to do so. The prospect now is that it will pass the House. It makes the State and United States stocks the basis of all banking. A synopsis of the bill would require too much room for this letter. I doubt its passage through the Senate, as that body has once voted down a bill very similar.

The Senate has had the General Appropria tion Bill under consideration, and has mutila ted it very much, whether it has been improved is very questionable. It will require some time to adjust it to the satisfaction of both Houses.

The city of Philadelphia has monopolized the time of the House for the past ten days, not in passing bills for her especial benefit, but in wrangling and quarreling over those of very doubtful utility. But very few important bills were passed during the week.

The bill giving Justices, with a jury of five, power to hear and finally determine the smaller grades of crime, has been again reported by the select committee to whom it was referred with a slight modification. It is made the special order for this afternoon, but I cannot wait to give you the result ; it is thought now that it will pass the House.

An act to create a new judicial district out of the counties of Clearfield, Elk, Jefferson and Forrest, underwent examination in the House. Rose, of Mercer, appealed to the Republicans of the House, as such, to oppose the new district. This was very properly rebuked by Mr. KINNEY who said it was the very last argument that would indoue him to vote against the bill; he had too much regard for those democrats holding seats on the floor who had the honesty and courage to rebuke the outrage attempted on Wilmor's district last winter, to now strike a blow at their proposed district upon political grounds; he should probably vote against the bill, but it was because the district was entirely unnecessary, and not because it would result in placing a democrat on the bench.

The FRY divorce case has got up to fever heat. It seems to be a question of character on one side and money on the other. It is an attempt to heal and cover up the loose virtue of a vain, half-witted girl, at the expense of all that is valuable to a man in this life-a good character. The longer action is delayed on the bill the surer it is to pass. A reduction of the bulwarks of right and justice, seems to be a question of time only, "Money is power." Gov. SEWARD had a party yesterday at Gen. Cameron's. There was a meeting of strange elements-the "higher law" and "fugitive slave law," the high tariff and the low tariff, the unwashed democracy, and the black republicans, Irish whiskey and native American wine. SEWARD looked well, felt well, and talked well -said he did not know who would be the next President-Strange!

Senate is threatening to reconsider and extend the day of adjournment-hope not! The House will clear up its tables-the Senate will be three or four hundred bills behind. Folks say its a lazy Senate. Yours &c.

PETER KLAUS.

THE LEAVEN WORKING .- We notice that the Albany organ of the Hon. DANIEL E. DICK-INSON, in, New York favors, with considerable emphasis, the movement of Col. Forney and GOV. PACKER, of calling a Democratic Convention in this State, of the opponents of Mr. BUCHANAN'S administration.

MR. GIDDINGS, writing to the Ashtabula Sentinel on the day of the adjournment, expresses the opinion that the XXXVth is the last Democratic Congress to assemble in the United States. He thinks, moreover, that the Democracy have nearly given up the idea of browbeating Northern Representatives, such scenes having been removed from the House into the Senate.

The Rochester (Ind.) Gazette states that, about five years ago, a man calling himself Alonzo Morgan, accompanied by a woman who passed as his wife, moved to that place, where they purchased a farm, and lived apparently in a respectable manner, until about a year ago, when Mr. Morgan died. The widow said that he had no heirs, but herself, and accordingly administered the property. About three months since she took a second husband, and everything was apparently going on well, when there arrived in town two persons in search of a Mr. Alonzo Green, who had disappeared from the State of New York in 1854, and had not since been heard of. One of the strangers claimed to be Green's son, and stated that his father had, in the above year, eloped with a niece of his wife, a Miss Emma Lanfrheir .-The newly-married widow Morgan was at once Isaac Marsh, Jeremiah Anderson; Assessor, James Beau- identified as the erring Miss L., and the identity mont; Constable, Frederick Coggswell; Treasurer, Cy- of Alonzo Morgan and Alonzo Green satisfactorily established. WHO ARE THE NIGGER WORSHIPPERS ?- The Walker; Constable, O. F. Wolcott; Treasurer, Elisha Hon. Owen Lovejoy, of Ill., in a recent speech in the House of Representatives, thus describes a party which is not so strong in the country as it once was :

"The Slavery Democracy prates and chatters about 'negro equality,' Black Republicans, and 'nigger stealing,' to use its classic phrases and improved orthography. It has or affects to have, a great horror of 'niggers." THE SKELETON OF A GIANT, eight feet high, has been exhumed from the farm of Mr. Colvin near Monongahela City, Pa. The Pittsburg Chroniele says: "From the position of the bones in the vault under the stone, it is supposed the bodies were buried in a sitting position, the skull bones and those of the trunk being all in a heap, while those of the legs were scattered along towards the foot of the vault. At the foot, also, of many of these graves were found various articles of ornaments of exquisite workmanship, denoting a greater skill than usually belonged to the Indians, together with crockery and warlike implements. The graves in the vicinity number several hundred, and go to show that the field was at one time a burying ground."

n Merryall, March 30, by D. Cook, RICHARD V. FER,

At Browntown, Bradford County, Pa., Feb. 24, 1859, at the residence of Mr. Eli Crofut, Mr. GEORGE SIM. MONS.

Mr. S. was a native of Germany—was born about the year 1802-but came to this country some years since to follow his trade—(clock maker); but the Yankees made them so much cheaper that he failed in business, and beome a poor man. Lately, he has made an honest living by tinkering clocks. He has one son in New York and one in California, He also stated that he had a small piece of land-about 15 acres-in Liberty, Tioga county, Pa., with a block-house upon it. His effects consisted of his clock-tools, which are in the hands of the Poor-mas

We have reason to believe that he was well cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Crofut, notwithstanding his extreme poverty. His funeral expenses were paid by the town He seemed patient in his sufferings, but seemed to regret that ever he should cause any trouble which he could not fully recompense. Many, alas! would drive such an object from their doors, to die in the streets, and chaunt the following at his burial:

"Rattle his bones over the stones, He's only a pauper whom nobody owns!" But is this the principle of the Golden Rule? "He that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he."
