Farm .- The Agricultural year my be said to commence this month. New plans are to be laid and preparations made for the coming season. Part of the seed, the wheat and rye, are to be "sown in hope," and fields intended for next year's planting to be cleared of surface stone, drained, the stumps removed, and other necessary preparations made. For draining especially, the time is propitious. The fields are now mostly clear, there is comparative lesiure where wheat is not extensively sown, but little rain will interfere with out-door operations, and the heat of Summer no longer oppresses. Now too, is the time for storing the magazine with abundance of the farmer's ammunition-manure. "Well began is half done,"-begin at the manure heap, and you may expect to end well with next year's harvest. Boundary and other permanent fences may now be erected, let them be put up as near as possible, for all time.

Agricultural exhibitions are being held in most counties, and claim the attention of inteligent cultivators. Visit them and take specimens of your best crops to increase the attractions. Premiums are secondary considera-

Butter and Cheese making are supposed to be going on briskly in-doors. September and October are the best months for laying down butter for Winter use.

Cattle.-The cows are now beginning to shrink in milk, and require some of the soiling crop to keep up a full supply. The garden will furnish turnip and beet tops, cabbage trimmings, corn stalks, etc., which should be fed out to the cattle. Give the animals a frequent change of pasture, turning them upon the fine rowen crop where it is not to be gathered.

Cellars will soon be wanted for storing vegtables and fruits. Let them be well cleansed, and properly regulated. There is much saving in arranging them conveniently.

Corn .- Select the earliest, most prolific, and best for seed, tracing up by a few husks and hanging in the loft or granary. Cut and shock as soon as ripe, or upon the first severe frost. The grain will be heavier, and the fodder muc better than when exposed uncut in the field to alternate storms and sun, frost and heat.

Cisterns .- If these conveniences for both house and barn were not built as directed last month, the present is a suitable time. Wells may also be dug.

Eggs .- Now that the fowls are laying more than are wanted in the family and the market price is low, put away a good supply for Winter. We have invariably had good success with them, when packed in common salt.

Fences should be carefully watched now that pasture feed is short and the corn field looks tempting.

Forests-Continue to cut away, those intended to reciaim for tillage.

Grain.-Thresh early, especially if stacked in the field where rats, mice, squirre's, and crows feed upon it. See that granaries are in and proper order. Make them proof against rats mice.

Hedge Rows and Bushes-Clean up any allowed to grow till now.

Hemp and Flax .- Pull, and spread for rot-

Hogs.-Separate those to be killed this season, and give them extra feed. They should be in first-rate condit on when the ordinary fattening season commences. Cook the food rather than feed it out in a raw state. They are capable of making much manure.

Manure-Among the other labors do not neglect the manure yards and heaps. Dig all the muck possible before the swamps are filled with water.

Pastures need examining to see that the feed is sufficient. A frequent change is desirable Plow, for rye and wheat, unless it was done last month. Turn the soil over 8 to 10 inches deep Potatoes .- Unless for present market, or to clear the ground for Winter grain, it is usually better to leave potatoes in the ground until

Poul ry may generally run at large, during this month without injury, and will lay the better for their freedom. Root crops are growing rapidly this month

Keep the ground well stirred with the cultivator and horse or hand hoe, and suffer no weeds to grow in the rows. Rye .- Sow, if not done last month. See that the seed is well cleansed. A strong brine will float any oats and chess among the seed and they may be skimmed off.

Sheep require the same care as last month. As cold wheather approaches get them in good flesh for Winter. Soiling Crops .-- Cut and feed as wanted .--Any remaining should be harvested and cured while the weaither is still favorable for doing

Sugar Cane for Grinding should be cut, or begun upon at latest, as soon as the frost has killed the foliage, which will be, in some localities. There will be a large quantity to manufacture this season. The grinding and boiling should follow close upon the cutting. Boil in shallow pans with a free circulation of air around them.

Timothy-sow with wheat and rye, or by Itself for a future grass crop.

Turnips-Thin late sowings, feed early ones and keep all well hoed. Sow more of the quick growing varieties on vacant ground.

Wheat should now be put in as early as may be, on deeply plowed and finally pulverized soil that has received a good coating of manure.

Hon. Nathan Bristol, C. H. Shepard, Cashier, R. G. Crans, Merchant, Alpin & Doubleday, do. that has received a good coating of manure. Many complaints of Winterkill are owing to late sowing. The growth is not sufficient to protect the roots before Winter sets in .-Where it can be cone, use the drill in sowing.

Barns and Hovels.—If some of the stock went through the last Winter unsheltered, resolve that it shall be the last Winter. Prepare to erect additional buildings early.

Beans will need pulling and drying. When properly cured, the haulm or straw, makes good sheep food.

Beeves.—Begin to give additional feed to animals intended for beef. A little extra food now, will save many bushels of corn in cold weather.

Buckwheat will need cutting. It cures, handles, and threshes best when cradled and bound. It should not get so ripe as to shell out badly in the field. extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West this is reversed, he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where tevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 or $15 per thouse and. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This ail are expected to do. They will see the land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settle ment that they will no doubt, meet persons, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population.
