A case of the most shocking cruelty has recently occupied the attention of the court at Singapore. A Chinaman being indebted to one Goah Jee, has servant, for wages, and the latter becoming importunate, he determined to re- Agent at that place; and the removal of Isauc H. Reynolds lieve himself of his presence in the following manner: Having secured the services of four other of his conutrymen, they seized the unfortunate Goah Jee, and having suspended him by his tail from a tree-his feet not touching the ground-they beat him severely with poles, and then proceeded to gouge out his eyes with a piece of bamboo. Having accomplished this, they, with an iron nail, severed the eyes, which were hanging suspended down his checks. After this he became senseless, and having bound him with ropes, they finally threw him into the neighboring swamp, hoping that he would there perish. But it was not so, for, return ing to consciousness, he managed to grope his way to a friend's house close by, and gave information to the police of the whole affair .-They were all seized and brought to trial; the ringleader was sentenced to be executed, and the others transported.

H. P. LESLIE, the man who succeeded in deluding fifteen young ladies into an accept from White's Pleasure Grounds, a mile below the Falls, ance of a false offer of employment as teachers in Southern families, was on Thursday evening brought from Washington by Officer SCHLEMN, under a requisition from Gov. On Friday evening, the 12th of August last, as the mail train on the Eric Railroad was passing through the village of Smithboro in the midst of a terrible rain storm, the engineer, James Tripp, saw something struck by the cow catcher, and rushing out of the window in front of the engine and along her whole length, seized a man by the hair and held on shouting to the fireman: "It is a man, slow the engine, slow the engine !"

Mr. Tripp held on while the engine ran at least sixty rods. When stopped the man was found to be Cornelius Yontz, of Smithboro, an aged man who had gone cut on an errand, holding over his head an umbrella. The noise of the rain falling on the umbrella prevented him from hearing the engine until he was struck. Of course both his ancles were smashed, and if it had not been for the singular daring of Engineer Tripp, he must have been torn to pieces and scattered on the track.

Mr. Youtz has entirely recovered excepting Tripp, but cannot help awarding to him the honor of saving a human life by risking his own to an extent unparalled in the history of railroading — Overgo Times.

LANCASTER COUNTY TOBACCO CROP.-The Lancaster county tobacco crop of 1859 is heavier than ever it was before. We cannot venture make an estimate of how many thousand acres are now in tobacco, lest we should make it too small, and yet be thought by some people abroad to be exaggerating. We do not know about the lower end of the county, but in the southwestern and western portions of it, the traveler is never out of sight of tobacco fields. So far as we are able to judge, the crop is an exceedingly good one-basing onr indement upon the size of the plants, and if early frosts do not blight those nearly ready to cut, the tobacco erop will add thousands upon thousands of dollars to the capital of Lancaster county.- Lancaster Express.

later intelligence from Europe, arrived at Hal ifax on Wednesday night. The news by this Zurich Conference that the Austrian and French Plenipotentaries had regulated a settlement of the Duchies, it is understood, will be treated of directly between the Courts of Paris and would be successfully terminated early during the present month. The object of the defensive league formed by the provisional Governments of Tuscany and Bologna and the Dictator of Modena, announced by the previous arrival, is to prevent a restoration of the fallen Government and to maintain internal order .-The National Assembly of Modena had been prorogued, after voting several important decrees. The Council of Ministers at Turin had and Towanda. decided that it was proper to consult the allied Powers, particularly France, before deciding upon the annexation of the provinces which desired it. The Venetians were complaining that the conduct of Austria had not changed since the peace. From Austria the rumors are again warlike, and the Vienna correspondents express the fear that the Italian question will not be settled at Zurich. It is as serted that the furloughs granted to the Austrian soldiers had been suspended and that seven of the corps d'armee are to be retained upon a war footing. The fear of French invasion has not yet died out in England. A cnrious rumor is given on the authority of the Paris correspondent of the London Morning Advertiser-(rather questionable authority, however)-to the effect that France is about to establish a new seaport on the coast capable of accommodating a large number of transports, each of which is to be capable of conveying ten thousand troops. Search was immediately instituted, and kept up by from six to seven hundred people, to the eighth day, with-The North Branch Association of Uni- out success. On the ninth day the little one was found, lying over two logs-where it had fallen, too weak to proceed, within two miles had removed all its clothing, and when found was quite naked, its bonnet hanging on a limb and its dress lying in a little play house which she had built to while away the lonely hours. It had died within a few hours of the time at which it was found. The spot had frequently been passed, but the most of the search had been extended too far. When the dead body of the child was taken into the presence of the motter, and the hope which bad sustained her throughout the search was gone, her reason tottered and she became insane.

DIED.

In Burlington, Tuesday, Sept. 6th, after a brief but painful illness, HARRIET T., wife of Martin J. Long, and daughter of Simon Stevens of Standing Stone, in the 25th year of her age.

Amiable in disposition, kind and affectionate, she was deared to many, many hearts; and died mourned and lamented by all who were blessed with her acquaintance. The weeper will stand beside her lonely tom' down in the beautiful valley, and sigh that one so devotedly loved and cherished should be taken away so soon; still there will be a stay for the sorrowing heart, arising from the reflection that what earth has lost heaven has gained.

" Friend after friend departs ; Who hath not lost a friend ! There is no union here of hearts. That finds not here an end.

Were this frail world our only rest Living or dying, none were blest. "There is a world above,

Where parting is unknown .-A whole eternity of love And blessedness alone: And faith beholds the dying here Translated to that happier sphere, as

"Thus star by star declines Till all are passed away, As morning high and higher shines To pure and perfect day, Nor sink those stars in empty night-They hide themselves in heaven's own light."
