The philosophy of increase of fat in animals is, that the digested food not needed to supply waste in the system, is laid up in the form of fat around the muscles, ready to be absorbed again into the circulation if needed. Waste is induced by combustion in the lungs, of the digested food, to supply animal heat Hence the same amount of food given in warm weather will, if digested, afford a greater surpals of fat than when fed in cold weather. Hogs or other animals intended for fattening should be shut up this mouth. Many advocate making the size of the fattening pen so small that the animal will have just room to stand or lie .-While confinement favors rest a disposition to fatten, too close quarters are not healthful for the animal which needs moderate exercise to promote digeston. The quality of the flesh produced must be somewhat impaired by any confinement that interferes with the health .-The appetite may be kept up by change of food a frequent supply of green vegetables, such as regard to the matter, perhaps it will save him some cost and trouble. corn, cabbage leaves, pea-vines, and the refuse of the garden. Cooked food digests much more easily than raw, and is in a condition to vield more nourishment, and is also better relished by most kinds of stock. Cleanliness in the fattening pens should not be overlooked.—Although pigs proverbially are filthy, they are not really so; they do not delight in the effluvia of their own droppings, as any one can see by noticing that they generally appropriate one portion of the pen to filth. An occasional washing and scrubbing with soap suds will conduce much their thrift—all animals keep in condition more easily when the skin is kept clean and healthy.

Save the Vegetable Seeds.—Many seeds are annually wasted from not being gathered at the right time. They left till a convenient season, and then one "job" is made of it. In more nourishment, and is also better relished season, and then one "job" is made of it. In this way, as they do not ripen at the same time, the first matured and most valuable are lost and many are taken while yet green and worthless. The garden should be visited every day from the first ripening, and the mature heads collected, the stalks being severed with a sharp STILL IN OPERATION! kuife or shears. Sheets or newspapers may be spread upon the floor of a chamber or garret, and the different kinds laid separately upon them. When the gathering is completed, and the seeds have thoroughly dried rub them out, clean them, and put them in bags of cloth or paper. Each parcel should be distinctly labeled with the name, and the year when gathered. Many vexatious mistakes will thus be avoided next Spring. All seeds for future room in the country. planting should be kept as far as possible from heat, moisture and light. The vitality will be impaired, if not destroyed by avoided next Spring. All seeds for future impaired, if not destroyed, by carelessness in this respect. Tin cases, glass jars, or even TOWANDA HARDWARE, CUTLERY, tight wooden boxes are preferable to leaving them loose in the "closet."

SELECT SEED CORN THIS MONTH .- The best seed will be likely to produce the best crops next year. Pass through the corn field this month and select the fullest and most forward ears, from stalks bearing two or three ears, and in some way mark the hills. As soon as onfficiently ripened they should be gathered, braided together by the husks into "traces," and hung in a dry place. If this plan be followed up, there will be an improvement in the quality, quantity, and early maturity if the other pro cesses of cultivation are properly attended to.

Country Boys .- Country lads often feel that their lot is a hard one They see citybred youngsters on their travels and their sprees at the age of fourteen ! veritable young gentlemen, with a finished exterior, a cigar and a cane. The young farmer at the same age finds himself with a hoe in hand and a cheap gentlemen, with a finished exterior, a cigar and straw hat on his head sweating among the hills of corn. He is frequently envious of his city we are now receiving direct from the hands of manufacturers and importers, including the largest assortment brother-whisking past him in the cars with and greatest variety of kid gloves, delicate ringlets, and plenty of money in his pocket.

Mind your corn, boy; hoe it out clean, keep steadily to the labor you have in hand, do it well, and in time your good days will come too. If you find farming is not suited to your taste or your strength, or circumstances; if you like mechanism better or have a capacity for business, whatever eventually you may engage in it is all the same ; you have begun right. The city blades have begun wrong, and in due time you will see it. Their fathers and mothers will, in the end, see it, too. Do not feel envious of the pleasures that a hot house man enjoys, remember, not in a malicious but sober spirit, that such plants wither early. By the time you have acquired fixed habits of industry, and acquired a corresponding perfection of mind and body, your delicately reared cotemporary of the town begins to feel the debilitating effects always on hand, wholesale and retail. All kinds of Job Work done to order, on short notice and warranted. Don't mistake the place to buy STOVES and HARD-WARE cheap—one door South of Tracy & Moore's, and equilibrium and Country Produce, old Iron, Brass, Brittania and Copper, Dried Fruit of all kinds, Feathers and Bees-wax wanted for goods.

10,000 Sheep Pelts wanted, for which the highest price in Cash will be paid. the town begins to feel the debilitating effects of idleness and dissipation. He is not alone to blame for a weak body and a profitness mind-it is the result of a system ; but he cannot escape from its effects, these he must endure for himself in his own person. His father H. A. BURBANK'S BAKERY may be a professional man or a merchant, or may be merely rich-the chances are fifty against one that the son will not replace his father. Such is the result of well settled experience; business falls into the hands of those who are most competent; it does not descend to heirs. It is the country boys, after all who do the city business. Observing men have often stated this fact, and inquire into the origin of Cleveland, or Boston, or New York, you will find it to be so. All external circumstances are in favor of the son or the clerk succeeding TOMB STONES AND MONUMENTS. to the trade of the old firm; but the son seldom almost never dies in the position of a partner of the house. Why is it? Simply because habitual industry in wanting, and habitual indulgence is not wanting. With all the external odds against it, the country furnishes the cities their principal business men. If intelligent, faithful, and persevering and, above all, cheerful and contented, the chances are that the lad with the hoe will eventually do the business of the father of the lad in gloves, who is now luxuriating in his travels .- Ohio Farm.

THERE are many who suppose it necessary There are many who suppose it necessary to leave the second growth of grass undisturbed, to rot on the ground, in order to preserve the fertility of old meadows in grass where top-dressing with manure is not resorted to. But such management is oftentimes extremely hurtful, and the injury is proportioned to the left injury amount left untrodden and unused. If the amount left standing, or laying loose upon the G. W. NEW AGRICULTURAL SETTLEMENT.—To all wanting farms, a rare opportunity in a delightful and healthy climate 25 miles southeast of Philadelphia on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, New Jersey. An old estate consisting of several thousands of acres of productive soil has been divided into Farms of various sizes to sait the purchaser. A population of some Fifteen Hundred, from various parts of the middle States and New England have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent creps. The price of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre, the soil is of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. It is considered the best fruit soil in the Union.—The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer. Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vinyard and Peach orchards, planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

The Market, as the reader may perceive from its loca-

The Market, as the reader may perceive from its loca-

The Market, as the reader may perceive from its location, is the best in the Union. Produce bringing double the price than in locations away from the city, and more than double the price than the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest. (in the West this is reversed.) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 or $15 per thousend. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see the land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.

THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.—In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories.
