

MONDAY, December 5, 1859.

SENATE.—The Senate was called to order at 12 o'clock by the Vice President.

Forty-eight Senators were present. The credentials of Ten Eysck of New Jersey, and Hann of California were presented, and they were qualified.

The absentees were, Benjamin, Clay, Crittenden, Davis, Douglas, Fitch, Fitzpatrick, Hammond, Johnson of Arkansas, Polk, Sebastian, Seward, and Toombs.

Mr. Mason of Virginia submitted a resolution, which he would call up the next day, for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the Harper's Ferry seizure and tragedy; whether such invasion was made under color of any organization intended to subvert the government of any State, &c., &c., and to report what legislation, if any, is necessary to preserve the future peace of the country.

Mr. Trumbull of Illinois gave notice that he would move to amend by extending the inquiry to the seizure of the arsenal at Frankfort, Missouri.

The usual resolutions were passed, to inform the House of Representatives and the President that the Senate was ready for business.

Mr. Gwin gave notice of a Pacific Railroad bill.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Allen, Clerk of the last House, called the members to order at noon. The galleries were crowded long in advance, and intense interest was manifested by the spectators.

The roll was called and 231 members answered to their names. The absentees were Stallworth and Landrum of Alabama, Brown and Adams of Kentucky, Hendman and Rust of Arkansas, and Hamilton of Texas.

On motion of Mr. Phelps the House agreed to proceed to the election of a Speaker pro tempore. The following nominations were made: Sherman of Ohio, Davis of Indiana, Hickman and Grow of Pennsylvania, and Boteler of Virginia.

A motion to adjourn one day to give absent members time to arrive was lost.

The Clerk appointed as tellers Houston, Corwin, Adrian and Briggs.

The result of the first ballot was for Bocoek, 68; Sherman, 56; Grow, 43; Boteler, 14; Davis, 2; Phelps, 2; Gilmer, 2; Nelson, 3; Corwin, 1; Adrain, 1; Hill, 1; Hickman, 1; Pennington, 1; Haskin, 2; McQueen, 1; H. F. Clark, 1.

No one having received a majority of the votes cast, Mr. Grow rose and said: "As I desire in no way to retard the organization of the House I withdraw my name as a candidate. I assure those gentlemen who in kindness have cast their votes for me, that I shall treasure through life so distinguished a mark of their friendship and regard."

Mr. Clark of Missouri claimed the right to make remarks on the qualifications of some of the nominees, but, after some discussion, waived his claim and offering the following preamble and resolution:

Resolved, That the doctrines and sentiments of a certain book called "The impending Crisis of the South and how to meet it," purporting to have been written by H. R. Helper are incendiary and hostile to the domestic peace and tranquility of the country, and that no member of this House who recommended or endorsed it, or the compend, is fit to be Speaker of this House.

Whereas, Certain members of this House now in nomination for Speaker did endorse and recommended the book hereinafter named, therefore,

Resolved, That the doctrines and sentiments of a certain book called "The impending Crisis of the South and how to meet it," purporting to have been written by H. R. Helper are incendiary and hostile to the domestic peace and tranquility of the country, and that no member of this House who recommended or endorsed it, or the compend, is fit to be Speaker of this House.

The reading of the resolution occasioned applause from some of the Southern men clapping their hands.

Mr. Stephens of Pennsylvania said it seemed to him that in the present condition of the House but two things were in order, one a motion to adjourn, and the other to proceed to vote.

After some irregular discussion, the House adjourned.

TUESDAY, December 6, 1859.

SENATE.—The Harper's Ferry resolution of inquiry was called up agreeably to promise by Mr. Mason; and that in the person of Mr. Trumbull, of Illinois, it found its most eloquent advocate. Mr. Trumbull believed the inquiry would disabuse the public mind of the error that any notable portion of the Northern population was cognizant of Brown's designs, or could be brought to approve of them. An acrimonious debate ensued, in which Mr. Hale endeavored to relieve the Republican Party of responsibility for Brown's misdeeds, and in doing so incurred, by his tone of levity, a severe rebuke from Senator HENRY.

HOUSE.—The discussion of the book of Mr. HELPER, as connected with the political heretodoxy of the Republican candidates for the Speakership, occupied the attention of the House to the exclusion of public interests. Mr. CLARK, of Missouri, continued to lead the discussion, causing a list of those who had recommended the book, and the recommendation itself to be read. He followed with a pathetic protest against any act endangering the Union. Mr. GILMER, of North Carolina, offered a resolution, looking to a coalition of conservatives for the preservation of the Union; but pending its consideration Mr. WASHBURN, of Illinois, moved to lay the whole subject on the table. This was negatived by a tie vote. The House adjourned without action on Mr. CLARK'S resolution, and without a ballot.

WEDNESDAY, December 7, 1859.

SENATE.—The senate still filibustered on the Harper's Ferry and Liberty Arsenal questions, with a slight dash at Helper's "Crisis." The principal speakers for the South were, Senators MALLORY, BROWN, IVKSON, CLINGMAN, CHESTNUT and GREEN. The encounter came, from the North, Senators SIMMONS, CHANDLER, HALE, and KING; all of the letter sustaining the amendment of Mr. TRUMBULL, and engaging to pass the Mason resolution with that addition. The discussion, without eliciting any striking truths or decisive expressions of sentiment, occupied the day.

HOUSE.—The House also added itself for the greater part of the day to the business of agitation. Mr. KELLOGG, of Illinois, opening the fight by raising a question of privilege in reference to statements made by a correspondent of a New-York paper. In that connection, Mr. KELLOGG stated that Mr. DOUGLAS had been chosen Senator, in the recent Illinois canvass, in consequence of a back-parlor bargain with the Black Republicans, a treaty with the stipulations on which Mr. KELLOGG declared himself familiar. The discussion following this disclosure was violent. In the course of it Mr. NELSON, of Tennessee, took occasion to glorify the patriotic Administration of Mr. FILLMORE; and Mr. PRYOR, of Virginia to express his conviction that on the subject of Slavery the Northern supporters of DOUGLAS are not a whit sounder than the Republicans. The discussion at once assumed a personal character. Mr. PRYOR denouncing Mr. NELSON for disloyalty to the South, because that gentleman was unable to regard the election of a Republican President as sufficient motive for secession; and Mr. NELSON, uttering union sentiments, which elicited the irrepressible applause of the audience. A ballot upon the Speakership was subsequently obtained, there being 231 members present, and 116 being necessary for a choice. The result was SHEPARD 107, BOCOEK 88, GILMER 23, scattering 14.

THURSDAY, December 8, 1859.

SENATE.—The Senate after listening to a discussion that everfresh and sensitive topic, Slavery, adjourned until Monday. The discussion was not without points of interest.—

Mr. TRUMBULL, of Illinois, having the floor upon his amendment to Mr. MASON'S resolution, spoke at great length and with much force in defence of the Republican platform; yet in a sense so moderate and conservative as to disarm the attacks of the more ultra Southern Senators. He denied that Slavery was a crime, where it existed under the protection of the laws; and admitted that it not only existed in the Slave States, but also in the District of Columbia. As to the admission of new Slave States into the Union, he expressed his readiness to vote for them, whenever they presented themselves; and was at pains to repudiate the name of Mr. SEWARD as the leader of the Republican Party. Gen. Davis, of Mississippi, and Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts followed.

HOUSE.—In the House, the honors of the day devolved mainly upon two representatives from Ohio, Messrs. CORWIN and COX. Mr. CORWIN made a speech almost in outline, the counterpart of that of Mr. TRUMBULL, in the Senate; eulogizing Virginia and South Carolina, disclaiming all hostility to Slavery, or any design to exclude slave States, and repudiating the name of Mr. SEWARD, as the leader of the Republicans of Ohio, especially of those in the Western Reserve. He claimed that with the exception of that infected region Ohio was eminently sound and conservative. The House, without attempting a third ballot for Speaker, adjourned.

FRIDAY, December 9, 1859.

The Senate was not in session.

HOUSE.—Mr. KELLOGG, of Illinois, resumed his explanations in regard to the Tribune and Mr. DOUGLAS, and finally brought Mr. LOGAN of that State to his feet to rebut the insinuations of his colleague. Mr. MCCLENNAND, of the same delegation, also read a letter from Mr. DOUGLAS, denying the charge of complicity with the Republicans. The discussion between Messrs. LOGAN and KELLOGG at length became so violent as to render a personal collision imminent, and but for the friends of the belligerents seizing them as they rushed towards each other there must have been a repetition of scenes unhappily too frequent at Washington in these latter days. The immediate effect of the disturbance was to impress all present with the instant need of organization, and to that end a third vote for Speaker was ordered. It gave 110 to SHEPARD; 88 to BOCOEK; 24 to GILMER, and scattering 13. Necessary to a choice, 116. Mr. HICKMAN, Anti-Lecompton Democrat, then moved a resolution identical in terms with that which elected Mr. BANKS, under similar circumstances.

SATURDAY, December 11, 1859.

HOUSE.—The House listened, at the opening, to a demand of Mr. HICKMAN for a correction of the journal, in reference to his resolution proposed the day before, in favor of the plurality rule, having been omitted. The discussion upon this subject was cut short by Mr. STANTON, of Ohio, claiming the floor, when once more the general subjects of Slavery and the obligation of parties were resumed. The catchword for the day was Extra BILLY SMITH, of Virginia, who subjected Mr. HICKMAN, of Pennsylvania, and Mr. CLARK, of New-York both of the Anti-Lecompton Party, to stern interrogation as to their loyalty to the National Democracy. Both those gentlemen came out of the scrutiny with a decisive declaration of independence, both approving of the Republican policy in reference to Kansas and the admission of new States, and both denouncing the Administration party for its abandonment of the Cincinnati platform. Mr. CURRY, of Alabama, then took the floor to discuss the relations between the North and the South.— After him came that pair of passionate and pugnaacious politicians, Messrs. KELLOGG and LOGAN, of Illinois, who for their outbreak the other day made ample amends. The House then adjourned.

John Brown did not leave any final statement or address to the public. Mrs. BROWN, says: "The Independent," says that her husband made no allusion to such a document as having been written, or to any purpose of writing such a document. She thinks his final letter to his family, justifying his enterprise and motives, was all the record he cared to leave. To the end he criticized his manoeuvre at Harper's Ferry as a blunder, but insisted on the righteousness and propriety of any well-conceived and well-executed scheme to rescue the slaves from bondage. It is said that, when parting with Mrs. Brown, the "old man" asked the jailer, as though it was the most casual and indifferent question, "At what hour am I to be executed?" and on being told 11 o'clock, he turned to his wife and said: "Very well; if I think of anything else to say, I will write it down and leave it for you."

A man named Alfonso Clark was recently tarred and feathered in the town of Gorham, Ontario county, New York, by several residents of that place. The Ontario Reporter gives the following as the cause of the outrage: "This summary method of dealing with Clark is understood to be a punishment inflicted upon him for some improper and immoral conduct of which, it is said, he has been guilty. Among other things, it is said of him that about a year ago, he married a girl of the neighborhood, and soon after deserted her, leaving her in miserable circumstances; and that more recently he has induced a young girl, about sixteen years of age of Rushville, to live with him as his wife, and that the girl's friends have punished him by lynching, for his criminal transactions."

The Hon. Theodore Sedgwick, United States District Attorney for Southern New-York, died at Stockbridge on Thursday night.
