On the 13th inst., a little boy in his sixth year, a son of Thomas Burgess of Smithfield, while laughing with a kernel of corn in his mouth accidentally sucked it into his windpipe. This was followed by a se vere paroxysm of coughing, which lasted a few minutes and nearly subsided. Dr. E. P. ALREN saw him a few hours after, and on examination found that the kernel had passed into the left bronchial tube and seemed fixed in its position. There being but a slight cough and no very great difficulty in respiration, the Doctor thought not best to interfere until more urgent symptoms present ed ; hoping that it might be thrown from the lung during a fit of coughing. The little fellow kept about three or four days, when a high fever obliged him to take his bed. Respiration became more difficult. On the 23d the symptoms became so alarming it was thought unsafe to defer longer an operation, when Dr. Allen, assisted by Dr. Holmes, of Canton, performed Tracheatomy in a neat and skillful manner. The corn had swelled and become impacted in the bronchial tube to that extent it could not be removed. The wound in the windpipe was left open with the expectation of suppuration taking place around the corn, when the corn would be raised into the windpipe and thrown out of the opening, which happy result took place on the 17th inst., followed by about one half ounce of pus. The little fellow is now decidedly convalescent, and the painful anxiety of his parents and friends greatly relieved E. J. B.

grants who had never reached the gold region. The Indians have been very friendly up to this time, and have not molested a single party. After arriving at the mines the miners are too apt to become excited by rumors of other and better diggings, and leave a good claim to start on a prospecting tour, and not being accustomed to work, and inexperienced in the business, in many instances make a failure, while others who have made up their minds to hard labor, and stick to their work, get well paid. I am satisfied that gold abounds in paying quantities, and the relations I had with the miners from the different districts warrants me in saying that it is destined to become a rich gold producing country-sec-

Much gold has been undoubtedly wasted by careless washing, as in California the dust in many places pays well for a second washing. The gold is different in varions mines! the South Platte being scale gold, while North is shot and nugget. The largest piece I saw weighed 170 pennyweights—value 90 cents per pennyweight. I think the average per man would be about 10 pennyweights a day. Don't understand that all have made that-for the majority did not make day wages, $2,50, while others made their thousands of dollars, and have valuable claims left. The lead claims are considered by Californ ans to be 50 per cent. better, while the gulches do as well as those in California in the same time and under the same circumstances.

The amount of farming land is small; being a narrow strip along the streams. This is very productive, vegetation growing very rapidly. The climate is said to be very much like California and Salt Lake Valley. My brother writes me that up to the 18th of Pebruary there had been no severe weather, stock living on grass and doing well.

If any person from Bradford contemplates going to Pike's Peak, I would advise them to go to St. Josephs, by railroad, then the California road to Fort Kearney and the South Platte. St. Josephs is as good an outfitting post as any. Stock, wagons and provisions can be had ever, as thousands of buffaloes, deer, wolves, &c., will be While I have no question as to the existence of gold in abundance, yet I think that persons who are doing well in Bradford had better stay there. The labor in the mines is very hard, and precarious; for one man who is repaid ten are disappointed, and lose their time, money and health. It partakes too much of the nature of a lottery
