Canital Owning Labor.

Mr. Herschel V. Johnson was a very unfortunate person for Mr. Donglas to select as his second in command in the coming Presidential campaign. Without much original force, with no great popularity at the South, and almost unknown at the North and West, his name, in any event, could give but little strength to the that eighteen springs have passed over her head. ticket. Alexander Stephens of Georgia, or Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, are men of greater calibre and have a much wider reputation, and if they could have induced to serve with Douglas, might have brightened the propects of his almost forlorn hope a little. But Mr. Johnson, when his opinions shall be fully made known and canvassed, is likely to prove a dead weight to a cause which is already so heavy that it drags along the ground. He is not merely a pro-slavery man, holding to all the peculiar notions of his region, but he is an extreme pro-slavery man, who justifies the institution on its merits, and who would gladly give it an unlimited extension. Indeed, if Mr Johnson has not been misrepresented by the reporters of his speeches, he is so ardently in love with the form of society which prevails at the South, that he would apply it in other communities. During a speech which he made on the 17th of September, 1856, at Philadelphia, he defended that system in this wise : 'We believe capital should own labor; is there any doubt that there must be a laboring class everywhere? In all countries and under every form of social organization there must be a laboring class-a class of men who get their living by the sweat of their brow; and then there must be another class that coutrols and directs the capital of the country."

This philosophy, it will be perceived, does not restrict the owning of the laborer by the capitalist to any special class of laborers -Mr. Johnson does not speak of races at all : he does not say that the negro workman only should be the property of the white man of wealth; but he lays down a general proposition which includes all classes of laborers .-There must be, he argues, in every condition of society, a class of laborers, a class that earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, and there must be a class of capitalists ; but the true relation between these is not the relation which obtains in Europe and the northern States of this Union, but the relation which obtains on the cotton and rice plantations .-Capital ought to own labor everywhere, to render the services of either effective. That is the doctrine.

It will not commend Mr. Douglas to the laboring masses of the North, that his confederate entertains opinions which would reduce them to a level with slaves .- Evening Post.

THE PEOPLES' STATE COMMITTEE .- This Committee met at Cresson on Tuesday. The attendance was very full, and there was also a very large number of influential and active Republicans present from all parts of the State. Lincoln, of Illinois, and one George Washington of Va., The Committee, after a free and full interchange of sentiment, agreed upon a list of appointments for Colonel Curtin, embracing nearly every county in the State; but as the perfecting of such a list requires a little time, it will not be published for a day or two. It is to be regarded as certain, however, that Colonel Curtin, accompanied by one or more of his active friends, will stump the State thor-

The information given by the members of the Committee from all parts of the Commonwealth was of the most cheering character .-No doubt was expressed by any one of the certainty of our triumph; but it was determined. notwithstanding this certainty, to make assurance doubly sure by an active campaign.

DEATH OF HON. THOS. Y. HOW .- HON. Thos. Y. How, of Auburn, died suddenly at that place on Sunday morning last. Mr. How. while in the Masonic Lodge conferring the degree of M. E. Master in the Davis R. A. Chapter, on Saturday evening, was seized with a third attack of paralysis. Turning to a brother officer, he requested his assistance and partly falling into his seat, immediately hecame insensible. He was soon after conveyed to his home, where he continued insensible until Sunday morning, when at 5 o'clock he expired. Hr. How was well-known throughout the State as a prominent and influential Democrat. He had filled various local offices of honor and public trust, and served as a Representative in Congress from the Cayuga dis trict, having been elected by a handsome majority over Hon. Edward B. Morgan.

DOUGLAS STATE CONVENTION AND MASS MNETING .- We have received a copy of an address just issued by R. J. Haldeman, Esq., the Penusylvania member of the National Democratic Committee, protesting against the action of the State Committee to unite the electoral ticket, and calling a State Convention and mass meeting at Harrisburg on Thursday the 26th of this month to form a Douglas Electoral Ticket, and open the campaign in the old Key- the people. The Judge is a sensible man. stone The Convention will be followed by a mass meeting in the evening, at which a num ber of the most prominent Democrats in the Union are expected to speak. That the Douglas wing of the party-the regular Democratic organization-is largely in the ascendant in this State, there can be no doubt, and the indications are that the coming Convention will be a decided success both as regards numbers and enthusiasm.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE LEATHER .- By the last arrivals from Europe it appears that leather has been creating an immense sensation the accounts of failures in the leather trade, a decoction of it, she drank it and died soon after amounting to £2,000,000 sterling, or millions of dollars. Trade generally is reported dull, and the prospect of bad crops is not calculated to encourage the hope of any immediate improvement. It is probable that that other branches of business will suffer as much as the leather trade.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIA-TION .- The next annual meeting of this association is to be held at Greensburg, on the 7th, 8th, and 9th of August, in pursuance of an invitation extended at the last meeting at northwest. THE METEOR. - About ten o'clock, Friday evening, a very brilliant meteor was observed in the north-west, which passed over near the zenith and proceeded rapidly in a south-east direction. At its first appearance, it resembled a large globe of fire, which in its course left a long train of light, surrounded by brilliant coruscations, like a gigantie Roman can--In the inquest case of the Walton and dle. The train of light was whitish in color, fringed by the most delicate rainbow hues .-Its course was in the south-east direction occupying perhaps two minutes in passing until its) final disappearance. After the lapse of ten minutes, c. loud report was distinctly heard like distant cannon or thunder. Most persons who observed it whether sitting within or outside of their houses, were suddenly alarmed by the brilliant light, as if the house must have suddenly taken fire, and rushed out to have their fears at once quieted, by the sight of the glowing meteor in the sky. Where it struck the earth, we have been unable to learn, but if heard from, will likely prove similar in characeter to those which have descended in the Western States during the present season.

-There is so little known definitely of those singular phenomena, and there are so many conflicting theories respecting their nature, that we can only speculate in regard to this one, and leave scientific men to figrnish the public with correct information in regard to it. It seems to have been simultaneously visible in this vicinity, in New Jersey, at New York and along the coast of Connecticut. It is impossible to tell, at this time, just where it commenced its flight, but probably at a great distance to the west. When seen at New York it had separated into two distinct heads appearing like two wedges of brilliant flame. one following the other base foremost, resemb ling a sloop's fly, as well defined in front as the sun, and in length about eight times the sun's diameter, and leaving a string of brilliant thinks the election either of Bell, Lincoln or Fouglas beads 30 or 40 degrees in length, which gradually faded away until nothing remained but -Owing to the extreme drought, the entire two balls of the body of the meteor. There is heard some ten minutes after its passing a given point, led some observers into the error of supposing that the meteor had struck the earth, and that the noise was caused by the concussion. We are of the opinion that the meteor was a very large one-much larger than commonly supposed by those who saw it-and that the sound was a continuous one, produced by the tremendous velocity of so large a body through the atmosphere, and by the repeated explosions along its passage. At the distance it was surposed it would be several minutes before the sound would reach the earth .-- leading to the belief that the meteor had struck the earth at a short distance from where it was last seen. Undoubtedly, scientific men will shortly furnish the public with some interesting theories in regard to it, and possibly some ærolites may be picked up. In the course of the few days we will probably be -The English Astronomers estimate the able to furnish our readers with some definite information in regard to the whole matter.

Advices from the Pike's Peak gold region to the 16th inst., have been received. The severe drouth which prevailed during the latter part of June and first of July had been relieved by frequent showers of rain, much to the joy of the agriculturists. New gold deposits are reported as having been discovered on the west slope of the Rooge, a hundred miles west of the California Gulch, from which lumps of marvelous richness and value had been taken. The reports, however, lack confirmation. UNION ELECTORAL TICKETS .- The "comptomise" scheme of the Breckinridge men is by no means a new one. It was tried thoroughly in 1856, in this State, and was an utter failure. The Fremont men proposed to the Eillmore men to put the name of John C. Fremont at the head of the electoral ticket to be voted for by the Fremont men, and that of Millard Fillmore at the head of the same ticket to be voted by the Fillmore men; the vote for each to be the basis for casting the votes of the electors, pro rata, if chosen. This was a fair proposition, and received the assent of a large number of Fillmore men, included a portion of the Fillmore State Committee, and tickets were accordingly printed, pursuant to this arrangement, and sent all over the State .- But the bulk of the Fillmore men would have none of it. They were carried to the trough, but nothing could compel them to drink. They persisted in voting for Fillmore, straight, and the perfect fairness of the proposition had no effect upon them what-

The funny part of the affair is, however, that the Democrats were shocked at such an arrangement. They made a great ado over it and denounced it in all possible ways. They thought it very wicked, then ; but now it is all right. Circumstances alter cases.

When a party is united it needs no such scheme as this to render it effective; and when it is broken into fragments, nothing of the kind will serve to re-unite it. If it were capable of effecting such a compromise, a split could not possibly take place; and the motive which leads one faction of a party to separate from another is always, of necessity, strong enough to keep them effect vely apart so long as the cause of division lasts.

THE POSITION OF THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDI-DATES .- The Baltimore Patriot gives the following brief statement of the views of the different Presidential candidates on the question of Slavery in the Territories :

" JOHN BELL is in favor of the right of the slaveholder, under the Constitution, to settle in the territories with his slaves, and against the intervention by Congress with that right, except so far as to protect him in the exercise of his rights, if assailed."

" Mr. LINCOLN denies the right of the slaveholder, under the Constitution, to settle in the Territories with his slaves, and is avowedly in favor of Congressional intervention to exclude Slavery from the Territories."

Judge Douglas concedes the right of the slaveholder, under the Constitution, to carry his slaves into the Territories, but is opposed to Congressional intervention with that right in any way whatever, leaving it to the disposition of the sovereign people of the Territor-

In the provinces it is estimated that over 14,-000 have listened to his arguments and appeals and over 4,000 have signed the piedge of total abstinence; while in London he had addressed apwards of 30,000 persons, and 1,600 names have been added to the pledge-book at the close of the meeting, besides large numbers afterwards. This is the result of one year's labor and does not exceed that of the two preceding years. The mower struck the boys foot, cutting it off at the instep. A painful lesson to exercise great caution in the working of those useful machines.

CIVIL WAR IN SYRIA .- The New York Post has a letter from Beirut, detailing the horrors of a civil war now raging in Syria. The Druses aided by the Turks, Moslems, Arabs and others have simultaneously attacked and massacred Breckinridge National Executive Committee the native Christians. Their villages have been burned, and every violence that barbarians could invent has been visited upon them. It appears that the war is the result of a long and violent animosity, and that, unless interrupted, it will be one of extermination to one party or the other.

A SINGULAR SURGICAL FACT -The N. Y. Evening Post relates the case of a lad four teen years old, who was fatally injured by a revolving circular saw in a work-shop in that city, on the 11th inst. He was clearing away the sawdust beneath the saw, when, by some accident, he fell, and the saw entered his skull about four inches above and two inches posterior to the margin of the ear, traversing the skull forward to the roots of the nose, penetrating the brain to the depth of about two and a half inches. The probe of its own weight dropped into the substance of the brain more than two inches. He was taken to the Hospital, where he survived until Saturday the 14th, suffering no pain, was very cheerful, and speaking lightly of his injuries. On Saturday however, mortification set in, followed by paralysis, and he died on Sunday morning. It is pronounced the most remarkable case of longevity, after fatal injury, on record.
